SHOT HER HUSBAND.

In a Fit of Jealous Rage Mrs. John Bianchi Wields a Pistol.

THE WOUND IS SLIGHT.

She Meant to Commit Murder and Wind Up With Suicide.

ALL AFTERWARDS SETTLED.

A Barber Who Endeavored to Keep Two Homes Going.

An amorous barber and an angry wife created a very lively scene this morning at a lodging house on Seventh street near Market. The parties to the affair were John Bianchi, who wields a razor at the Newland shaving parlors 478 Seventh street, of which he is proprietor, and his wife, formerly Sarah Naughton. The episode resulted in a bullet wound in Bianchi's left shoulder. The weapon was in the hands of Mrs. Bianchi, who claimed to have discovered her husband's unfaithfulness and was on the war path to wreak vengeance upon him. She was prepared to kill him, but her nervousness prevented her from inflicting anything more than a wound that will heal in the course of a few weeks.

As soon as the shooting occurred Mrs. Bianchi had almost relented. She hastened to assist her husband to the receiving hospital, which they reached soon after 9 o'clock. There the couple protested that the affair was entirely accidental, but between the sobs of the wife and Bianchi's groans of pain, the truth finally came to light, and the tale of domestic trouble was unfolded.

The couple discussed their differences while Drs. Legault and Johnson were dressing the wound, and by dint of perseverance the story of Bianchi's escapade with another fair damsel was related.

He at last admitted his departure from the path of strictly virtuous conduct, and was willing to accept the half condoling, half reproachful words of his wife as she nervously watched the surgeons probe for the bullet her angry deed had caused to be fired.

The fragmentary talk between the couple was put together, and the marital disturbance was disclosed.

The present Mrs Bianchi is the barber's second wife. The first one, now deceased, was a sister of the lady who now graces the Bianchi household. Mrs. Bianchi No 2 was Sarah Naughton. She wedded her husband last July, but for several months the marriage was kept a secret, because the first wife had died only nine months previously, and a proper respect for public opinion impelled them to keep the matter quiet for a time. The secret, however, could no longer be concealed from the world. To prevent inquiries and suspicions the couple determined to become man and wife in the eyes of the world as well as before the law.

About a month ago they rented a house at 807 Harrison street and went to housekeeping. Only a few weeks passed before trouble ensued. Bianchi complained one day of sickness and disappeared. Several days passed, but the barber remained absent. Then his wife began to make some inquiries. She went to the barber shop, but failed to locate him. She made further search and finally her quest was rewarded. Bianchi was maintaining, she discovered, a separate establishment.

At this juncture she enlisted the assistance of one of her two stepdaughters, a little tot not more than 4 or 5 years old. The child accomplished for her stepmother the task of locating her father's trysting place. She was in a position to know where it was, and without difficulty could pilot her stepmother to the rendezvous of the faithless barber.

RUNNING HIM DOWN.

Mrs. Bianchi's anger continued to rise, and about 8 o'clock this morning she sallied forth in pursuit of her recreant husband. She was led along Seventh street by the child until they reached the house, on Seventh street, near Market.

Bianchi was standing at a window when he saw his wife and his daughter approaching. He had not time to make his escape. She entered the room and drew her pistol, firing point blank at him at close range. As soon as the first bullet was fired, Bianchi closed in upon her, and, grappling with his wife, managed to wrench the pistol from her before a second shot was fired.

As soon as the pistol left her hands she half swooned. Then she recovered herself sufficiently to assist him to the receiving hospital. The wound is not serious. Drs. Legault and Johnson found the bullet, which was from a 38 caliber revolver.

Mrs. Bianchi was very much wrought up at the hospital. "Why do you leave your lawful wife?" she asked, "and run off with another woman? I meant to kill you and then end my own life. That is what I ought to have done. You have supported me only poorly, and instead of saving your money for me you have spent it on some other woman."

Bianchi accepted the rebuke. He did not think it was his turn to talk. The criminations and recriminations between the couple at last ended in a patched up truce. They left the hospital together and disappeared up Franklin street with the child who had exposed unwittingly her father's duplicity. There will be no arrests.

FILIBUSTERS DROWNED.

Disastrous End of the Cruise of the Steamer Hawkins.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Jan. 28.—Twenty-five men were picked up from open boats off Long Island Monday morning by the schooner Helen H. Benedict, and were landed here late last night. They left today for New York, whence they sailed last Sunday.

Their ship was the steamer J. W. Hawkins, recently purchased at Baltimore for an alleged Cuban cruise, and she sailed from New York Sunday night, having on board between 75 and 100 men, bound, it is claimed, to join the Cuban insurgents.

The rescued men report that when the steamer was off the eastern end of Long Island, she sprang a serious leak and the water gained so rapidly on her that all hands were obliged to take to boats.

Thirteen more men from the steamer Hawkins have been brought in today. Ten men were drowned.

SHARE SPECULATION.

Activity and Irregularity in the New York Market.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The stock market opened moderately active and irregular.

The tendency of prices was downward, with Grangers and Manhattan leading.

Bears met with little success, depressing the prices after 10:15, and the appearance of supporting orders in the different stocks led them to cover freely, sending sugar up 1⅛ to 105½ and the general list an important fraction.

Easier feeling developed in share speculation at 11:30, chiefly due to realizing sales.

Declines did not exceed fractions and were most important in sugar and Grangers.

New England jumped 3¼ per cent on a single transaction.

Silver is 67⅝ and lead $2.90.

VENGEANCE WAS SWIFT.

A Negro Desperado Who Ran Amuck on a Train.

Later on a Mob Organized and Strung Him Up to a Tree.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 28.—Alexander Jones, a negro desperado, boarded a passenger train at Keystone last night under the influence of whisky and became very quarrelsome.

The negro became much incensed when an attempt was made to eject him, pulled out two revolvers and began firing promiscuously.

W. H. Strother, Postmaster at Elkhorn, was shot through the abdomen and killed.

Conductor McCullough was shot in the side, but not seriously injured.

Peter Rice, colored, was shot through the right breast and probably fatally injured.

Jones was incarcerated in Elkhorn jail to await the train to convey him to Huntington for safe keeping.

Meanwhile a mob had been organized at Welch, fifteen miles west of Keystone.

At Hemphill, a small station a mile west of Welch, the train was flagged, and a mob, numbering 100 men, boarded it, dragged Jones to a tree, where he was swung to a limb and his body riddled with bullets.

The following note was attached to his body:

"This deed was done for the purpose of example and warning to negroes, so beware."

Jones, it is alleged, killed three men prior to his last offense.

A BREAK-DOWN AT SEA.

The Catalonia Meets With a Bad Accident in Mid-Ocean.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Cunard line steamer Catalonia from Liverpool for Boston, with shaft broken, was spoken January 22d by the White Star freighter Cevic, which reached this port today.

Captain Atkin of the Catalonia asked that his ship be taken in tow by the Cevic but Captain Nicol of the latter was obliged to refuse because the courses of the two ships were so far apart.

A cablegram from St. Michaels, received today reports the Catalonia had been towed into that port by the steamer Braunschweig.

Armenia Has Another Big Inning in the Senate.

A LOBBY OF SUFFRAGISTS.

Women's Right Workers Start Their Button Hole Tactics.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The prayer of the Senate chaplain referred to the appearance of another star, Utah, in the constellation of States. He invoked the knitting together of the hearts of all the people of the Union for the advancement and glory of our beloved country.

Turpie (Dem., Ind.) in presenting a petition concerning the Turkish massacres, said the Armenians were charged with no revolt, but only with being Christians.

The time has come that there should be official notification to Turkey and to the Mohammedan church that there had been a decadence in their power to proselyte with the sword.

"We already sent a message," said the Senator, referring to a concurrent resolution, "but it should be followed by a shot which would go crashing through the grand seraglio."

The Senator urged it would be a glorious day when the destruction of the Turkish power was bought about. Turkish power was brought about, now be called upon to take up another great crusade, driving back the rule of Mohammedism and spreading the rule of Christianity.

Turpie spoke with great earnestness and vigor and his remarks attracted much attention.

Allen (Neb.) gave notice of an amendment to the silver bond bill, depriving the Secretary of the Treasury of the power to issue bonds unless authority is granted by Congress.

Call's resolution for the investigation of the arrest of Eugene V. Debs was taken up. Call demanded immediate action, saying the laboring interests of the country desired the inquiry.

Hill (N. Y.) said ordinarily he had great respect for the laboring people but he never heard they desired this investigation.

If such inquiry was desirable, it should be conducted by one of the regular committees. He offered an amendment directing the whole subject be investigated by the committee on judiciary, and a report be made as to what, if any legislation is necessary.

Call said the amendment was intended to suppress this inquiry. He spoke vigorously upon the indignities and wrongs against Eugene V. Debs because he ventured to express opinions contrary to those entertained by the court. The Senator said this inquiry was vital to the preservation of civil liberty and the inviolability of the personal rights of the individual.

Hill said he would not be put in the attribute of opposing the inquiry. He paid a high tribute to Debs, and the action he urged was with a view to securing appropriate legislative action.

Allen, who severely criticised Judge Woods, created a flutter of excitement by asserting that in his opinion the express purpose for referring the resolution to a standing committee was to suppress and kill it. It was an adroit means of sending the resolution to the "dark caverns" of the Senate.

The resolution finally went over to allow Thurston of Nebraska to address the Senate on the Monroe doctrine. He freely criticised the attitude of Senator Wolcott and supported the stand taken by the President.

THE HOUSE.

The diplomatic and consular bill was passed by the House substantially without amendment after very little debate.

SEEKING SUFFRAGE.

A Delegation of Women Workers Before the Senate Committee.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Senate marble room was completely filled today by a delegation of ladies from the National Equal Suffrage Association, who appeared before the Senate committee on woman suffrage to present a plea for recognition at the ballot box.

Senators Call and Peffer were the only members of the committee present, and they arrived late.

Speeches were limited to five minutes.

The speakers were presented by Dr. Annie Shaw.

The speakers dwelt upon the right of the female sex to equal participation with men in shaping legislation and almost all referred to the injustice of taxing women without allowing them to vote.

The delegation also visited the Judiciary Committee of the House.

Among those who spoke were Mrs. Saunders, wife of ex-Senator Saunders of Montana, and Mrs. Francis A. Williams, a Nevada ranch and mine owner.

THE TARIFF UNTOUCHED.

Disposition to Hold It Back for a Time in Committee.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Senator Jones of Nevada was present at today's meeting of the Senate committee on finance, but the revenue tariff bill was not taken up.

It is the understanding that the bill will not be considered again by the committee until after the silver bond bill shall have been disposed of by the Senate, when, it is believed, it will be promptly reported in some shape.

MASK, JIMMY AND FUSE.

Knights of the Dark Lantern Do Some More Safe Cracking.

An Unprofitable Job at Jenkins' Saw Mills in East Oakland.

There was another safe blown open last night, a fact which demonstrates to the police that Turner and Fountain were not the only safe crackers in town, and now the officers are almost convinced that the story of the young men that they never used the tools found on them when arrested by officer Ely is true. Ever since the arrest of the lads the officers have hoped to be able to connect them with one or more of the attempted burglaries, and for that reason have withheld a misdemeanor complaint, charging them with having burglars' tools in their possession. It is now probable that the minor complaint will be filed this afternoon or in the morning.

The safe blown last night was in the office of C. T. Jenkins' sawmill at East Twelfth street, near Fifteenth avenue. The burglars entered the building from the rear, and though they did a neat job it was an unprofitable one. The owner never keeps any money in the safe, and last night was no exception.

The cracksmen bored a hole near the combination in the safe door and inserted an explosive. The door was blown completely off the hinges.

Near by neighbors say they heard an explosion about twenty minutes of 5 o'clock this morning, but it sounded more like the open firing of a heavily loaded shotgun than the muffled report which would come from blowing a safe door. They paid no attention to it.

This is the fourth safe operated on in the past month, and none of the jobs netted a penny to the workers. The same mode of operation has been used in each case, which shows all the work to be done by the same parties.

The detectives made an investigation this morning, but failed to discover any clue which would lead to the capture of the energetic but unfortunate cracksmen.

RUN TO COVER.

William Kelleher Elopes With Alonzo Van Sandt's Wife.

HE ROBS HIS EMPLOYER.

The Husband and Officer Ed. Lamping on the Trail.

SUCCESS SOON ACHIEVED.

A Denouement Including a Pistol and Then Prison.

Officer Ed Lamping made a nocturnal trip last night and returned this morning with one of the prettiest captures made by the police this season.

Yesterday afternoon Herman Kosta, a grocery store keeper at Fourth and Webster streets reported to the police that his clerk, William Kelleher, was missing and with him had disappeared $85 in money belonging to the place. Watches were immediately sent to the railway stations but Kelleher managed to escape unobserved.

Further investigation showed that Mrs. Van Sandt, the wife of Alonzo Van Sandt, an employe at Reed's Lumber yard, was also missing.

The man and woman were well acquainted with each other and it was surmised that they had left together.

Later in the evening a report reached the police that the couple were seen going toward the Ingleside race track, and Officer Lamping was detailed to investigate. Van Sandt, the husband of the missing woman, accompanied him.

At a quarter past one o'clock this morning Lamping had located the guilty pair in a room in the Jackson Resort near the Richmond race course. He broke in the door and caught them both, but before he could get the handcuffs on Kelleher, he and Van Sandt started to settle old scores in a rough and tumble set-to. Lamping got them separated, handcuffed his prisoners and took them to San Francisco.

This morning they were brought to Oakland and complaints have been filed charging them both with grand larceny.

When taken they both protested innocence and a search of Kelleher revealed nothing to show guilt. When the woman was searched the tables changed. She had concealed in her stocking $71 15 of the stolen money besides a revolver which was taken from the store.

Kelleher seems very bitter toward Van Sandt and swears he will kill him for telling where he and Mrs. Van Sandt had gone. In fact he says that he took the revolver solely for the purpose of killing Van Sandt should he interfere.

Since being brought back to Oakland the pair are repentant. Both have confessed their guilt. Kelleher, who is only 17 years of age, says he was drunk when he took the money, and if sober would never have committed the crime. She claims that they had no intention of stealing the coin and that she intended persuading Kelleher to carry it back as soon as he should sufficiently sober up.

Mrs. Van Sandt is eight years the senior of her youthful companion. At the jail she denied her name and said it was Mary Higgins.

A SINGER SILENCED.

Sir Joseph Barnaby, the Well-Known Leader, Is Dead.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Sir Joseph Barnaby, principal of the Guild Hall School of Music, died today.

Sir Joseph breakfasted as usual and was suddenly attacked with hemorrhage of the brain and suffered great agony until unconsciousness supervened.

Sir Joseph Barnaby was born in 1838, and succeeded Gounod as conductor of the Royal Albert Hall Choral Society.

He was knighted in 1892, and conducted the first passion service in England at Westminster Abbey in 1871.

A Wells Fargo Messenger Is Arrested by Pinkerton Detectives.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER, Jan. 28.—Pinkerton detectives have arrested express agent Geo. Krout of Colorado Springs on the charge of being implicated in the theft of $30,000 from Wells, Fargo & Co., several months ago.

His father, who recently came to Colorado Springs from Corro Gordo, Ills., was arrested on a train at Walsenburg as he was leaving the State, and about $4600 was found sewed in his clothing.

A Fruit Failure.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—On a deed of trust for $10,300 the First National bank today took charge of the assets of the wholesale produce and fruit firm of George B. Cloon & Co. The firm previously controlled a large business. The other creditors are: Redland Orange Growers' Association, Fay Fruit Co., and the California Green and Dried Fruits Co. The assets and liabilities are not given.

NO LOCATION FIXED.

Engineer Boardman on the Oakland Water Company's Reservoir.

With respect to the building of another reservoir by the Oakland Water Company, ex-City Engineer Boardman said today:

"The reservoir will be built but we have not decided as yet as to where it will be located. It may be back of the city or in East Oakland. We intend to go out as soon as the storm is over and select a site.

"We need another reservoir so that we may be able to keep our pumps going at a regular speed all the time.

"The pumps are going day and night. But, sometimes, when they pump a little more than we have any use for, we are compelled to telephone down to the works to have them go a little slower.

"The intention is not to store up water in large quantities. It is desired to have water kept fresh and not to have it kept in reservoirs until it becomes stagnant, or soiled from dirt or things that might grow upon it. The water pumped in the morning reaches here in the afternoon, is sweet and pure and it is desired to have it maintain those qualities.

"Inside of a few days we will be able to tell you where the reservoir will be located. It will contain about 10,000,000 gallons of water and will cost about $10,000.

MAYRISCH ACQUITTED.

The Jury Only Remained Out of the Box Three Minutes.

Ernest Mayrisch Jr., the former chief clerk in the office of Tax Collector Barber, who was indicted by the grand jury for misappropriating public funds was acquitted today by a jury after a deliberation of three minutes.

W. W. Foote made a strong argument for the defense in which he held that the shortage was due to clerical errors and that Mayrisch had shown his good intent throughout the whole affair.

Judge Frick gave a liberal charge to the jury which retired only to return a few minutes later with its verdict of acquittal.

LONG DELAYED ACTION.

Assignee Love Cited to Account for the Bowman Estate.

Judge Ellsworth today made an order directing John Lord Love, assignee of the insolvent estate of Arthur W. Bowman, and Nathaniel J. Britton to appear on February 10th and show cause why a final accounting should not be filed and a payment of an 18 per cent dividend made upon the claim of J. M. Mansfield. Bowman was declared an insolvent eleven years ago.

JENKINS IS IN CONTROL.

The Northern Pacific Muddle to Be Untangled by Him.

He Is to Have Primary Jurisdiction as Regards the Road's Receiver.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Justices Field, Harlan, Brewer, and Brown of Supreme Court today rendered a decision in the Northern Pacific receivership case, holding all the courts along the line of the road to be auxiliary to Judge Jenkins' court at Milwaukee.

This decision gives the Milwaukee court jurisdiction over the entire system in the matter of receiverships.

It was shown at this hearing that the creditors' bill and the foreclosure proceedings of 1893 had been filed in the Circuit Court for the eastern division of Wisconsin, over which Judge Jenkins presides.

It was also shown that this court then appointed receivers for the entire system who were for the time recognized.

Afterwards, however, the Circuit Court for other districts appointed receivers for portions of the road embraced within their respective jurisdictions and such confusion and antagonism arose, it was feared the interests of the road would be seriously jeopardized.

Exception was taken to the jurisdiction of the Milwaukee court on the ground that the Northern Pacific had no road except a leased line within the limits of the eastern district of Wisconsin.

This was substantially the only objection made to its recognition and it was intimated at the time of the hearing a large majority of the interests involved would be satisfied with the designation of the Milwaukee court as a responsible tribunal and one by which the receiver or receivers for the entire line should be designated.

LEGAL ARMOR.

City Attorney Peirsol Ready to Fight the Exempt Firemen.

There will be a special meeting of the Council this evening for the purpose of authorizing the City Attorney to represent the Council in the mandamus suit brought by the exempt firemen.

Mr. Peirsol believes that the suit can be defeated. He filed his answer yesterday. He has several points of defense but relies principally on the fact that the Oakland organization was not existing at the time of the passage and approval of the act of March, 1895, a fact which he claims is fatal to the plaintiff because the act applies only to exempt firemen organizations then existing.

A second point raised is that it is unconstitutional under article 4, sections 31 and 32 of the constitution.

The Patients Treated Better, Yet the Expenses Have Been Reduced.

The contract for supplying the principal county offices with steel files and shelves was awarded to the Office Specialty Manufacturing Company by the Supervisors yesterday afternoon, the price being $1 18 per h/c.

The annual report of Dr. W. A Clark, superintendent of the County Infirmary, was then read. Among the interesting facts which it contained are the following:

"The year has been one of improvement and progress in all branches of this department. Very early in the year a plan looking ultimately to the separation of the indigents from the hospital cases was inaugurated and has been productive of nothing but good results, both for the patients and the management. Trained nurses have been introduced and better results are obtained both as to the welfare of the patients and the appearance of the wards.

"The drug department, though such is well stocked, economically managed and even in the small quarters allotted, manufactures nearly all its preparations. Improvements in the kitchen and dining room are marked. The food is well cooked and there is an abundance of it. No one can say that Alameda County does not properly feed the poor.

"The farm produces a large proportion of the feed used for the stock. Fresh milk and vegetables are furnished by this department to the patients, much to their gratification and benefit. Probably the finest stock of hogs within the county is raised on the infirmary farm.

"The patients have been brought under a firm but not rigorous discipline, at first causing considerable friction which has now entirely disappeared, owing to the firm stand the chairman of the hospital committee took in the matter. In conclusion, the superintendent desires to express his thanks and appreciation for the uniform courtesy and assistance accorded him by the Board of Supervisors, the Hospital Committee and especially its chairman, Dr. A. Schirk, the inspecting physician, Dr. A. Hoffaker, the employes and patients."

A number of interesting tables are submitted. The maintenance in 1894 cost $53,210.93, or a daily average per capita of 19.41 cents, there being 294 patients on the average. In 1895 these figures were $14,751 61, a daily average of 19 27 cents for 248 4-13 patients of a saving of $8,451.31, or a daily average of .14 of a cent with 11 9-13 more patients on the average. Of this amount paid this year $1,501 50 was on account of the sewer. Deducting this from the cost of maintenance the saving the past year would be $12,900 89 or 5.08 cents daily per capita.

There are 40 stoves, one hot water heater, two ranges and one steam boiler in the infirmary which have consumed 1,761.5 of fuel. He says it would be a saving if the building were heated with steam and a saving would result in clothing and dry goods if there was a steam laundry added, besides giving unlimited supply of hot water for bathing purposes.

There were 306 patients January 1, 1895; 511 were admitted and there were 10 births during the year, 75 have been discharged; 32 have died and 293 remain January 1 1896. Of the total number admitted native born citizens of the United States led with 219, Ireland followed with 132, Germany 45, Portugal 24, England, 23, Sweden 18, Scotland 13, France 11, Denmark and Canada 10 each, Italy and Australia 5 each, Norway and Wales 3 each, Spain, Nova Scotia, Belgium and China 2 each, Fiji Islands, Japan, Prussia, Poland, Finland, New Foundland and Jamaica 1 each.

Between 15 and 25 years, 6; between 26 and 35 years, 7; between 36 and 45 years, 24; between 46 and 55 years, 29; between 56 and 65 years, 63; between 66 and 75 years, 74; between 76 and 85, 25; between 86 and 95 years, 5.

There were 2096 persons who visited or inscetem born romohimohom mohawidof inspected the institution during the year; 50 patients called and were treated.

The report was filed.

The board then adjourned for one week.

MURDER CASES.

Four Men to Answer the Law on the Most Serious Crime.

Four men charged with murder will appear tomorrow in Judge Greene's court for arraignment. Three of the quartette are Michael Chiradelli, Joseph Lazzaretto, and Antonio Devencenzi, charged with having killed Varni Felice in the San Leandro foot hills last November.

The fourth is Benjamin Hill, the ex-baseball player, who shot and killed his wife Sarah Hill at Twelfth and Kirkham streets some weeks ago. It is rumored that Eugene Duprey has been retained to defend Hill.

HUNTINGTON-SUTRO.

The Railroad President Scores the Old-Man-by the-Sea.

A NEW SIDE OF THE CASE.

C. P. Huntington has sent the following letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal, and it was published in that paper this morning:

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—I find in your issue of the 22nd an article in reference to the Southern Pacific Company's charter, and also some extracts from Adolph Sutro's address. There is little truth in it where it says that C. P. Huntington and his associates procured the charter for the express purpose of bringing it to California and the other States in which they had interests.

That so far is correct. We wanted to get a charter in some State where the laws were stable and the people were not liable to be changed by the action of such demagogues and charlatans as Adolph Sutro, who is figuring in this matter. We have a great many small railroads, and we thought we could economize very much by exchanging the shares of these roads into a great parent organization like the Southern Pacific Company. We did this, and exchanged the shares of these small constituent companies, which was equal to the economic working under a consolidation.

I think we have some thirty or forty small companies, the stock of which is owned by the Southern Pacific Company, which allows them to be worked as one company, thus saving the expense of many boards of directors and many other expenses. I suppose there are a couple of thousand shareholders who have exchanged their shares in the other companies for those of the Southern Pacific Company.

There is nothing wrong about it, and it is all clean and above-board.

This fellow Sutro wanted to have this company extend the Market street railway system to what is known as Seal Rocks, or the Cliff House, in San Francisco, some two and a half or three miles from the west end of the Market street road at First avenue, and carry passengers from the front of the city, on the Bay of San Francisco, out to the shores of the sea, into a network which he had set for catching the money of the people, including bars, gambling-rooms and all kinds and sorts of show places, a distance of eight miles over the hills, for five cents, hoping that for every passenger we brought there he would get many times the amount of five cents, at a less cost to him than it would cost to haul the passengers from the city front to the ocean beach.

I said to him that there was a company running from First avenue out to his place, and running at a loss of from $600 to $700 a month; that we could not afford to extend the line then, but would do so as soon as we could get fair returns for the money invested in building it. He said then, showing much temper, that if we did not build the road at once he would fight us in Washington and everywhere else, which he has been doing in his usual nasty way.

This Adolph Sutro is the fellow who hung about Washington many years ago selling shares of the notorious Sutro tunnel scheme in Nevada. With the money he got in this way he bought up large amounts of land in San Francisco, said to be more than one-tenth the acreage of the city limits, and this land has now become very valuable, making him, they say, the richest man in San Francisco, whilst the folks who bought the shares got nothing out of them.

Take him altogether he is, I think, one of the worst men in the world.

The men who assisted me in getting the charter and allowed their names to be used in that connection were honorable men, and their fellow-citizens very well know that such men as Henry D. McHenry, Gen. John Echols and their associates would not do anything dishonorable. They knew what the purpose was, and the charter has never been used for any other purpose.

There has been much money saved to the people of California by the consolidation, so to speak, of these many fragmentary roads into one organization, and it has been made possible to operate the lines at the minimum cost, so that last year the company received an average of less than two cents per mile for passengers in the State of California, and less than 12 mills per ton per mile for freight, and that, too, in a State where the expenses of running a railroad are more than in any other State, and where the fuel costs more than eight times what it did on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

I speak of that particularly because I used to be connected with it, and Mr. Ingalls, the worthy President of that company, said that he was paying only 60 cents a ton, while the coal in California, I think, costs about $5 per ton.

Yours truly,
C. P. HUNTINGTON.

INSENSIBLE TO PAIN.

The Tests Given to Prove That Wettstein Was Not Fooling.

DR. CROWLEY TESTIFIES.

The Jury Edified by a Mass of Expert Medical Evidence.

A. A. MOORE'S CROSS-FIRE.

A Celebrity Who Says There Is Not Any "Railroad Spine."

The case of Colonel Andrew Wettstein against the Southern Pacific Company for $20,000 damages was resumed in the Superior Court before Judge Ogden and a jury this morning. There was a large attendance in the lobby. The plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Smith and Piersol, and the defendant by A. A. Moore.

There were also present many physicians and surgeons, some of whom will appear as experts in the course of the trial. Among these were Drs. Woolsey, Crowley, Kuckein, Dunn, Shafridge, Maher, Legault, Shields, Lane, and Hamlin.

When court adjourned last Friday afternoon Dr. Kuckein was on the stand and was about to undergo redirect cross-examination upon the subject, as Mr. Moore described it, of "that railroad spy," referring to a man who, the doctor had testified had spoken to him regarding Wettstein's alleged appearance on the streets when he was supposed to be in bed suffering from the injuries he had sustained at the hands of agents of the defendant.

The doctor was called by A. A. Moore.

Mr. Piersol said that he had not got through with the witness.

Mr. Moore said that the plaintiff had "got through" with the witness twice.

Mr. Piersol said he wanted to examine the doctor on a new matter brought out on the cross-examination.

The judge said that it could not be a new matter, but it might be considered supplemental matter.

A long argument ensued. Mr. Piersol holding that it was discretionary with the court to allow the plaintiff to continue his examination of Dr. Kuckein.

Mr. Moore contended that the court did not have discretion. The plaintiff should have exhausted the witness in the direct examination. Otherwise the case might be continued until the parties became old and blind.

The court sustained Mr. Moore's objection, until he could have the notes read to him at noon.

Mr. Piersol then said that he had not closed his redirect examination of the witness.

The court then allowed Mr. Piersol to continue the redirect examination. In response to a question Dr. Kuckein testified that he had not testified that all the sensitory nerves of the body are in the skin, that there are nerves all over the body. Mr. Piersol sought to show that there are nerves under the foot which could be so affected as to cause serious injury. But the objection of Mr. Moore was sustained, the court holding that no attempt had been made to show that the plaintiff had been injured on the foot, as also, that it was redirect examination, and that properly speaking the redirect examination had been concluded. The doctor was asked as to whether or not he wished to correct any answers he had made in his cross-examination.

Mr. Moore objected. The objection was overruled, and the witness said that he did not think he wanted to make any corrections of the kind mentioned.

The doctor was then redirect cross-examined by A. A. Moore. He said that the man who had spoken to him about the case in behalf of the railroad company was Mr. Duncomb. Duncomb had said he would call to see the witness at witness' office. But Duncomb did not call. Witness said he told Duncomb he did not know enough about the case to tell when the accident to Wettstein happened.

"Why did you think Duncomb was a spy?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Because he was hunting around for witnesses. It impressed me that he was an agent of the company, and I don't think now that I was mistaken."

"Did this gentleman who approached you offer you any money, any inducements to testify?"

"He did not."

"Did you ask him for money?"

"I did not."

"Did it necessarily follow because he was hunting for evidence that he was a spy?"

"I don't know."

"The plaintiff employed John Teague to get evidence. Did you consider him a spy?"

"I don't know."

"You said in your testimony that this man was an agent or a 'spy,' did you not?"

"I said he was an agent or a 'spy.'"

The doctor was then excused and Dr. Crowley was called.

Mr Moore said that before Dr. Crowley was examined he desired to make a motion that the physical condition of the plaintiff be examined into.

The court denied the motion for the time being, but said that he would allow counsel to renew it later in the case.

DR. CROWLEY TESTIFIES.

The doctor testified to having graduated from reputable medical colleges and having been a medical practitioner since 1879.

He had, he said, examined the patient in his (witness') office six or seven times. "I examined his spine throughout," said Dr. Crowley, "and found a considerable injury over the second, third and fourth lumbar vertebrae. I also found want of reflex in the right leg and a deficiency in sensation and motion. I found also that the lack of sensation was perceptible from the side of the feet well up to the thighs. My conclusion as to the causes of these conditions was a blow upon or concussion of the spinal cord. I also examined the pulse and temperature. I conducted the examination by scratching the surface of the foot. It is difficult to keep the foot quiet during the time of such an examination. In addition to this, I took a knife and thrust the blade into inflamed parts of the foot when the patient was lying on the operating table, and the patient did not move. By pricking the skin, I did not find reflex on the right leg that I would have found on the left leg. I did not make any scientific examination of the sight or hearing because I am not able to make such an examination. My opinion as to the cause of the injury is that the patient received a blow or sustained concussion on the small of the back in the neighborhood of the vertebrae which I have described."

"What do you consider to be the result of these symptoms as to their being progressive?" he was asked by Mr. Smith.

"A patient with such injuries may recover."

He was asked what prospect there is of recovery in a patient who has been injured from eight to nine months and who still suffers.

"I would judge," said Dr. Crowley, "that a patient who has suffered five or six months, as this patient has, may require years to recover, if he recover at all."

He was then asked a series of questions by Mr. Smith, and replied: "With respect to the symptoms disclosed by the pricking with a pin, I should say they are objective symptoms. These indicate injury to the spinal cord. The lack of reflex in the right leg is an objective symptom. It is also an indication of an injury to the spinal cord."

He was asked whether or not he had examined the plaintiff knowing that in 1882 that gentleman had sustained a broken leg, and that later Wettstein had been thrown from his horse and remained unconscious six hours, drank a quart of beer a day, smoked cigars and had been struck over the head with a musket.

"I took all those matters into consideration," said the doctor, "with the exception of the blow on the head. A blow on the head would have nothing to do with the condition of the spinal cord several inches or a foot or two below the head. I made an examination of the various organs of the body. I found the heart healthy and the lungs healthy, though he may have suffered from dyspepsia."

He was then cross-examined by A. A. Moore.

He said that he had testified several times as an expert in railroad damage cases. He admitted that he expected to be paid by the plaintiff the same amount for his evidence whether or not the plaintiff recovered or died. The amount expected was $50, whether he was occupied five minutes or two hours. He was to receive that amount for the case. He had not been in attendance half an hour during the trial. He was asked if he was not testifying as an expert against the railroad company in a case in which Dr. Woolsey was taking an interest against the company, and replied in the affirmative.

He was asked whether or not he had not testified as an expert in a case against the railroad company when Dr. Woolsey was the expert of the railroad company. The question was objected to and the objection was sustained.

He was asked whether in a railroad damage case he had not testified that the plaintiff in that case had his neck broken, and that Dr. Woolsey for the company had testified that the neck was not broken, and that further, in that case, as soon as the plaintiff got damages he (the plaintiff) went around as well as ever about his business.

This was also objected to and the objection sustained.

"Did you not, within a year, in this courthouse, in a damage suit against the railroad, swear that a man's neck was broken, and did not that man, after receiving a verdict, get well and go about his business?" asked Mr. Moore.

"I believe that is not true," said Dr. Crowley. "I believe still that the man's neck was broken, and that he did not go about his business as usual in the same kind of work."

"Did you not testify in that case, and will the record not show, that in a proper sense the man's neck was broken?"

"I think the record will show that I testified that a part of the vertebrae was broken. I don't think I said that it was broken in any other sense."

In response to questions, he said he did not know how many times he had acted as an expert in cases against the railroad. Neither did he know how many times Mr. Moore had cross-examined him in such cases.

"How many times have you ever been a witness against the defendant in this case in which Dr. Woolsey was not on the side and for the railroad company?"

The question was objected to and the objection was sustained.

"Is there any organ of the human body so well or better protected from shocks and jars as the spinal cord?"

"I think that the spinal cord is better protected than any other important organ of the body."

"Is it not true that it is suspended by delicate ligaments, surrounded by fluid matter, with a cushion of the dura matter, and is it not a wonderful illustration of the protection afforded important parts of the human body?"

"It is necessary that it should be protected, otherwise we would all be paralyzed. The moment it would come in contact we would have concussion of the spinal cord."

"In alighting heavily on the feet would then have concussion of the brain?"

"Every time, almost, one would make a misstep."

"Must there not be some concussion of the cord?"

"Concussion is so broad a term that it might be applied to a little misstep or a sudden falling."

Mr. Moore then insinuated that the term concussion was meaningless and asked the witness what he understood by it.

Concussion, the doctor said, was spoken of as that condition when there is a molecular change.

"Is not that a definition," said Mr. Moore, "of those who seek to secure damages from railroad companies?"

"I do not think it is," said Dr. Crowley.

Mr. Moore then asked as to the pathology of concussion and the doctor replied that there is supposed in such cases to be a molecular change and some slight injury to the tissue besides.

"Do not writers in surgical science say there is no patnology on the subject?"

"I will say there is not a pathological change in the spinal cord. In the condition of the spinal cord when we find no molecular change there is paralysis of the nerves leading from the spinal cord. It will become gross lesion in time."

"What would you call this man's condition?"

"His condition is that of concussion of the spinal cord and paralysis of the right leg."

Mr. Moore then asked the doctor if he were familiar with what Erickson, Page, Oppenheim and other medical authorities held on the subject, and the doctor said that he did not know what some of them maintained on the point. More questions followed, and among them the doctor was asked if it were true that doctors had invented their own terms to describe ailments affecting the human system, especially in connection with the spinal cord, and were those terms not more modern than those given by the witness. The doctor replied that the terms he had used were of general use. He also admitted that the plaintiff was affected with what might be called traumatic neurosia.

"Has he grave traumatic neurosia?"

"I do not know" was the reply.

A long series of technical questions was then propounded and finally Mr. Moore had, against the objection of opposing counsel, a paper which had been read by Dr. Brainerd before the Southern California Medical Association, in which the author scouted the theory of "railroad spine" and the theory of concussion. The theory, he said, was simply the plea of people who wanted to make raids on railroad treasuries, and who, after securing judgments, became as well as ever. It was a theory also which gave business to shyster lawyers.

BETTER BE ON YOUR GUARD

There Is a Possibility That a European Enemy May Invade Us Again This Year—A Suggestion in Time.

The latest news from London indicates the prevalence of a great deal of influenza, not only in that city, but throughout England and Europe. This is the way the grip of last year started.

There is an unusual amount of coughing, sneezing, headache, pain in the muscles, especially around the shoulders and arms, cold feet; in fact, all the usual grip symptoms.

You may say, I do not fear the grip. But do you not fear the terrible things which grip may bring? Especially pneumonia, which may come almost in a moment and cause your death within a day? More people die suddenly from pneumonia than from any other known complaint. Why? Because it comes unexpectedly, because it gives no warning, has no symptoms other than those above stated, and yet it is the most fatal of all known diseases.

In view of these solemn facts, what shall any sensible man or woman do who reads these words? Manifestly guard against the coming of this dangerous disease. How? Not by dosing with quinine but by strengthening, by toning the system with some pure stimulant of tonic power. There are many which claim to possess this quality, but there is but one which actually does possess it. That one is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It has stood the test of years and is the most popular preparation today known to the American people. Physicians recommend it. It is generally used and it is universally admitted to possess qualities known only to itself. Do not permit your druggist or grocer to persuade you otherwise, but insist upon having what you call for.

THE STANFORD CASE.

Arguments Are Started in the Great Liability Suit.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Bulletin.—Argument was begun in the Supreme court today in the case of the United States vs. Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, widow and executrix of the last will of the late Leland Stanford, to recover from the Stanford estate Stanford's proportion of the alleged individual liability for bonds of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

Over $15,000,000 is involved.

The suit comes to the Supreme court on appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the ninth circuit.

The argument for the government was begun by Assistant Attorney-General Dickinson, who spoke about two hours.

Mr. Choate followed in Mrs. Stanford's behalf.

VOLKMAN IN TROUBLE.

He Is Accused of Not Having His Accounts in Shape.

R Volkman of Lorin, a bookkeeper for Mangels of San Francisco, is said to be short in his accounts.

The amount is estimated at from $2000 to $10,000.

CHOKED HIS WIFE.

John Conroy's Method of Getting Even for Fancied Wrongs.

John Conroy, a former employe of the street department, was sent to the city prison by Judge Wood this morning for three months for choking his wife.

His story and that of his wife almost agreed. She said that he attempted to chastise their son and she remonstrated. He then turned his attention to her and committed the battery complained of by choking her.

He said that she accused him of stealing glass and he choked her for it. He admitted that he choked her and could show no justifiable grounds.

TO HIS BROTHER MICHAEL.

James McPeake Makes Disposition of His Estate.

The will of James McPeake who died in this city on January 17th was filed for probate in the Superior Court today. The deceased bequeathed a $1500 estate to his brother, Michael McPeake, "in exclusion of all other relatives, believing," the clause recites, "that he is entitled to the whole thereof." The property consists of a house and lot in East Oakland.

HIS FAITH IN THE MUTUAL LIFE

Mr George H Ripley for many years president of the Home Life Insurance Company of this city was a policy holder in The Mutual Life and a registered one. In 1847 Mr Ripley became insured in The Mutual Life for $ ... was increased by dividends ... became a death claim for $11,1?9

There are several very remarkable features connected with this policy viz

The amount of dividend additions credited to the policy at death was more than twice as much as the original insurance

Besides giving a $3600 insurance protection, the combined amounts of policy and premiums paid

Besides giving a $3000 insurance protection for over forty nine years the company paid the face of the policy $3? 0 Returned all premiums ... With an excess of dividends amounting to 2 7 8

Amount of claim $11?

Mr Ripley was a persistent policy holder always paying the premiums in cash and in full and while being a life insurance man connected with another company he showed his confidence in the Mutual Life by not insuring in any other institution

The result attained on this policy is one of the best in the history of the Mutual Life. Commencing with $3000 in 1847 the insurance increased by dividends to $1,?35 ...

This is a phenomenal dividend record probably never before equaled in the history of any other life insurance company

THE WEATHER.

The pressure has fallen generally over the Rocky mountain region and eastward. It is rising along the Pacific slope. There are no well marked disturbances on the map this morning. It has rained during the past twelve hours in the Sacramento valley, the San Joaquin valley and the coast of California from San Francisco southward. Rains have been heavy in the valleys. Fair and partly cloudy weather prevails over the larger portion of the Pacific coast. The temperature has remained stationary except in Southern Nevada and in the vicinity of Independence, where it has fallen. The Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries are still high, and the main streams will probably continue to rise for about twelve hours. The stage at Sacramento will probably reach twenty-seven feet. A fall in the rivers may be looked for Wednesday night. The tributaries will begin to fall earlier.

FORECAST MADE AT SAN FRANCISCO FOR 36 HOURS ENDING 5 P. M., JANUARY 29, 1896.

SAN FRANCISCO AND VICINITY.

TUESDAY.....JANUARY 28, 1896.

It is among the latest news items that Venezuela has declared a commercial war against Great Britain. The newspapers of that country contain a standing proclamation that "whoever buys English goods increases the power of Great Britain." For two months from January 15th the press will publish daily the names of all foreign merchants who are dealing in any manner with England or her colonies. Spunky Venezuela will now make war by means of a boycott.

There is probably truth in the story that the Boers sold their rights in the South African gold mines for $800,000 and that the same are now worth $8,000,000. The Boers wanted nothing to do with mines; they are an agricultural people. In the early days the Mormons, for the same reason, wanted nothing to do with mines. Brigham Young for a long time advised his people to let mining severely alone. It might have been good advice for that time; but is hardly good for these times.

We take no stock in this story, although it is printed and reprinted in some of the Eastern papers: "The latest rumor at Washington about Senator Hill's matrimonial possibilities is that he is going to marry the widow of Senator George Hearst of California. She has a beautiful home in Washington and has a fortune of $25,000,000, most of which, however, would go to her son, William R. Hearst of San Francisco and New York, if she should marry again. We don't believe that David has any chance there."

That part of the Federal grant for agricultural colleges due to Connecticut was originally assigned to Yale College, which had for a long time maintained an agricultural department. But the State undertook to establish the Storrs Agricultural School and diverted the grant to that institution. Commissioners were appointed by the State to decide on the justice of the award. The commissioners have reported that there is due to Yale College a little more than $154,000, which substantially turns the award over to that institution.

This news comes down from the State of Washington: The rich gold discoveries of Forty Mile Creek, in Alaska, belong to the United States, and not Great Britain. The 141st meridian of longitude has been accurately determined by an employe of the British Government and property marked at certain places. Gen. Duffield the chief of the Coast Survey, says it shows that only sixteen miles of the creek as the bird flies, and but twenty-three miles as the water flows is in British territory, and that in this portion no gold has been discovered.

The spring rush of prospectors to the Yukon gold fields has already begun. Seventy-five prospectors have already set out for Alaska.

About once in two months the old railroad chestnut is started out on its rounds, or a similar one. This, for instance, will do for a sample. It is sent from Pacific Grove to a Fresno paper. "President Jones of the Monterey and Fresno Railroad has started East to sell $200,000 in bonds. His secretary states that $400,000 in bonds have been sold here on condition that he sells $200,000 more in the East. The colonel feels confident of the sale, and says an Eastern firm has been pledged to take the construction and equipment of the road from Monterey to Hollister. The road will be 160 miles long and will pass through some of the finest fruit and grain land in the State. The directors have secured the water frontage of Monterey, said to be worth $1,000,000." It has never been made to appear that anybody was interested in this railroad scheme but Colonel Jones, who appears to be about of the same stripe as some of the railroad men who offered to build a railroad from Oakland to Stockton if somebody would put up the capital.

Florida Citrus Growers Coming to California.

Florida is replanting her orange groves. The cold killed thousands of young trees and cut the old ones down nearly to the ground. That disaster has been repeated three or four times in Florida. The result is that many citrus men are discouraged and are determined to begin anew in California. The cold in the orange belt of Northern California did not this year drop below 32 degrees. Not an orange was frosted. No trees were killed. The crop ripened just about a month earlier than it did in Southern California.

Every immigrant from Florida who proposes to plant an orange grove in California should have a full knowledge of these facts. Having had his crops and trees twice destroyed in Florida within a few years, if he makes a new move now, he will want to go beyond the frost line. There are better opportunities now for citrus planting in the northern counties than there are in Southern California. The orange belt, or that which is known to be such, is nearly quite as large in these northern counties, and not ten per cent of it is occupied for citrus culture.

It is believed that this very year the citrus growers in that region received on average of much better prices for their product than have the citrus growers of Southern California. All these statements are of special interest to the Florida citrus men who propose to come to California. The misleading statements that have been made in former years have kept back this northern citrus belt from rapid improvement. But these falsehoods have been hunted down. One of the great orange belts of the future will be in Northern California. There is not a single district in this belt where the record of cold is as great by eight or ten degrees as it is at Riverside and some of the other districts in that vicinity.

The Problem of the Fruit Growers.

The Santa Clara fruit growers have called a meeting to consider what is to be done in view of the prospect of a greatly increased fruit production in that county and in other parts of the State. The crop of last year was below the average, and yet it appeared to be ample to meet all the demands of distant markets. The fruit acreage is rapidly increasing. There is every prospect that it may double twice in the next ten years. Planting will go on as long as there is any prospect of getting paying returns from fruit crops. A large acreage will come into bearing this year. A still larger one next year.

Now, all these probabilities are foreseen. People will not stop planting because down in Santa Clara county the prune crop sometimes overstocks the market. The fact is carefully concealed that in that county fortunes have been made from the cultivation of this single fruit, even with the strong competition of French prunes. Last year the supply of California fruit seemed to meet the demand of the market. But it is to be noted that when the supply was only one-fourth as large, it also met the demands of the market, because the latter had only been made large enough to take this limited product.

With the proposal that fruit production may double in California in the next five years, because the non-bearing area is nearly as large as that in bearing, the only practical thing to do is to enlarge the market. It is absurd to say that the California product is meeting the wants of 70,000,000 people. The greater part of these do not consume the fruit of this State because they cannot get it. The fruit growers have been gradually enlarging the market. But this enlargement has not kept pace with production. When that has doubled we shall probably hear the same story of restricted markets, while hundreds will be as eager to plant new orchards as they are today.

The Brown Tribunal Disappears.

When the committee in the Brown investigation was organized, it was foreseen that it would do nothing. Such an organization was not known in the history of the Congregational Church. It was made up of members of the Bay Association of ministers and the deacons of the church. Its findings, if it made any, would have had little or no weight, because it did not represent any valid tribunal to make a conclusive inquiry. After backing and filling, the committee finally decided that it had nothing to do, thus realizing the old distich: "Since I am so soon done for, I wonder what I was begun for." Two ex-judges, who were originally appointed on the committee, declined to serve after surveying the situation. The committee did not retire until they had expressed confidence in Brown.

The orderly method in the Congregational denomination is to call a council of churches—a representative body of ministers and laymen—to whom is expressly delegated the power to determine a particular issue. The finding having been accepted by the local church, that is the end of the matter. There is no tribunal for appeal. It is within the power of the local church to settle all differences without a council. But it is considered a more orderly proceeding to call for the counsel of other churches. It is remarkable that up to this time, the first step has not been taken in that direction. It is assumed that the trial of the Davidson woman will clear up the horizon and open the way for a final disposition of the whole matter. This playing for points may be good strategy when a tough case is to be won by delay.

Hungary will this year celebrate the one thousandth anniversary of its national history. It has now only a semi-independence. Incorporated with the Austrian Empire, its national character is not lost. Every Austrian king must be crowned in Hungary, or he is not the acknowledged king of that nation. Austria is a dual nation; and Hungary at present seems to be the most prosperous part of that Empire.

We doubted the truth of the report that was in circulation to the effect that Foraker would oppose McKinley's nomination for President. He has published this statement: "I am for McKinley first, last and all the time." It follows that Ohio will have a solid delegation for her favorite son in the Republican convention. What a fortunate circumstance it is for any one to have been born in Ohio.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Montana mines yielded $17,115,000 worth of minerals last year. The copper production of the State was about 65 per cent of the whole product of the United States. The gold produc. amounted to $1,100,000; silver to 4,500,000 ounces, copper to 212,000 pounds, and lead to 24,500,000 pounds. The gold output was 10 per cent greater than in the previous year and 17 per cent greater than in 1893.

Gold mining in the South is having quite a boom just now, according to reports in the newspapers. The gold mines in North Georgia are said to be doing a profitable business; a company with $2,500,000 capital is about to develop gold mines in West Virginia, and finds of considerable value and importance are reported in North Carolina. It is said that hundreds of miners have recently arrived in the gold fields in Montgomery and Stanley counties, N. C.

Fifty thousand Belgian dogs are employed in dragging small carts about the streets. They are said to have greater pulling power than any other animal, being able easily to pull four times their weight. They are often overloaded and cruelly treated, and an effort is being made to improve their condition by passing laws punishing the use of the whip and kicking, prohibiting the employment of dogs under twenty-two inches shoulder height, and compelling the use of such harness and shafts as will allow the animals to lie down for rest.

During 1895 the London mint struck off 7,245,295 coins, about ten millions more than in 1894. The value of the gold coins was £5,592,625; of the silver coins, £1,146,168, and of the bronze, £10,995.

A 634-karat diamond, the finest ever found in Africa, was discovered at Jagersfontein in the Transvaal on the day after Christmas. When cut it is expected that it will be worth $1,500,000.

Sir Samuel Lewis, K. C. M. G., the coal black negro who was knighted on New Year's Day, is 52 years old. He was educated at Wesley College, Sheffield, and University College, London, was admitted to the bar of the Middle Temple in 1871, and became Chief Justice of Sierra Leone in 1882. Last year he was chosen as the first mayor of the city of Freetown.

A New York paper thus describes the appearance of the great Cunarder, Etruria, which recently steamed into the harbor covered with ice: "What appeared to be a huge crystal steamship passed up the North river, glistening in the sunlight and presenting a beautiful appearance. Rays of green and red light streamed out from the side light towers on either side of the vessel. Although it was noonday, a huge white light, brilliant as a sunburst, burned in the rigging forward of the mainmast. The hull of the craft from water line to hurricane deck was a solid mass of ice. The huge smokestacks were perfectly white. At first glance is looked as if the craft were a mammoth confection."

The most successful photograph ever offered for sale by the famous English photographer, Mr William Downey, was that of the Princess of Wales with her baby, the future Duchess of Fife, on her back. Mr. Downey states: "We sold 300,000 of that picture alone."

The Goulds will be compelled to pay $900,000 as an inheritance tax into the New York State treasury. Since the income tax failed it might be well for Uncle Sam to try an inheritance tax. It would prove an excellent way of getting back some of the money filched from the government by the bond deals and the establishment of the gold standard.

A woman will be drafted for service in the French army next year for the reason that at her birth she was erroneously registered as a male child. Though the officials are cognizant of the blunder, red tape makes it essential for her to present herself for military duty.

Vienna is much excited over the alleged discovery by Professor Routgens of a new conductor of light whereby an article imbedded in an opaque body can be photographed. The importance of this discovery can hardly be overestimated. Its value in surgery for diagnostic purposes is at once apparent.

Probably the most brilliant woman chess player in the world is Mrs. Nellie Showalter, of Kentucky. She was born in 1872 at Donerail, Ky., and is a direct descendant of Chief Justice Marshall. She was married in 1887 to to Jackson W. Showalter, who taught her to play chess. She will leave Kentucky for Brooklyn in a few weeks to take part in the cable chess match between the women of England and America to be held in April.

Kruger, President of the Transvaal Republic, said when he was traveling in Holland in 1886: "You may protect yourself against the cold air by weather strips, but there is no protection against British infiltration."

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

How Royalty Cares for Its Dead.

Among the queerest features of court etiquette of the Old World are those in connection with royal and imperial deaths. This is vividly brought home to one by the grim and almost grusome circumstances surrounding the demise of the Japanese Imperial Prince and Field Marshal, Kitashirakawa, who succumbed the other day to fever while in command of the Mikado's army of occupation in the still unsubdued island of Formosa. Japanese court etiquette requires that no publication or official intimation of the death of a member of the reigning family shall be made until after the celebration of certain mortuary ceremonies in his or her own palace.

* * *

The dead prince was therefore brought all the way back from Formosa to Tokio as a live man. The general order announcing his departure to the troops under his command in Formosa bore his signature, or what purported to be such. The man of war that bore his corpse to the Japanese naval arsenal and seaport of Yokosuka flew no emblem of mourning at its masthead; meals were served in the cabin where the dead prince lay, and the military and naval daily reports were made to his deaf ears every morning an evening just as if he were alive.

* * *

On arrival at Yokosuka he was disembarked and received with naval and military honors, as if he had been alive, and his corpse, arrayed in the uniform of field marshal, was seated in a saloon carriage on the railroad, his staff taking their places around him. Arriving at Tokio, he was conveyed, not to a hearse, but to an ordinary coupe, seated in which he was driven to his palace, and it was only on the following day that the public and official announcement of his demise was made.

* * *

The prince was well known in this country, and spent some time in New York just before the outbreak of the war with China. Few people were aware that he at one time bore the title of Mikado. A cousin of the present emperor, he occupied the post of Prince-Abbot of the most important monastery in Japan, at Tokio, when the war between the Tykoon and the present Mikado broke out in 1867. The Tycoon with a view of strengthening his cause set up the young Prince-Abbot as an opposition Emperor and Mikado, his lineage being fully equal to that of the real Mikado. When the revolution was brought to a close by the victory of the present ruler of Japan, he graciously pardoned his cousin in consequence of his youth, sent him to the United States and Europe for a period of seven years to improve his mind by travel and on his return overwhelmed him with honors. The dead prince was persona gratissma at Berlin and was held in high esteem by the late Emperor William, as well as by his son and grandson.

* * *

The gruesome ride of the dead Japanese prince through the streets of Tokio, as if alive, recalls to mind a similar drive of which Nubar Pasha, who has just resigned the office of Prime Minister of Egypt to take up his permanent residence in France, must retain a vivid memory. When the Khedive Abbas died, struggled by his two ignoble boy favorites in his gloomy and sombre desert palace of Benha, twenty miles from Cairo, where he lived a life that can only be compared to that of the Roman Emperor Tiberius at Capri, Nubar was Governor of Cairo. The news of the despot's death was secretly brought to him in the dead of night. He hurried off to the palace of Benha as fast as the fleetest horse could carry him, and on arriving there placed himself in communication with the head eunuch, giving strict orders that not a soul should be permitted to stir from the palace.

* * *

Ordering the state carriage to be brought to the private entrance, he, assisted by the head eunuch, placed the body of the strangled ruler in a sitting posture within it and, taking his own seat opposite, as usual, the eunuch, mounting the box, drove the twenty miles to Cairo surrounded by guards and the usual pomp in this ghastly companionship, being compelled to use the greatest care to keep the corpse from being tumbled forward upon himself by the jolting of the carriage. Although it was daylight when he reached the city and the streets were crowded, he arrived at the citadel without exciting suspicion, and, once there, caused the guns of the stronghold to be trained on the city, and proclaimed Prince Said as Viceroy, thus crushing the conspiracy which had been organized for the object of bringing Prince Hami to the throne.

* * *

At most of the European courts it is to this day customary for dead personages of royal and imperial rank to hold a sort of levee or reception just before their interment, when all the great dignitaries of the realm and members of the court pass one by one before the august dead, bowing low and kissing the cold and clammy hand of the corpse.

* * *

Even still more strange are the ceremonies that used to be in force in France when that country still enjoyed the advantages—or disadvantages—of a monarchical regime. During the entire forty days that the embalmed corpse of the illustrious dead lay in state in the Cathedral of St. Denis the court ceremonies were carried on within the abbey as though the monarch or prince still lived. The royal or imperial table would be set every night in the refectory and the grand master of ceremonies when dinner was brought up, would proceed in full uniform to the chancel of the church, where the corpse lay rigid and cold, and with a low obeisance, would exclaim:

"Sire, the dinner is served according to your Majesty's orders!"

Then the chamberlain standing on duty beside the corpse would respond with great dignity:

"His Majesty has been graciously pleased to dine already and desires to remain undisturbed," whereupon the master of the ceremonies would back out with the three customary low obeisances to the dead and would order the meal to be taken away.

* * *

After all, the lying in state of deceased monarchs and princes, embalmed, shaven, coiffed and dressed in full uniform to give a lifelike resemblance to the corpse, is a part and parcel of this species of grim comedy which provides that a royal personage, no matter if the breath has left his or her body, shall be regarded as alive until finally laid in the tomb. It is an etiquette which belongs to a bygone age and which should find no place in our present enlightened era, since it savors of something akin to mockery and cannot but be most painful to those near and dear relatives who have been bereaved.

* * *

Yet none of them dare omit it, not even when, as in the case of poor Crown Prince Rudolph of Meverling, the top of his skull and the left side of his head were entirely crushed in by those who took part in that terrible tragedy, and it required the utmost skill on the part of the physicians and embalmers to conceal from the public the traces of the injuries which he had sustained.

* * *

The single instance where the lying in state has been omitted in modern times is that of the late King John of Saxony, a fact which gave rise to the rumor that he had long survived his official funeral, and been detained, in consequence of his homicidal mania, a close prisoner in one of the most inaccessible monasteries of Saxon Switzerland.

A Surprised Detective.

"I was disgusted a few days ago at a case I worked up," remarked a detective.

"A young lady, who was possessed of considerable money and a number of jewels sent for me. She had been robbed of some diamonds valued at several hundred dollars. I finally found all but one pin, they having been pawned. I obtained a description of the man who borrowed money upon them, and for several weeks could not locate him. When I did, his landlady said that he had left that morning and was going to Baltimore. I watched the depot, and was soon rewarded by seeing the man step out of a hack. I seized his arm, and said: 'You are arrested!' 'What for?' he asked, in a tone that showed me he was not much surprised, but greatly frightened. 'That will be explained at the station,' I replied. There was a feminine shriek from the hack, and, glancing into the vehicle, I saw it was my fair client. They had just been married and were starting on their wedding trip. I took in the situation at a glance, and then, realizing that I was powerless under the new order of affairs, I said: 'I see now that you are not the man I want,' and let him go. Then he began to bluster, and, taking him aside, I gave him to understand I knew of his robbing the girl to pay the expenses of his courtship, and he quieted down very suddenly."—Washington Star.

George Augustus Sala, in his memoirs, described in an amusing manner the circumstances of his first meeting with Joseph Jefferson, the actor: "One Saturday I saw an advertisement in the papers stating that on the ensuing Monday Mr. Jefferson was to make his appearance at the Adelphi theatre in Dion Boucicault's striking romantic 'Rip Van Winkle.' It seemed to me that I had often met Mr. Jefferson in society in New York, and that we had been on friendly terms; so I wrote him at once at the Charing Cross hotel as follows: 'Dear Old Boss: Pork and beans tomorrow at 7. Come on.' The letter was duly sent to the hotel, but early on Sunday morning the terrible truth broke on my mind that the actor who had been so friendly to me at New York was not named Jefferson, but had an entirely different appellation, and that I did not know Joseph Jefferson from the man in the moon. How the astounding aberration had come about I cannot tell. I passed the day in moody perturbation. At 7:30 p. m. lo, and behold! Joseph Jefferson in full evening dress made his appearance. 'I wasn't going to miss a good chance,' he said, as he took his seat at our humble board, and we spent a delightful evening."

After the new minister had delivered his first sermon in the Presbyterian church of a little Washington town recently, a deacon approached him and said: "You didn't give us any Latin or Greek in yer sermon today." "No," said the minister, "I did not. I was not aware that the congregation included any who understood those languages." And this was a bit of sarcasm. "Wall, ther ain't none wot duz," replied the deacon; "but we folks up here want to hev wat's going on in them city churches, an' we'll her to ax yer to give et tu us."—Northwest Magazine.

Corral Hollow's Coal Mines Are Rich in Buried Treasure

A TRIP TO THE SCENE.

An Enormous Industry to Be Developed for This Section.

OTHER VALUABLE DEPOSITS.

Cement, Firebrick and Glass Are All Awaiting Enterprise.

The following description of the Corral Hollow coal mines is from the special midwinter edition of the Livermore Herald:

In going from Livermore to the mines the first thing of interest is the portal of the tunnel, continuing to ascend the canon, we come upon some ruins which mark the places where work was done on these coal veins years before all the land having value for coal was purchased and consolidated by Mr. John Treadwell. Still continuing to ascend, the top of the divide is finally reached. From this point a good view of the "Hollow" and the surrounding country is obtained. The steep descent is then commenced, until the works finally appear and the bottom of the "Hollow" is reached. Donning miners' clothes we entered the tunnel shown in the cut. This tunnel is 10 feet by 10 feet, 3000 feet long, and has double tracks. It crosses 10 or 12 coal veins, measuring from 16 inches to forty feet in width, and cuts them some 700 feet below the surface.

The first vein encountered is quite a distance in, and is 5½ feet thick; a gallery was driven on this vein 700 feet, all in coal. Coming out of this gallery we enter the main tunnel and shortly come upon a vein 16 inches thick; continuing several hundred feet we come to another one which is 6 feet wide. Thirty feet further on we come to one which is 10½ feet wide; turning to the left from the main tunnel we enter a gallery driven on this vein for a distance of over one-third of a mile; after a short distance in we come to the hoisting works. At this point a slope has been sunk 415 feet. Mounting the skip we were slowly lowered until we reached a depth of 200 feet. At this point long galleries are driven both ways, and for the first time an idea of the vast quantity of coal overhead can be formed. Mounting the skip we were again lowered until we reached a lower gallery. We produce a reproduction of a flash-light picture taken at this station which but feebly conveys an idea of the tremendous size of the vein.

We descended still further and explored more galleries; finally being hoisted to the tunnel level, we proceeded to the face of the main gallery, stopping en route to examine upraises and crosscuts of other veins. Returning we again entered the main tunnel and soon came upon innumerable small veins running from one to two feet in width until we finally reached one which is seven feet wide. Here another long gallery is driven, and an upraise 650 feet creates a draft that extinguished our light very frequently. We climbed up in this raise; nothing but coal greets the eye. By this time the scribe was thoroughly fatigued and was glad to get back to daylight, having traveled over three miles underground.

Partaking of a bounteous lunch, we visited the new shaft, which is 11 feet by 22 feet, 300 feet deep, and is being sunk five feet a day. Entering the buggy we were driven down the canon, which is practically level, and visited numerous tunnels and shafts along the course of the veins, which have been tested and explored over a distance of six miles. A personal investigation will convince the most skeptical that there is coal enough there to supply the needs of the State for the next fifty years; and if anyone doubts its quality they need only open the doors of the boilers to be persuaded that it makes a very hot fire. It burns equally well in the stoves and it required a good, strong fire the day of our visit to dispel the chill of the San Joaquin fog that had drifted in.

OTHER INDUSTRIES.

The citizens of Livermore, and the people generally, will be interested in learning that other industries will spring up and new enterprises be inaugurated.

On the lands of the company are found beds of clay and reefs of limestone of unexceptional excellence and purity. These are two raw materials employed in the manufacture of cement, of which a large amount is annually used. Although it is brought from Germany and England as ballast, the price nevertheless ranges from $2.25 to $3.50 per barrel of 400 pounds.

Persons skilled in the manufacture of cement, and who are familiar with the raw materials found in Corral Hollow, state that cement equal to the best imported can be made there for 80 cents per barrel, and the annual consumption is placed at 400,000 barrels. Wealthy cement manufacturers are already negotiating with the company for the sole rights to manufacture cement and lime, so that the erection of large works for that purpose will proceed shortly.

There is also situated upon the company's land a bed of clay suitable for the manufacture of fire brick and other refractory articles. As there is a large demand in that line this industry will undoubtedly soon be established.

A sand for glass-making purposes is also found here. At present the glass manufacturing industry in California is confined entirely to the manufacture of bottles. Let us hope that this industry will be materially enlarged at Corral Hollow. We can't do too much manufacturing. With our tremendous natural resources we would soon become the richest State in the Union if we did our own manufacturing, and thus stop the tremendous drain of gold necessary to pay for the manufactured articles we import. We export the raw materials and import the finished product.

The placing of Corral Hollow coal on the market will alter this state of affairs, because this coal will be sold at a figure which will enable manufacturers to exist. Heretofore prices were so high as to be prohibitive. By reason of cheap fuel from these mines great changes will occur in the State in the next few years.

Cassandras and pessimists have always declared that California would never be among the manufacturing States on account of lack of cheap fuel. This restriction is now removed, and manufactures will spring into existence. Thousands of skilled operatives will find employment here and every artery of trade will share the benefits of cheap fuel and increased population.

Another interesting bit of news to the citizens of Livermoe, Stockton,, San Jose and intervening towns is the contemplated erection of an electric light and power plant at the mines. The contract for the erection of a 5,000 horse-power plant has been entered into. The plant is designed to burn what is generally considered waste at other coal mines. Light and power will be supplied to any town within a radius of forty miles, and will be a boon to many of the interior towns, where high-priced fuel makes electric light a luxury. A careful review of all the facts proves conclusively that no single enterprise ever inaugurated will have such a deep and changing effect on the general prosperity of the State as this one.

"Cheap fuel" has been the cry, and at last we have attained it.

Regent Reinstein Suggests a Relay System for Students.

FOUR HOURS WORK A DAY

Work on the Proposed Roads Will Shortly Be Started.

ATHLETES ARE LINED UP.

Desire to Get a First-Class Team for This Season.

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—In ten days the University cadets will don their overalls and jumpers and become a pick and shovel brigade. Regent Reinstein has now decided upon the plan of managing the student labor, and in a long letter published in today's "Berkeleyan" has completely mapped out what is expected from them. They are to first break ground within ten days from today, and the new Regent says he has the utmost confidence that every man will perform his task faithfully.

In consequence of the students' street drill in army regulations, the managing of the working force will be carried out in military rule. The entire body will be divided into two squads, under command of Superintendent McLaren of Golden Gate Park. Each of these squads will be subdivided and placed in charge of McLaren's lieutenants, skilled workmen from San Francisco. Those who are enrolled in the first squad will be requested to report at 8 in the morning and work until 10, and then lay off for three hours. The second squad must begin at 10 and work till 12. At 1 o'clock the first squad resumes work until 3. At 3 the second squad comes on again and finishes the day's work at 5. Thus each student works for four hours and is at leisure to rest for six hours, which will not make it so burdensome as expected. It is understood that a complete cessation of University exercises will be granted for a week while the work is in progress, but this has not been definitely decided as yet.

The new Regent greatly regrets that all the plans originally proposed have been knocked out and modifications of them substituted by the committee on grounds. He says: "The proposed plans would have made a very effective, complete improvement, which would have appealed to the eye. The campus would have been one great green sward. What is permitted, however, will at least give easy and excellent approach from Center street and around North hall and across the main path. The plans have been modified so thoroughly that only the following is permitted: First, footpath fifteen feet wide from Center street to second bridge on line proposed by Mr. McLaren and surveyed by Professor Soule; second, cutting down around North hall; third, shaving down main path and possibly some few other slight changes will be allowed by the committee."

The grounds were selected as the first field for work, because the time is ripe for improvement and the benefit will be most general. Many of the other Regents, however, appear to doubt the seriousness of the "We will" so lustily shouted by the cadets when Reinstein asked them if they were willing to perform manual labor for the sake of their Alma Mater. The new appointee takes a shot at them in his letter, and refers to them as "those Regents who have not graduated from the University, and are consequently, of course, talking through their tiles." If the students in whom Reinstein has put all his hope and trust should fail him in his hour of need, their conduct would be apt to sear his warm heart so badly that he will resort to the breach of promise suit to even up matters.

WHEELER RESIGNS.

Much surprise has been created in college circles by the resignation of Wheeler, '96, from the team which is to represent California in the Carnot medal debate against Stanford. Wheeler gives as his excuse press of college work and that he cannot give his undivided attention to the debate. While his resignation is received with regret, it does not lessen the confidence of the Berkeleyites, as young Fryer, the freshman, will step into Wheeler's place. Fryer is the first freshman to enter an inter-collegiate debate, but many in the University consider him the equal of Wheeler.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The freshman-sophomore baseball game for the silver cup will not take place tomorrow, as the rain has played havoc with the diamond. The game will be postponed for a week. Meantime, Captain Blasingame of '98 will have a few practices to determine upon the make-up of his team. The most important contest after the inter-class game will be the one between the glee club and the members of the football team. This is expected to be one of the society events of the season, as the sweet carolers have as many lady friends as the knights of the gridiron. "Brick" Morse and Charles Elston, the tenors, will form the battery for the singers, and the footballers are endeavoring to beat the combination. The game will be played on January 8th.

MUST PAY UP.

The California Bridge and Construction Company has instituted proceedings against the property owners who are delinquent in their assessment for the South Line Main sewer. Two years ago the company constructed the sewer, and a number of property owners refused to settle for their portion of the assessment. Liens were therefore filed against them, which will expire tomorrow. Unless a settlement is made today, foreclosure suits will be commenced immediately. The number of delinquents is 100, and the amount involved about $3000.

TRAINING COMMENCED.

About thirty-five athletes met Captain Merwin in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon to receive his instructions as to training for the coming meet with Stanford. "If the team proves itself worthy," said the captain, "we will probably go against colleges outside of the State. Otherwise we will not. The matter rests entirely in your hands." After giving them instructions, Merwin required the athletes to sign the roll for gymnasium work. All those who signed must be on hand every night, or their names will be dropped. The principal athletes who signed are Merwin, Koch, Barnes, Torrey, Chick, Dean, Hupp, Carver, Hilton, Edgren, Dorn, Brown, Reeves, Anderson, Starr, Bakewell, Baugh, Dozier, Holden, Pierce, Pache, Lloyd, Dresser, Gilesberg, Hooper, Houghton, Houston, Dexter, Crafts, Stedman, Perley, Marmon and Carroll.

HERE AND THERE.

The directors of the Crescent Athletic club met last evening to arrange for the next gentlemen's evening. It is expected to be held on February 5th, when a good programme can be presented.

Rodgers denies statements to the effect that he will not appear to prosecute the students whom he alleges severely beat him several nights ago.

The Students' Congress will meet tomorrow night to discuss the Cuban question.

The seniors are pulling wires with all their might. The class election takes place Friday afternoon.

The members of the Law College will not escape without some lampooning in the "Blue and Gold" this year. Editor Case has requested President Maguire of the junior class at Hastings to appoint an assistant editor to keep his eye peeled for jokes at Hastings.

"Josh" made its appearance today and sold rapidly.

The Berkeley merchants are determined to compel the Town Trustees to repeal the ordinance levying a tax on wagons doing business within the town limits. The ordinance was aimed at Oakland produce men, but is reacting against the local men, and has the effect of a boycott. None of the Contra Costa farmers will sell their crops to merchants in Berkeley because of the tax, and they have found themselves shunned and alone. Hence the prayer for repeal.

ROW OVER AN ESTATE.

Application Is Made in Court for a Change of Assignee.

Application has been made to the Superior Court for the removal of attorney George H. Perry as assignee of the estate of Louis Meyer, the restaurant man of San Francisco, who is trying to secure a discharge from insolvency. The application was made on an affidavit filed by Charles E. Brown, a creditor of Meyer, who charges Perry with generally mismanaging and neglecting the duties of his position as a protector of the interests of the creditors.

Brown recites that Perry has not pursued all the available assets of the defunct firm and charges that Perry failed to obtain the best terms possible on real estate belonging to Meyer that was sold for the benefit of the creditors.

He also alleges that Perry failed to comply with the provisions of the insolvency law in neglecting within three months of the date of his appointment to file a true and just account of all the receipts and payments.

Brown has also filed a demand for wages. He says he was employed on May 3rd last as a fever in the restaurant. There is a balance of $25 due him, he says, and he seeks an order of court to secure its payment.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Business Transacted at the Meeting of the City Society.

The Oakland City Christian Endeavor Society held its regular monthy meeting in the Y. M. C. A's hall last evening in the Y. M. C. A.'s hall last evening the programme, less business being transacted, and a greater part of the evening given to social and spiritual pursuits.

The meeting was opened by a short praise service, followed by devotional exercises. The roll being called, Miss Emma McCormick rendered a vocal solo in creditable style. John Walling, the composer played one of his own pieces, and also sang in a quartette consisting of himself, Misses Emma and Mary McCormack, and E. C. Gilbert.

The musical programme was followed by an address on "Lookout Committee Work," by Dr. Sanborn, after which a general discussion followed. Among those who spoke were Rev. Barton Perry, Rev. McCallum, A. J. McMurtray, R. M. Brown, Messrs. Bacon, Kaig and McKee. The latter is editor of the Pacific Coast Endeavor.

The next sunrise praise service will be held in the First Christian church corner Thirteenth and Market streets, next Sunday morning at 7 o'clock.

Next week the End-of-the-day exercises will be held in the Union Street Presbyterian church. A committee to make arrangements for the service was appointed as follows: R. M. Brown, Hector McLean and Myron T. Holcomb.

SHASTA MINES.

Engineer Markwick Is Putting the Dams in Shape.

Editor Tribune—Sir: The dam which was erected this past season by E. Markwick on Clear Creek, Shasta county, has proved so far a success. It was built in twenty-seven feet of water and above low water mark twenty-five feet. The intention of this dam is to furnish water for power by a short canal to carry 3000 inches of water on the left bank of a stream which will afford 1200 inches of water all seasons of the year, thus draining the Creek bed suitable for sluicing and crevicing, which has never been done on a proper system and a mechanical-like manner. A further design by E. Markwick is to raise a portion of the water to cover a certain piece of land for gravel sluicing by a continuance of hoisting wheels, thus saving an enormous expense of making ditches, flumming and repairs by overflows caused by large gulches.

E. Markwick is a constructing engineer and a director of the California Gold Mining and Development Company. He believes the above company will handle the Clear Creek Mining and Milling Company's property on Clear Creek in connection with their large prospected quartz gold mines located 11½ miles from the proposed power house. This locality is the richest in placer gold of any part of Shasta county.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DOINGS IN THE COUNTY.

Social, Business and General Gossip of a Busy Section.

An Air of Prosperity Is Noted In All the Interior Towns.

The latest happenings in the county are as follows:

Haywards.

A movement is on foot to get up a public reading room.

Editor Oakes says in the last issue of the Journal: "We would like to offer one suggestion, and that is that as we are to vote next fall on a constitutional amendment granting the right of suffrage to women that the committee secure an eloquent advocate of the fair sex to discuss the question at this place."

J. W. McCoy of Redwood Canyon reports almost a flood in his section. The water was within six inches of the old mark.

The Athletic Club will have field-day sports on February 22d. A gun club annex has been added to the organization.

Livermore.

The League of Progress has called a mass meeting to be held next Saturday afternoon to consider the project of establishing a creamery in this city.

The midwinter number of The Herald will be issued this evening.

The death of Dr. J. Nanning occurred Saturday last. The deceased was a resident of Livermore since 1888.

The rainfall for last week was 2.56 inches, making a total of 9.27 inches.

Emil Greenbaum of San Francisco has written George Rock, offering to encourage the project of a new hotel in this place. He will be invited to attend the next meeting of the League of Progress.

For the purpose of awakening an interest among the children of the valley in observing the growth and development of the valley's flowers and note the difference in climatic conditions in the same locality, while at the same time drawing the attention of all to the early spring-time growth of the valley, the Herald offers a prize to the first school girl or boy bringing to its office a bouquet of not less than fifty California poppies, with a written statement of the locality in which they were found and the date of the gathering.

San Leandro.

The Board of Trade is taking an interest in the question of having San Leandro annex adjoining territory. The same organization has requested the trustees to limit the speed of street cars in passing through the town to four miles an hour.

Joseph Williams, who disappeared in a mysterious manner recently, has returned. During his absence he was in Stockton.

George Flint, late of Oakland, plays the cornet for the Presbyterian Sunday School and evening service.

Irvington.

Station Agent Walmsley saved a man considerably under the influence of liquor, from being killed by the train Saturday evening. In attempting to board a moving train the stranger clutched the side of the car and would have fallen beneath the wheels if the deacon had not caught him by the coat collar and thrown him to one side.

The crop prospects at this time are far ahead of those of last year at the same time, even though there has been only one-half as much rain up to date.

The editor of the Washington Press seems to be glad to get back from the mountains. In his last paper he says: "Some of our residents thought the rain of Friday last quite severe, but for a right smart downpour they should have been down to Boulder Creek, where 5.48 inches fell in 21 hours."

Niles.

While attending an entertainment, given a few nights ago by Niles Lodge I. O. O. F., Miss Branch wrenched one of her ankles.

WANTS TO GO FREE.

"Cowboy Detective" Simon Seeks Credits From the Supervisors.

S. S. Simon, the cowboy detective, who was sent to the County Jail for six months for having unstamped cigars in his possession, has made application to the Board of Supervisors to be allowed 30 days credit for good behavior under the provisions of the Goodwin act. His term will expire on March 6th. If the credits are allowed he may go free on February 5th. There is $100 fine attached to the sentence that was imposed and some question has arisen whether he will have to serve any time in default of the payment of that sum.

Simon was at one time a government customs house officer. He became well known in San Francisco under the sobriquet of the "cowboy detective." He was mixed up in several unsavory Chinatown scandals and finally landed in the meshes of the United States revenue laws.

The Afro-American League.

The league movement among the Afro-American voters of this State will change the political aspect of the race in future State and municipal campaigns, and will do more toward securing the Afro-American voters their share of political patronage than anything else. The league movement is here to stay, and in future campaigns in this State, or in any of the counties in the State, it will prove a very important political factor for the good of the race, and will secure for the members of the race a just and proper distribution of public patronage after the battle has been won and victory perched upon the banner of the party that has succeeded in securing the support of the league movement in their several counties.—San Francisco Elevator.

MINSTRELS MAKE MERRY

Schilling's Troupe Entertains a Large Audience at the Macdonough.

Realistic Production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Oakland.

The stormy outlook of last evening did not prevent a large attendance from witnessing the performance of Schilling's Minstrels. The programme was everything the advance notices have claimed for it, and there were hundreds of delighted and amused people in the audience who pronounced the show the best in the black face line that has been given here for a long time.

There is a really splendid first part. The comedian end men, who furnish enough new jokes, with old ones embellished, are Lew Spencer, Charles Schilling, William Carroll, Ed Nealy, Henry and Joe La Rose. The overture, "The Minstrel Ring," introduces a fine medley of ballads, comic songs and a clever dialogue.

The second part is unique throughout, and affords an excellent vaudeville entertainment. There is a Japanese equilibrist, who is a marvel. He seems to overcome every law of gravitation. His handling of the ball and sticks, his umbrella and cane trick, are two of the cleverest acts.

Schilling does a musical turn that is decidedly unique, and Carroll and Nealy have a rough and tumble knock-about that brings down the house. Frank Hammond gives a pleasing monologue, and the Trocadero quartet present a musical skit, "The Telephone Agent."

The crowning performance of the evening is the brothers La Rose in one of the best acrobatic performances that any team ever attempted here. Their act is unique in make-up and their tumbling is marvelous.

There will be a final performance this evening.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Managers Collins and Waldron did not belie their words when they said the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Oakland this week would be par excellence the best of the year. They have spent much money and labor and the result is a clean, finished and interesting production. The play breathes the Southern air. The plantation scenes in which real colored folk participate are very realistic. The cotton field scenes, with the singing, dancing and darkey jubilee, were very catching.

The death of Little Eva is a beautiful climax.

THE CALIFORNIA.

The second week of "In Old Kentucky" opened to a crowded house last night and the big audience thoroughly enjoyed the pickaninny band and the many other features of this popular drama of racing life.

THE COLUMBIA.

The Frawley Company will close their engagement this week at the Columbia with "Men and Women," a drama that is intensely interesting. It crowded the Columbia last night, and the company gave a brilliant performance. The third act is the finest scene of the drama. A guilty man confesses his thefts before a midnight meeting of bank directors in a most thrilling fashion.

MOROSCO'S.

"The Editor," a sparkling comedy drama, was given at Morosco's last night to a large audience. The play fluctuates from New York to Arizona, where it deals with the trials of a newspaper man in that territory. The play moves well and contains some sparkling scenes.

THE ORPHEUM.

Rachael Walker, the Creole singer, has won a high place on the Orpheum programme. She has a voice of wonderful range and tone, and her rendition of the ballads of the day is marvelous. The bill throughout is far beyond the average of the Orpheum programmes, and that makes it excellent.

THE TIVOLI.

"Ixion" was given last night to a crowded house. It will be withdrawn after this week. The run has been phenomenal.

THE ALCAZAR.

"A Canting Scoundrel," an English comedy, drew a large audience to the Alcazar last evening. The play was presented by the Grover Company in its usual excellent manner.

Have just received a large assortment of early spring flowering bulbs. Now is the time to plant. H. M. Sanborn, 517 Fourteenth street.

EXPENSES INCREASING.

Auditor Snow Makes Comparison With Six Years Ago.

Since the compilation of the last annual report, Auditor Snow has made a comparison between the cost of running the city for the year 1890-91 and the year just closed.

Figures show that the cost of the departments of administration have increased $11,000, or about 12 per cent. The expenses, other than that of administration, new school buildings and wharves, have increased about 20 per cent. This increase is made up principally in the following items:

Police	$ 16,000
Schools	37,000
Free Library and Reading R'ms	8,000
Street cleaning and repairing	10,000
Street lighting	23,000
Water front suit (partial)	30,000

A LUMBER COMBINE.

Local Dealers Are About to Fix a Standard Rate.

A few of Oakland's lumber merchants met in the rooms of the Merchants' Exchange the other morning. The object of the meeting was to fix some rate to be observed by all the dealers. Owing to the absence of several of the most important merchants, no definite move was made.

Another meeting will be held shortly for the same purpose. At present there is no uniform rate, each merchant fixing his own price. The dealers will be greatly benefited by an established price, and many are looking for better times in the lumber business.

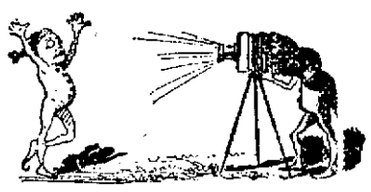

Get in out of the rain and get under a waterproof umbrella. Courtney repairs, makes, covers, sells them at bargain prices. 514 Thirteenth street, Oakland.

Expeditious and Economical.

There are many things which are made and sold in this city which are as good and frequently a great deal better than any of the same kind which may be procured across the bay. When, however, it is necessary to bring an article from or send one to San Francisco, the best means should be utilized to save time and money and, accordingly, the People's Express is just the medium which the public patronizes. It is expeditious, reliable and economical. The office is on Ninth street between Broadway and Franklin streets.

EPPS'S COCOA
BREAKFAST—SUPPER.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and suppers a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette.

SCHOOL BONDS FOR SALE.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County, California, made October 28th, 1895, sealed proposals will be received at the office of the treasurer of said county at the Hall of Records of said county, in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, until 12 o'clock noon, on the 1st day of February, 1896, for the purchase of three bonds of the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars each of Newark School District of Alameda County; at which said time said proposals will be opened and said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for cash in United States gold coin, subject to the provisions hereinafter set forth. Said bonds were issued by said Board of Supervisors under and in accordance with the provisions of Section 1880 to 1888, both inclusive, of the Political Code, and in conformity with an order of the Board of Supervisors of said county passed October 28, 1895, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from date until paid, interest payable on the first day of February of each year, out of and from the Building Fund of said Newark School District upon presentation and surrender to the treasurer of said county of the interest coupons.

Said bonds are to be numbered consecutively one to three inclusive and are to mature as follows, to wit:

Bond numbered One, one year from date.

Bond numbered Three, three years from date.

Bids will be received for one or any larger number of said bonds up to three. All bids must be equal in amount to the par value of the bonds bid for and accompanied by a certified check or cash deposit in the sum of at least 10 per cent. of the amount of the bid, payable to the Clerk of the Board of Trustees of Newark School District of Alameda County. The said check or deposit will be returned in case of rejection of the bid, and be forfeited to the Board of Trustees if the bidder neglects to pay for the bond or bonds be bids for within five days after notice of the acceptance of the bid.

LEGAL.

ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE LICENSING FOR PURPOSES OF REGULATION AND REVENUE, EVERY KIND OF LAWFUL BUSINESS, HEREINAFTER SPECIFIED, TRANSACTED OR CARRIED ON WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, AND ALL SHOWS, EXHIBITIONS AND LAWFUL GAMES CARRIED ON THEREIN; FIXING RATES OF LICENSE TAX UPON THE SAME AND PRESCRIBING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF SAID ORDINANCE.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Every person, firm or corporation engaged in carrying on, pursuing or transacting within the County of Alameda, any occupation, business or calling, hereinafter specified, must procure a license and pay a license tax therefor as hereinafter provided. Said license tax must be paid in advance to the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance. Separate licenses must be procured, and the separate license tax paid for each branch, establishment, or separate house of business located in said county.

Section 2. License taxes shall be collected at the rate in this Ordinance prescribed, from the taking effect of this Ordinance provided that nothing in this Ordinance contained shall affect the validity of any license issued before the taking effect of this Ordinance; provided, however, that if any person, firm or corporation shall engage in, carry on or transact any business of occupation without having first procured the license in this Ordinance prescribed, there shall immediately become due and payable the entire license tax for the period for which the rate is in this Ordinance fixed.

Section 3. The Auditor must keep a ledger, in which he must keep the collectors' account of all licenses delivered to him, sold or returned unsold by him.

Section 4. The persons charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, must make diligent inquiry as to all persons liable to pay license tax, as provided in this Ordinance; and in all cases where the amount of license to be paid by any person, firm or corporation, is based upon the amount of receipts of sales affected, or business transacted, such person, firm or corporation shall render a sworn statement in writing to the Board of Supervisors of said County of Alameda, made before some officer authorized to administer oaths, of the total amount of receipts, sales made, or business done by said person, firm or corporation respectively, during the three months next preceeding the expiration of the last license, which statement shall determine the amount for which such license shall be issued or renewed; and thereupon such person, firm or corporation must procure a license from the County of Alameda, for the term desired; and the class for which said party is liable to pay; and in all cases, where an under estimate has been made by the party appearing, the party making such estimate, or the person, firm or corporation he represents, are required to pay for a license for the next quarter, double the sum otherwise required; and the said person so charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, is hereby authorized to bring suit against any person, firm or corporation, liable to pay a license tax, who fails, neglects or refuses to pay the proper license tax, or who carries on, or attempts to carry on, business without first paying said license tax, or the recovery of said tax.

Section 5. On the first Monday in each month the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes under the provisions of this ordinance must return to the Auditor all licenses unsold, and be credited therewith; and must pay into the County Treasury, for the use of the County General Fund, all moneys collected for licenses sold during the preceding month.

Section 6. Auctioneers are divided into eight classes, and must obtain licenses from the said County of Alameda, as follows: Those whose average monthly sales amount to $100,000 and upwards, constitute the first class, and must pay a license tax of $200 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $75,000 and less than $100,000 constitute the second class, and must pay a license tax of $150 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $50,000 and less than $75,000, constitute the third class, and must pay a license tax of $100 per quarter, those whose monthly sales amount to $30,000 and less than $50,000, constitute the fourth class, and must pay a license tax of $75 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to $20,000, and less than $30,000, constitute the fifth class, and must pay a license tax of $60 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $10,000 and less than $20,000, constitute the sixth class and must pay a License Tax of $50 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to $2,500 and less than $10,000, constitute the seventh class, and must pay a license tax of $25 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to less than $2500, constitute the eighth class, and must pay a license tax of $7.50 per quarter.

Section 7. Licenses must be obtained for the purposes hereinafter named, and payment must be made as follows:

No. 1: Proprietors of billiard or pool tables, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table $1 per quarter.

No. 2: For a bowling alley, $1 per quarter for each alley.

No. 3: For each exhibition, for pay, of a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or any acrobatic performance, $25.

No. 4. For each show, for pay, of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians, wire or rope dancers, or slight of hand exhibition, $5 each day.

No. 5: For every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of expressing, transmitting or conveying goods, wares or general merchandise of every kind and description, by wagons or vehicles drawn by horses or mules, $15 per quarter.

Section 8. Every person engaged in the business of a pawnbroker must pay a license tax of $20 per quarter.

Section 9. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who vends goods, wares, or merchandise of any kind (other than his own manufacture, or agricultural, vinicultural, ranch or farm produce or butchers' meat or fish), must pay a license tax of $10 per quarter; unless he uses a wagon or one or more animals for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise, in which case he must pay a license tax of $15 per quarter; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to bona fide merchants of said Alameda County who have fixed places of business, and who supply goods, wares or merchandise to other merchants or dealers within said county, who, also, have fixed places of business.

Section 10. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propogation, for hire, must obtain a license therefor, and pay therefor as follows:

No. 1: Horses that are hired for the purpose of propogation for the season at $100 or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of $75 per year.

No. 2: At $75, and less than $100, constitute the second class, and require a license of $50 per year.

No. 3: At $50, and less than $75, constitute the third class, and require a license of $40 per year.

No. 4: At $30, and less than $50, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of $25 per year.

No. 5: At less than $30, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of $15 per year; for each jack, $15 per year; for each bull, $10 per year.

Section 11. In any action brought under or arising out of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, the fact that a party represented himself or herself as engaged in any business or employment, for the transaction for which a license is by this Ordinance required, or that such party exhibited a sign indicating such business or employment, shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of such party to pay license.

Section 12. The conviction and punishment of any person for transacting any business without a license, shall not excuse or exempt such person from the payment of any license due or unpaid at the time of such conviction.

Section 13. The provisions of this Ordinance shall not be construed as requiring the payment of any License Tax or the procuring of any license for an exhibition or entertainment given for the benefit of any church, school, or other charitable object, by any amateur dramatic association, or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

Section 14. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, to establish, open, keep, maintain or carry on within the County of Alameda any saloon, bar, store, dram shop, tippling place, stand or any place where spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof, are sold or given away; or for any person, firm or corporation (except as hereinafter provided), to sell within the limits of the County of Alameda, any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof without having the permission and license therefor as in this Section of said Ordinance provided.

No. 1: No license issued under any of the provisions of this Section of said Ordinance shall be assignable or transferable without the consent of the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors endorsed thereon, and only to such person, firm or corporation as have obtained from the Board of Supervisors the permission hereinafter required, and having filed a bond as hereinafter provided, and complied in all other respects with the requirements of this Ordinance.

No. 2: No person, firm or corporation shall have issued to him or them the license required by this section of said Ordinance, unless such person, firm or corporation, be of good moral character, and first obtain permission as provided herein, by making application in writing to the Board of Supervisors at a meeting thereof, for permission to obtain the license herein required and shall file with said application a written recommendation signed by not less than five out of ten of the citizens of the County of Alameda, residing nearest the place where the applicant or applicants propose to carry on the said business, each of whom must be a freeholder, and the "head of the family," as that term is defined by Section 1261 of the Civil Code of the State of California.

The application in writing herein required shall contain and set forth:

First: The name and residence of the applicant or applicants, and how long he or they have resided in said County of Alameda.

Second: The particular place for which a license is desired.

Third: The name of the owner of the premises.

Fourth: That the applicant or applicants are the only person or persons in any manner interested in the business asked to be licensed, and that no other persons shall be in any way interested therein during the continuance of the permission.

Fifth: Whether or not the applicant or applicants have had a permission or license for the sale of liquors in said Alameda County, during any time preceding his or their present application, revoked.

Sixth: That the applicant or applicants are of good moral character and suitable to conduct such a place. This petition must be verified by affidavit of applicant or applicants, made before the County Clerk, or some authorized Notary Public.

3. Such applicant or applicants shall, at the time of making application for permission to obtain a license, file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors a bond in the penal sum of One Thousand ($1000) dollars, with two or more sureties, who shall each be residents of the County of Alameda, and shall each qualify in double the amount of the penal sum of the bond; said bond to be approved by the Board of Supervisors, and conditioned that the said applicant or applicants shall conduct the business for which the license is sought, in a quiet, orderly and reputable manner, and will not permit any breach of the peace or disturbance of the public order or decorum, by any tumultuous, riotous or disorderly conduct upon the premises, and shall not sell, give or furnish any intoxicating liquor, spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine, or any admixture thereof, to any person in a state of intoxication, or addicted to the inordinate use of intoxicating liquors, or to any person under the age of 18 years, and shall not allow any person under the age of 18 years, or intoxicated person to be or remain upon premises where any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wines is sold to be drank on the premises and shall not sell or give away any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine between the hour of 12 o'clock P. M., and the hour of 5 o'clock of the following morning; and that said applicant or applicants shall obey and abide by all laws and Ordinances now in force, and which may hereafter be enacted, regulating the time of closing saloons and places of business where spiritous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof are sold. Said application and recommendation, after the approval of said bond, shall be immediately referred to the Judiciary Committee for investigation, who shall report the result thereof to the Board of Supervisors at the meeting following, and at any time before said last named meeting, or at said meeting, and before final action upon any application, any resident or residents of the County voting precinct where said applicant or applicants desire to conduct such business, may file with said Board, or with the Clerk thereof, petitions in favor of, or remonstrances against the granting of such permission, and it shall be the duty of said Board of Supervisors, before taking final action upon any application, to consider all such petitions, and in all cases to decide impartially as to the necessity or needlessness of such permission for the accommodation, peace or good order of the public, according to the number, character and showing of the petitioners for, and remonstrance against such permission. If, after considering all the matters aforesaid, the Board shall find that the applicant or applicants are proper persons to carry on said business, and that the carrying on of said business, at the place where the same is proposed to be carried on, will not be prejudicial to the public good, said Board may, by resolution, grant the required permit, which permit shall remain in force not more than one year from the date of the same; and be good only for the person, firm or corporation, and place named therein.

4. Any person, firm or corporation, to whom such a permit has been granted, who does not conduct the business for which such permit has been granted, in a quiet, orderly and reputable manner, or who permits any breach of the peace, or disturbance of the public order or decorum, by any tumultuous, riotous or disorderly conduct on the premises, or who sells, gives or furnishes any intoxicating liquor, spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine, or any admixture thereof, to any person in a state of intoxication, or addicted to the inordinate use of intoxicating liquors, or to any person under the age of 18 years, or who shall allow any person under the age of 18 years, or any intoxicated person to be or remain upon premises where any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine is sold, to be drank on the premises, or who sells or gives away any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine between the hour of 12 P. M. and the hour of 5 o'clock the following morning, or who shall not obey and abide by all laws and ordinances now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted regulating the time of closing saloons and places of business where spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine, or any admixture thereof, are sold or given away, shall forfeit all permits and licenses theretofore issued to said person, firm or corporation, under the provisions of this Ordinance, and also any license that may have been issued to said person, firm or corporation, under the provisions of this Ordinance subsequent to the filing with the Board of Supervisors of the complaint next hereinafter mentioned.

5. Any elector of the said County of Alameda may file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors a complaint against any person, firm or corporation whom he has reason to believe is guilty of any of the acts or neglects, specified in subdivision 4 of Section 14 of this Ordinance, which complaint must be in writing, and must specifically set forth any violation or violations by the party complained against, of any of the provisions of said subdivision 4. At the next meeting of the Board after the filing of the said complaint, or if the Board is in session at the time said complaint is filed, the Board shall fix a time for the hearing thereof, and at the time so fixed shall investigate the charges so made in said complaint. Notice of the time so fixed, of at least five days, shall be given to the person, firm or corporation complained against. If, on such investigation the said Board shall find that the said complaint is well founded, and that any charge or charges therein contained, are true, it shall so declare by resolution, and shall by the same resolution, revoke the permit theretofore granted to said person, firm or corporation, and revoke all licenses theretofore issued to said person, firm or corporation under the provisions of this Ordinance; and said licenses shall thenceforth be without force or effect. Said Board may, also by the same resolution, declare the bond required by subdivision 2 of Section 14 of this Ordinance, given by said person, firm or corporation, forfeited, and direct action to be brought thereon to recover the penalty thereof.

6: The license tax under this section of said Ordinance shall be as follows. For every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of selling or giving away or in any manner furnishing, in any saloon, bar, stand or any other place of business or in any public place within the County of Alameda, and for every person, firm or corporation who sells or offers to sell, or keeps for the purpose of sale, within the said County of Alameda, any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof, $30 per quarter, payable in advance to the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes, under the provision of this Ordinance; provided that druggists and apothecaries shall not be required to obtain a license under the provisions of this Ordinance, for furnishing liquors upon the written prescription of a regularly licensed and registered physician, such liquor in no case to be used or drank upon the premises, nor for supplying alcohol or preparations containing the same, for scientific, mechanical, medical or medicinal purposes, provided, further, that no spiritous, malt or vinous liquors shall be sold or furnished more than once on any one prescription of such physician, and that no physician shall prescribe any intoxicating liquors as a beverage to any person addicted to the inordinate us of intoxicating liquors.

Section 15. Every person, who shall, within the County of Alameda, keep or assist in keeping any saloon, bar, store, dram shop, tippling place, stand or any other place, where any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine is sold or given away without having first procured the permit and license required therefor by the provisions of this Ordinance, or who shall sell or give away within the County of Alameda, any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine without having first procured the permit and license required therefor by the provisions of this Ordinance, or after the same may have been revoked by the Board of Supervisors, as in this Ordinance provided; and any person who shall conduct or carry on any business, occupation or calling for which a license tax is required by the provisions of this Ordinance, without having first procured the license required by this Ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 16. The person charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall have the power to make arrests for the violations of any of the provisions of this Ordinance. The said person so charged by law as aforesaid with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, is also further required to report to the Board of Supervisors monthly the names and locations of the places of business of all persons to whom licenses have been issued during the previous month; also the amounts paid, and the kind of license issued.

Section 17. The Board of Supervisors shall have power to order a free license issued to any person who may apply therefor, whenever in their judgment the same may be necessary to enable any applicant who may be poor and unable to pay his license tax, to earn a livelihood.

Section 18. Every person, firm or corporation receiving a license under this ordinance shall place the same in a conspicuous place in his or its place of business; and all peddlers and other persons who have no fixed place of business must produce and show their license whenever required to any person who may make demand to see the same.

Section 19. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance licensing for purposes of regulation and revenue every kind of lawful business hereinafter specified, transacted or carried on within the corporate limits of the County of Alameda, State of California, and all shows, exhibitions and lawful games carried on therein; fixing rates of license tax upon the same, and providing for the collection thereof," passed by the Board of Supervisors of the said County of Alameda, on the 30th day of January, 1893, and all amendments thereof and thereto, and all Ordinances and parts of Ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance, are hereby repealed.

Ayes—Supervisors Church, Talcott, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey.

(Seal) HIRAM BAILEY,
Chairman Board of Supervisors.
Endorsed: Filed, January 20, 1896.
FRANK C. JORDAN,
County Clerk.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Each road district as now established in said county of Alameda shall constitute a Pound District, and there shall be a Poundkeeper for each Pound District, to be appointed by the Board of Supervisors upon petition of at least fifteen qualified electors of the district. Each Pound District shall be known by the name of the road district with which it coincides; thus, the Pound District that coincides with Altamont road district shall be known as Altamont Pound District.

Section 2. Each Poundkeeper, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall make and execute a good and sufficient bond, with two or more sureties, in the sum of $250, payable to the said county of Alameda and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as such Poundkeeper.

Section 3. Each Poundkeeper must, at his own charge and expense, erect and maintain a suitable inclosure for the keeping of such animals as may be impounded.

Section 4. It is hereby declared unlawful for any ox, bull, cow, horse, colt, jack, mule, calf, sheep or hog to run at large in said county of Alameda, outside of the corporate limits of incorporated cities and towns, in said county of Alameda, or to be pastured, or herded, or staked, or tied, for the purpose of grazing, on any highway, public road, public street or public common in said county of Alameda, outside of the corporate limits of incorporated cities and towns in said county of Alameda; and it shall be unlawful for any animals or stock of any kind to be tied, staked, pastured or to run at large upon any private property in said county of Alameda, outside of incorporated cities and towns, unless by consent of the owner or occupant of such property.

Section 5. The Poundmaster shall take up and impound any of the animals enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance found running at large, staked, tied or being pastured or herded on any highway, public road, public street or public common in said county of Alameda, or found running at large, staked, tied or being herded or pastured upon any private property in said county of Alameda, contrary to the provisions of section 4 of this ordinance.

Section 6. The Poundkeeper shall, within twenty-four hours after the time any animal, enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance, is impounded, as provided by section 5 of this ordinance, cause to be delivered to the owner or keeper of such animal, if known to him, or cause to be left at the usual place of abode of such owner or keeper, a notice in writing, describing the marks, brands and color of the animal impounded, stating the amount of fees and charges incurred and the time of impounding.

Section 7. When the owner or keeper of any animal impounded is not known by the Poundkeeper, the said Poundkeeper shall, within twenty-four hours after the time the said animal is taken up and impounded, post notices in writing, describing the marks, brands and color of the animal impounded, and stating the amount of fees and charges incurred and the time of impounding. Said notices shall be posted by the Poundkeeper in three of the most public places in his Pound District.

Section 8. If the owner, or agent of the owner, of any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance, shall pay the penalty, charges and fines hereinafter provided for, the animal impounded shall forthwith be discharged from the Pound of the district in which the same is impounded.

Section 9. If the owner, or agent of the owner, of any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance, shall refuse or neglect for the period of three days after the said animal is impounded, to pay the penalties, charges and fines herein provided for, the Poundkeeper shall sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder. Such sale can only be made upon at least five days' notice posted in three of the most public places in the Pound District in which said animal is impounded, which said notice shall contain a full description of said animal, and shall set forth that the same will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder at a time and place to be specified in said notice, and shall also contain a descriptions of the marks, brand and color of the animal to be sold, together with a statement of the amount of penalties and charges due under the provisions of this ordinance and of the time of impounding. If said animal is not reclaimed by the owner, or agent of the owner, before the expiration of the time specified in said notice, the Poundkeeper shall proceed to sell the said animal at the time and place and in the manner specified in said notice.

Section 10. After the payment of the penalties and charges and fines, hereinafter in this ordinance provided, the overplus of such sale, if any, shall be paid to the owner of said animal so impounded, under the provisions of this ordinance, upon request, if he, said owner, shall apply for the same within one month from the time of said sale, otherwise said overplus shall be placed in the County Treasury of said county of Alameda, there to await the order of the owner, and shall be paid to said owner by the Treasurer, if he shall apply for the same within twelve months from the day of sale, on his making satisfactory proof that he is entitled to the same, and if no claimant for said overplus appear within the time above specified the same shall be placed in the road fund of the road district wherein said Pound is situated.

Section 11. It shall not be lawful for any person to rescue any animal enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance from the possession of any person who is impounding the same under the provisions of this ordinance, and it shall not be lawful for any person to make any Pound breach, or in any way directly or indirectly convey or deliver any animal out of any Pound without lawful authority, and no person shall wilfully and knowingly resist, delay or obstruct any Poundkeeper in the performance of his duties under this ordinance.

Section 12. The Poundkeeper, or any person impounding any animal under the provisions of this ordinance may retake the same within six days after the same is first impounded in the event that the same is directly or indirectly conveyed or delivered out of the Pound without lawful authority, and may again impound and detain the same and proceed as hereinbefore provided.

Section 13. The Poundkeeper shall daily cause all animals impounded to be provided with food and drink suitable for such animals, and upon neglect so to do, shall be liable to the owner thereof for all damages arising from such neglect.

Section 14. The Poundkeeper shall be entitled to charge and collect of and from the owner of animals impounded under this ordinance the following fee for impounding and keeping the same:

1: For each horse, jack, jeanet mule, cow, bull and heifer, $1 for the first day, and 50 cents per day for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

2: For each swine, goat, suckling calf or colt, 50 cents for the first day and 25 cents for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

3: For each sheep, 10 cents for the first day and 5 cents for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

Section 15. If any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance be not redeemed or sold within the time and in the manner specified herein, the Poundkeeper shall kill and bury the same in some suitable and appropriate place therefor, to be selected by him, in the manner, and for which he shall be entitled to receive the fee, as hereinafter provided, for the burial of dead animals.

Section 16. It shall be the duty of all persons having dead animals upon their premises, or who shall be the owner or possessor of any dead animal which die within the county of Alameda, to bury the same at least four feet under ground, within forty-eight hours after the same shall die; and upon the request of any owner or possessor of any dead animal, it shall be the duty of the Poundkeeper to proceed forthwith to bury the same, in some suitable and appropriate place therefor, for which he shall be entitled to receive from the owner or possessor of such dead animals the following fees, to wit:

For burying horses, bulls, oxen and cows, each, $4.00.

For burying jacks, mules, steers and colts, each, $4.00.

For burying hogs, sheep, goats and calves, each, $2.50.

Section 17. If any person fail or neglect to bury any dead animal as provided for in this ordinance, then in such case it shall be the duty of the Poundkeeper to proceed forthwith to bury the same; and it shall be lawful for the Poundkeeper to charge to and recover from the owner or possessor of such dead animal the fees last hereinbefore provided for.

Section 18. If any person shall rescue any animal enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance from the possession of any person who is impounding the same under the provisions of this ordinance, or if any person shall make any Pound breach or in any way directly or indirectly convey or deliver any animal out of any Pound without lawful authority, or if any person shall wilfully and knowingly resist, delay or obstruct any Poundkeeper in the performance of his duties under this ordinance, or if any person shall neglect or refuse to notify the Poundkeeper of any dead animal upon his premises, or upon premises of which he is the owner or possessor, or if any person liable to pay the Poundkeeper the fees hereinbefore provided for shall fail or neglect to pay said fees, or if any person shall violate any provision of this ordinance, such person shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100. Any judgment that the defendant pay a fine shall also direct that in case said fine be not paid the defendant be imprisoned until the fine be satisfied in the proportion of one day's imprisonment for each two dollars of the fine so imposed.

Section 19. The penalties and charges herein provided shall constitute the compensation of the Poundkeeper for his services as such Poundkeeper performed under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 20. An ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Establish, Maintain, Regulate and Govern Public Pounds in the County of Alameda," passed by the Board of Supervisors of said Alameda county on the 20th day of January, 1894, and all amendments thereof and thereto, and all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Ayes—Supervisors Church, Talcott, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey.

(Seal) HIRAM BAILEY,
Chairman Board of Supervisors.

ADJUDICATION OF INSOLVENCY.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE County of Alameda, State of California.

In the matter of C. R. Moore, an insolvent debtor.

Order of adjudication of insolvency.

C. R. Moore having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency from which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said C. R. Moore is hereby declared to be insolvent.

It is hereby ordered that the Sheriff of the County of Alameda, be, and he is hereby direct to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of said C. R. Moore, an insolvent debtor, whatsoever and wheresoever situate, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an assignee of his estate. All persons having the same or any part thereof in his or their possession are hereby directed to deliver said property to said Sheriff. And all persons are herby forbidden to pay any debts to said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to such insolvent to him, or to any person, firm, corporation or association for his use, and the said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor whose claims shall have been filed with the Clerk of said Court at least two days prior to the date next hereinafter named, be and appear before the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, in open Court at the Court Room of Department 2 of said Court, in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, on the 29th day of January, 1896, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts and choose an assignee of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that this order be published in the Oakland Tribune, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published in the County of Alameda, as often as the said newspaper is published, before the day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered than in the meantime all proceedings against said insolvent be stayed.

Dated January 20th A. D. 1896.
F. B. OGDEN,
Judge of the Superior Court.
Endorsed: Filed: Jan. 20, 1896.

AMERICANS NOT SAFE.

Unfriendly Tone Evidenced in Cuba by the New Regime.

The Departure of Campos Brings About a Change of Policy.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, January 28.—A special to a local paper from Key West, Fla., say:

Advices received here from Havana indicate that since the resignation of Martinez de Campos the Spanish authorities are acting in a high-handed manner toward American citizens suspected of being in sympathy with the insurgents.

Recently Henry Riso, who claims to be a naturalized citizen of the United States, was arrested at Puerto Principe as a political suspect.

Riso was thrown into a dungeon, although proclaiming his American citizenship.

His request that Consul-General Williams be informed of his plight was denied, and when the last steamer left for Centa, the Spanish penal settlement in Africa, Riso was placed on board.

The unfortunate man attempted to make a scene as he was placed on the vessel, but he was knocked down by the Spanish guards and hurried below decks.

Riso had no trial but it is understood the authorities ordered him confined at Centa for life.

Transportation to Centa now means death, as cholera is raging there.

El Comercio in an editorial says "Marin is too tender with these Yankees. Every one of them at all implicated in the revolution should be summarily dealt with. But for American money and American sympathy there would be no revolution, and the Yankees have no right to expect mercy from Spain."

Financiers in Havana are evidently fearful about the outcome of the revolution, for they are shipping large sums of gold and silver by every steamer that leaves for New York.

Upmann & Company, who represent the Rothschilds, are taking the lead in these shipments. It is understood that Upmann & Co. have informed their depositors that money is no longer safe in Havana.

It is reported that Upmann & Co. are acting under orders from the Rothschilds, who have declined the new Spanish loan on the ground that Cuba is lost to the Madrid government.

Died Far From Home.

John G. Farhner, formerly a resident this city, died recently at San Jose de Guatemala of yellow fever. The news has reached the family, who reside at the corner of Tenth and Jackson streets. The last heard from him was at Christmas, when he sent money to his family with which to buy Christmas presents.

Military Escorts Accompany the Cheng Tu Riot Commission.

The Anti-Missionary Troubles to Be Subjected to Thorough Inquiry.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan 28.—A dispatch to the World from Ichang, China, dated January 25th, says:

The Cheng Tu Commission arrived today from Chung King. It is convoyed by a Chinese river boat and two lifeboats.

The commission, headed by Sheridan P. Read, United States Consul at Tien Tsin, is returning from its inquiry into the anti-missionary riots in Sechuen province, of which Cheng Tu is the capital.

It left Tien Tsin last September and marched overland through the heart of China with an imposing military escort furnished from Pekin, in order to impress the celestials that the American Government is strong enough to reach and protect its people even in places where they thought no foreigner dare venture.

The commission is going back by way of the Yang Tse Kiang River. It left Chung King January 15th and in ten days covered about four hundred miles.

Nearly a thousand miles by river remain to be traversed before the ocean will be reached.

No Felony Charge Yet.

Clarence Fountain and William Turner the lads arrested by Officer Ely for carrying burglars' tools, were not brought up in the Police Court this morning. At present the only charge the police could put against them is carrying concealed weapons and burglars' tools, both misdemeanors, and as it is believed that they have attempted to blow safes they are being held until a thorough investigation can be made to try to connect them with a graver charge.

TO GET BIG BOUNTIES.

Liberal Inducements Held Out for Recruits for Cuba.

A Number of Expeditions Said to Be Organizing in this Country.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—A special from Philadelphia says:

Since the acquittal of Capt. Samuel Hughes, of the steamer Laurada, of the J. D. Hare line of this city, charged in the United States District Court of South Carolina with violation of the neutrality laws in carrying arms and munitions and men to Cuba, there has been developing here more active determination among the Cubans and their sympathizers than at any time during the last ten months.

As a result of the verdict it has been decided by the Cubans here that another series of expeditions shall be inaugurated, and further it is announced that recruiting of men to serve in the Cuban army will at once begin in the south and southwest, especially in Texas, from which State it is expected 500 men will be enrolled before March 4th.

Most of these will be picked riflemen accustomed to the sort of guerilla life they may be called upon to endure in Cuba.

They are to be given, it is said, a bounty of $300 with wages of $40 a month and a guarantee of heavy reward in money at the close of the war if the island should gain its independence.

It is also said that here in Philadelphia some of the young men connected with the National Guard and the Naval Reserve will be enlisted and that they will openly leave in the steamers which will now be easily obtained.

It is announced that Herbert B. Chase, late captain of Company C, 13th regiment, of Scranton, has accepted a commission in the insurgent army and that he has been engaged to drill and instruct recruits.

One of the most influential of Cuban sympathizers who is thoroughly informed as to all movements in this country to aid the revolution, is also authority for the statement that, in view of Judge Brawley's decision, there will be at once fitted out at New York a vessel with regular military masts.

She will be sufficiently well armed to protect herself in case of pursuit by a Spanish war vessel.

Her gunners are to be Americans, while the Cubans will constitute the boarding parties who will go with her and who will be supplied with machetes.

Following the departure of this vessel from New York two others, it is said will be similarly equipped at this port and will sail soon afterward.

KILLED A PRISONER.

Tragic Termination of a Trial in a Justice's Court.

The Officer Claims He Only Fired in Order to Scare His Man.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WHITING, Ind., Jan. 28.—George Banygyij was shot and killed at East Chicago by Officer Winters while he was making his escape from Justice Cheney's court, where he was having a hearing for participating in a riot at a Polish wedding the night before.

Officer Winters was arrested. He said he fired the fatal shot to frighten the fugitive.

It is said that Banygyij was arrested as a rioter in the place of another man said to be Andrew Jonski. He is reported to have declared there was a mistake in identity, and for that reason he tried to run away.

As a result of the killing of their countryman, the Slavs are in a wild state of excitement, and they threaten all sorts of things.

Winters immediately after giving bonds secreted himself and has kept in hiding, fearing that the angry Slavs would take revenge on him.

A STRIKE STARTED IT.

A Brakeman Brings a Damage Suit Against an Eastern Road.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 28.—William Gambold, a railroad brakeman, has begun a suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and F. G. Darlington, superintendent of the Indianapolis division, for $25,000 damages for malicious prosecution.

The suit is the outgrowth of the American Railway Union strike of 1894 and is brought as a test case. Gambold, with John Ruck, H. Rabold and Tom Moriarity, American Railway Union strikers, were charged by Darlington with having "killed" a switch engine after driving off the engineer and fireman and violating the injunction of Judge Woods.

Darlington was at that time a deputy United States marshal, having been sworn in on July 4th. Gambold was arrested at Terre Haute, brought to this city and kept in jail for ten days. He was tried in the federal court and acquitted.

The defense will be based on the proposition that Darlington was a sworn federal officer at the time he made the affidavit and that neither Darlington, as a deputy United States marshal, nor the railway can be held responsible.

GENERAL PORTER IS DEAD.

He Was Famed as a Soldier, a Diplomat and a Lawyer.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—General Fitz H. Porter died at the Grand Union Hotel last night.

The immediate cause of death was complications from a gunshot wound in the lungs received during the war.

The body will be taken to Poughkeepsie for burial.

General Porter was 74 years old and was born in Dublin, where his parents, who were Virginians, were sojourning in Ireland.

He enlisted as a drummer boy when the war broke out, and went to the front with the 27th New York volunteers.

For bravery and meritorious conduct he was repeatedly promoted, and served until disabled by wounds.

BASEBALL PREPARATIONS.

Questions as Regards Play for This Season Brought Up.

A New Rule Is Made to Regulate the Purchase of Club "Stars."

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The annual meeting of the national board of baseball managers which convened at the Fifth avenue hotel today, promises to be one of the most important board meetings ever held.

Not only are some important questions between individual players and managers before the meeting, but for the first time in the history of the game the minor leagues have secured recognition and one of the questions before the board today is more particularly in regard to the practice which has prevailed in the past whereby the larger clubs acquired a man from one of the smaller clubs and then deferred payment for three or four months, reserving the right to return the man to the lesser organization if they choose.

The national board was called to order by Chairman Young.

The annual election for a chairman, secretary and treasurer resulted, as it has for years, in the election of Nick Young to the position.

A number of appeals for final decision between players and various clubs were considered and disposed of.

At the final session tonight this action was made to Article 6:

"A club making selection of a player as authorized in the preceding paragraph of this article, shall have the right within thirty days of notice to the secretary of the board of such selection to withdraw from such selection, and on notice to the secretary he shall return to the club the amount deposited with him. The selecting club shall, within sixty days of its original selection, tender the player so selected, a formal contract, and in case of its failure to do so, the secretary of the board shall remit the amount deposited with the club from whom the player was selected.

The managers then adjourned to meet again at the annual schedule meeting on February 24th, when all questions now before the league will be finally disposed of.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Oakland is going ahead steadily and will become a big city in a few years. One of the latest evidences of its growth is the establishment of a new savings bank.—Haywards Review.

San Francisco is struggling, with good prospects of succeeding, to rescue from Oakland the reputation of being the wickedest city on the Pacific coast. Its record for the 24 hours ending at daylight today was two Chinese and two white men shot, three men stabbed and a score of minor crimes against persons or property. San Francisco is a lively camp.—Haywards Mail.

The main railroad between Oakland and Alameda lies through a marsh, into which rock put on the road sinks rapidly. To construct a good road would be very costly. But the land must nevertheless be of great value. It is said to be owned on "undivided interests," and therefore not accessable. We don't see how that can be; but one thing is certain: under a local option law assessments on marsh land, now held out of use, within the municipalities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, could be made heavy enough not only to secure then complete reclamation, but to buy or build all 'general utilities' in those municipalities, without a cent of other tax. We commend this point to Messrs. Davie and others, who think Lords Insupportable for such and similar purposes.—San Francisco Star.

There will be no more free riding in Oakland. Although the railroad franchise expressly forbids charging for passengers on the Seventh street local road, Judge Ellsworth decides that the company are not obliged to carry them at all. They are therefore compelled to purchase a ticket for some outside points in order to get on the cars at all.—Contra Costa Gazette.

With Assessor Dalton and County Clerk Jordan working together in the matter of registration and the collection of poll taxes the tax dodger will have a hard time to dodge it if he wants to vote at the next election.—Haywards Review.

It is thought Senator Perkins' bill establishing a naval training school on Goat Island will pass both Houses of Congress without much opposition. Naval apprentices are much needed, and increased efforts are to be made to educate the boys of the country to become seamen.—Napa Journal.

Mayor Davie of Oakland has reported) is "convinced that municipal ownership is the basis of good government, and that any city which owns the plants referred to (water, light and street railroads) will be practically exempt from taxation." "But," he asks, "how are we to start if we do not issue Londs?" Were all taxes laid on ground values, municipalities could acquire, build, own and operate all light, water, street cars, and other public utilities, not only at cost, but eventually gratuitously. Were the single tax in full operation there would be no more thought of paying for riding on street cars than for walking the streets.—San Francisco Star.

We are assured that the Pacific Poultry and Pigeon Association did not choose the past week or holding their exhibition in anticipation of having foul weather, but they did fulfill their promise to give one of the best poultry shows ever seen on the coast. Some of the specimens of the standard breeds of owls were worth making a trip to Oakland to admire and inspect, and the display of unfamiliar birds was large enough to make a good show by themselves. The breeding of homing pigeons is now attracting much attention and several "lofts" were represented with homers bearing records for long flights and good speed.—Santa Cruz Surf.

A burglary a day, with an occasional murder to relieve the monotony, is Oakland's criminal record.—Haywards Mail.

Cigarette smokers should take warning from the fate of the young man who fell to the street in Oakland a total wreck, a victim of that terrible habit. He commenced as a moderate smoker, but kept constantly increasing number of cigarettes until he consumed from forty to fifty per day. Every part of him seemed to become diseased but although he saw himself failing in health, kept puffing his life away until he fell a total wreck beyond all medical aid. This is the most recent of many like cases, yet it seems that boys and young men cannot profit by them but must learn by experience.—St. Helena Star.

County Clerk Jordan surely means business. Not only is he putting forth every means for the voter to register, but he is helping the county assessor as well in the collecting of poll taxes, who in turn will help Jordan in registering. This is the true kind of feeling.—Pleasanton Times.

Senator Perkins has introduced a bill providing for the appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose of erecting a new dry-dock at Mare Island. The amount mentioned is only such as is necessary to make a beginning. It is beginning to be seen how necessary it is to provide suitable defense for the Pacific coast. The neighborhood of San Francisco is too valuable to be given up to the first adversary. Mare Island on this account should be the best equipped yard in this country, as it has the whole Pacific ocean to guard.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Notwithstanding the fact that County Clerk Jordan will have to get up the Great Register of the county this year at his own expense, we are willing to bet money or marbles that it will be one of the best and most complete registers that has ever been gotten out in this or any other county.—Berkeley Gazette.

The disgraceful and almost impassable condition of the Twelfth street dam, also East Twelfth street, East Oakland, has aroused the residents of that section of our sister city and they are preparing now to place both of them in first-class condition. This is a good cue to our city fathers in the matter of the Webster street roadway. Alameda prides herself—and justly so, too—on her handsome streets and the excellent condition in which they are always kept, and there yet remains, as a blight, that disgraceful Webster street roadway. Our worthy trustees, always alive to the interests and welfare of the city should take steps looking toward making the Webster street roadway a thoroughfare that will be a credit to the city. Let it not be said that our neighbors cannot look down upon us even in this respect, for certainly they cannot in any other.—Alameda Encinal.

VOL. XXXX. OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 28, 1896. NO. 189.

SHOT HER HUSBAND.

In a Fit of Jealous Rage Mrs. John Bianchi Wields a Pistol.

THE WOUND IS SLIGHT.

ALL AFTERWARDS SETTLED.

A Barber Who Endeavored to Keep Two Homes Going.

An amorous barber and an angry wife created a very lively scene this morning at a lodging house on Seventh street, near Market. The parties to the affair were John Bianchi, who wields a razor at the Newland shaving parlors, 478 Seventh street, of which he is proprietor, and his wife, formerly Sarah Naughton. The episode resulted in a bullet wound in Bianchi's left shoulder. The weapon was in the hands of Mrs. Bianchi, who claimed to have discovered her husband's unfaithfulness and was on the war path to wreak vengeance upon him. She was prepared to kill him, but her nervousness prevented her from inflicting anything more than a wound that will heal in the course of a few weeks.

As soon as the shooting occurred Mrs. Bianchi had almost relented. She hastened to assist her husband to the receiving hospital, which they reached shon after 9 o'clock. There the couple protested that the affair was entirely accidental, but between the sobs of the wife and Bianchi's groans of pain, the truth finally came to light, and the tale of domestic trouble was unfolded.

The couple discussed their differences while Drs. Legault and Johnson were dressing the wound, and by dint of perseverance the story of Bianchi's escapade with another fair damsel was related.

He at last admitted his departure from the path of strictly virtuous conduct, and was willing to accept the half condoling, half reproachful words of his wife as she nervously watched the surgeons probe for the bullet her angry deed had caused to be fired.

The fragmentary talk between the couple was put together, and the marital disturbance was disclosed.

The present Mrs. Bianchi is the barber's second wife. The first one, now deceased, was a sister of the lady who now graces the Bianchi household. Mrs. Bianchi No. 2 was Sarah Naughton. She wedded her husband last July, but for several months the marriage was kept a secret, because the first wife had died only nine months previously, and a proper respect for public opinion impelled them to keep the matter quiet for a time. The secret, however, could no longer be concealed from the world. To prevent inquiries and suspicions the couple determined to become man and wife in the eyes of the world as well as before the law.

About a month ago they rented a house at 807 Harrison street and went to housekeeping. Only a few weeks passed before trouble ensued. Bianchi complained one day of sickness and disappeared. Several days passed, but the barber remained absent. Then his wife began to make some inquiries. She went to the barber shop, but failed to locate him. She made further search and finally her quest was rewarded. Bianchi was maintaining, she discovered, a separate establishment.

At this juncture she enlisted the assistance of one of her two stepdaughters, a little tot not more than 4 or 5 years old. The child accomplished for her stepmother the task of locating her father's trysting place. She was in a position to know where it was, and without difficulty could pilot her stepmother to the rendezvous of the faithless barber.

RUNNING HIM DOWN.

Mrs. Bianchi's anger continued to rise, and about 8 o'clock this morning she sallied forth in pursuit of her recreant husband. She was led along Seventh street by the child until they reached the house, on Seventh street, near Market.

Bianchi was standing at a window when he saw his wife and his daughter approaching. He had not time to make his escape. She entered the room and drew her pistol, firing point blank at him at close range. As soon as the first bullet was fired, Bianchi closed in upon her, and, grappling with his wife, managed to wrench the pistol from her before a second shot was fired.

As soon as the pistol left her hands she half swooned. Then she recovered herself sufficiently to assist him to the receiving hospital. The wound is not serious. Drs. Legault and Johnson found the bullet, which was from a 38 caliber revolver.

Mrs. Bianchi was very much wrought up at the hospital. "Why do you leave your lawful wife?" she asked, "and run off with another woman? I meant to kill you and then end my own life. That is what I ought to have done. You have supported me only poorly, and instead of saving your money for me you have spent it on some other woman."

Bianchi accepted the rebuke. He did not think it was his turn to talk. The criminations and recriminations between the couple at last ended in a patched up truce. They left the hospital together and disappeared up Franklin street with the child who had exposed unwittingly her father's duplicity. There will be no arrests.

FILIBUSTERS DROWNED.

Disastrous End of the Cruise of the Steamer Hawkins.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Jan. 28.—Twenty-five men were picked up from open boats off Long Island Monday morning by the schooner Helen H. Benedict, and were landed here late last night. They left today for New York, whence they sailed last Sunday.

Their ship was the steamer J. W. Hawkins, recently purchased at Baltimore for an alleged Cuban cruise, and she sailed from New York Sunday night, having on board between 75 and 100 men, bound, it is claimed, to join the Cuban insurgents.

The rescued men report that when the steamer was off the eastern end of Long Island, she sprang a serious leak and the water gained so rapidly on her that all hands were obliged to take to boats.

Activity and Irregularity in the New York Market.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The stock market opened moderately active and irregular.

The tendency of prices was downward, with Grangers and Manhattan leading.

Bears met with little success, depressing the prices after 10:15, and the appearance of supporting orders in the different stocks led them to cover freely, sending sugar up 1⅛ to 105½ and the general list an important fraction.

Easier feeling developed in share speculation at 11:30, chiefly due to realizing sales.

Declines did not exceed fractions and were most important in sugar and Grangers.

A Negro Desperado Who Ran Amuck on a Train.

Later on a Mob Organized and Strung Him Up to a Tree.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 28.—Alexander Jones, a negro desperado, boarded a passenger train at Keystone last night under the influence of whisky and became very quarrelsome.

The negro became much incensed when an attempt was made to eject him, pulled out two revolvers and began firing promiscuously.

W. H. Strother, Postmaster at Elkhorn, was shot through the abdomen and killed.

Peter Rice, colored, was shot through the right breast and probably fatally injured.

Jones was incarcerated in Elkhorn Jail to await the train to convey him to Huntington for safe keeping.

Meanwhile a mob had been organized at Welch, fifteen miles west of Keystone.

At Hemphill, a small station a mile west of Welch, the train was flagged, and a mob, numbering 100 men, boarded it, dragged Jones to a tree, where he was swung to a limb and his body riddled with bullets.

The following note was attached to his body:

"This deed was done for the purpose of example and warning to negroes, so beware."

Jones, it is alleged, killed three men prior to his last offense.

The Catalonia Meets With a Bad Accident in Mid-Ocean.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Cunard line steamer Catalonia from Liverpool for Boston, with shaft broken, was spoken January 22d by the White Star freighter Cevic, which reached this port today.

Captain Atkin of the Catalonia asked that his ship be taken in tow by the Cevic but Captain Nicol of the latter was obliged to refuse because the courses of the two ships were so far apart.

A cablegram from St. Michaels, received today reports the Catalonia had been towed into that port by the steamer Braunschweig.

A LOBBY OF SUFFRAGISTS.

Women's Right Workers Start Their Button Hole Tactics.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The prayer of the Senate chaplain refered to the appearance of another star, Utah, in the constellation of States. He invoked the knitting together of the hearts of all the people of the Union for the advancement and glory of our beloved country.

Turpie (Dem., Ind.) in presenting a petition concerning the Turkish massacres, said the Armenians were charged with no revolt, but only with being Christians.

The time has come that there should be official notification to Turkey and to the Mohammedan church that there had been a decadence in their power to proselyte with the sword.

"We already sent a message," said the Senator, referring to a concurrent resolution, "but it should be followed by a shot which would go crashing through the grand seraglio."

The Senator urged it would be a glorious day when the destruction of this Turkish power was bought about. Turkish power was brought about, now be called upon to take up another great crusade, driving back the rule of Mohammedism and spreading the rule of Christianity.

Turpie spoke with great earnestness and vigor and his remarks attracted much attention.

Allen (Neb.) gave notice of an amendment to the silver bond bill, depriving the Secretary of the Treasury of the power to issue bonds unless authority is granted by Congress.

Call's resolution for the investigation of the arrest of Eugene V. Debs was taken up. Call demanded immediate action, saying the laboring interests of the country desired the inquiry.

Hill (N. Y.) said ordinarily he had great respect for the laboring people, but he never heard they desired this investigation.

If such inquiry was desirable, it should be conducted by one of the regular committees. He offered an amendment directing the whole subject be investigated by the committee on judiciary, and a report be made as to what, if any legislation is necessary.

Call said the amendment was intended to suppress this inquiry. He spoke vigorously upon the indignities and wrongs against Eugene V. Debs because he ventured to express opinions contrary to those entertained by the court. The Senator said this inquiry was vital to the preservation of civil liberty and the inviolability of the personal rights of the individual.

Hill said he would not be put in the attribute of opposing the inquiry. He paid a high tribute to Debs, and the action he urged was with a view to securing appropriate legislative action.

Allen, who severely criticised Judge Woods, created a flutter of excitement by asserting that in his opinion the express purpose for referring the resolution to a standing committee was to suppress and kill it. It was an adroit means of sending the resolution to the "dark caverns" of the Senate.

The resolution finally went over to allow Thurston of Nebraska to address the Senate on the Monroe doctrine. He freely criticised the attitude of Senator Wolcott and supported the stand taken by the President.

SEEKING SUFFRAGE.

A Delegation of Women Workers Before the Senate Committee.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Senate marble room was completely filled today by a delegation of ladies from the National Equal Suffrage Association, who appeared before the Senate committee on woman suffrage to present a plea for recognition at the ballot box.

Senators Call and Peffer were the only members of the committee present, and they arrived late.

Speeches were limited to five minutes.

The speakers were presented by Dr. Annie Shaw.

The speakers dwelt upon the right of the female sex to equal participation with men in shaping legislation and almost all referred to the injustice of taxing women without allowing them to vote.

The delegation also visited the Judiciary Committee of the House.

Among those who spoke were Mrs. Saunders, wife of ex-Senator Saunders of Montana, and Mrs. Francis A. Williams, a Nevada ranch and mine owner.

MASK, JIMMY AND FUSE.

Knights of the Dark Lantern Do Some More Safe Cracking.

An Unprofitable Job at Jenkins' Saw Mills in East Oakland.

There was another safe blown open last night, a fact which demonstrates to the police that Turner and Fountain were not the only safe crackers in town, and now the officers are almost convinced that the story of the young men that they never used the tools found on them when arrested by officer Ely is true. Ever since the arrest of the lads the officers have hoped to be able to connect them with one or more of the attempted burglaries, and for that reason have withheld a misdemeanor complaint, charging them with having burglars' tools in their possession. It is now probable that the minor complaint will be filed this afternoon or in the morning.

The safe blown last night was in the office of C. T. Jenkins' sawmill at East Twelfth street, near Fifteenth avenue. The burglars entered the building from the rear, and though they did a neat job it was an unprofitable one. The owner never keeps any money in the safe, and last night was no exception.

The cracksmen bored a hole near the combination in the safe door and inserted an explosive. The door was blown completely off the hinges.

Near by neighbors say they heard an explosion about twenty minutes of 5 o'clock this morning, but it sounded more like the open firing of a heavily loaded shotgun than the muffled report which would come from blowing a safe door. They paid no attention to it.

This is the fourth safe operated on in the past month, and none of the jobs netted a penny to the workers. The same mode of operation has been used in each case, which shows all the work to be done by the same parties.

The detectives made an investigation this morning, but failed to discover any clue which would lead to the capture of the energetic but unfortunate cracksmen.

William Kelleher Elopes With Alonzo Van Sandt's Wife.

The Husband and Officer Ed. Lamping on the Trail.

SUCCESS SOON ACHIEVED.

A Denouement Including a Pistol and Then Prison.

Officer Ed Lamping made a nocturnal trip last night and returned this morning with one of the prettiest captures made by the police this season.

Yesterday afternoon Herman Kosta, a grocery store keeper at Fourth and Webster streets reported to the police that his clerk, William Kelleher, was missing and with him had disappeared $85 in money belonging to the place. Watches were immediately sent to the railway stations but Kelleher managed to escape unobserved.

Further investigation showed that Mrs. Van Sandt, the wife of Alonzo Van Sandt, an employe at Reed's Lumber yard, was also missing.

The man and woman were well acquainted with each other and it was surmised that they had left together.

Later in the evening a report reached the police that the couple were seen going toward the Ingleside race track, and Officer Lamping was detailed to investigate. Van Sandt, the husband of the missing woman, accompanied him.

At a quarter past one o'clock this morning Lamping had located the guilty pair in a room in the Jackson Resort near the Richmond race course. He broke in the door and caught them both, but before he could get the handcuffs on Kelleher, he and Van Sandt started to settle old scores in a rough and tumble set-to. Lamping got them separated, handcuffed his prisoners and took them to San Francisco.

This morning they were brought to Oakland and complaints have been filed charging them both with grand larceny.

When taken they both protested innocence and a search of Kelleher revealed nothing to show guilt. When the woman was searched the tables changed. She had concealed in her stocking $71.15 of the stolen money besides a revolver which was taken from the store.

Kelleher seems very bitter toward Van Sandt and swears he will kill him for telling where he and Mrs. Van Sandt had gone. In fact he says that he took the revolver solely for the purpose of killing Van Sandt should he interfere.

Since being brought back to Oakland the pair are repentant. Both have confessed their guilt. Kelleher, who is only 17 years of age, says he was drunk when he took the money, and if sober would never have committed the crime. She claims that they had no intention of stealing the coin and that she intended persuading Kelleher to carry it back as soon as he should sufficiently sober up.

Mrs. Van Sandt is eight years the senior of her youthful companion. At the jail she denied her name and said it was Mary Higgins.

Engineer Boardman on the Oakland Water Company's Reservoir.

With respect to the building of another reservoir by the Oakland Water Company, ex-City Engineer Boardman said today:

"The reservoir will be built but we have not decided as yet as to where it will be located. It may be back of the city or in East Oakland. We intend to go out as soon as the storm is over and select a site.

"We need another reservoir so that we may be able to keep our pumps going at a regular speed all the time.

"The pumps are going day and night. But, sometimes, when they pump a little more than we have any use for, we are compelled to telephone down to the works to have them go a little slower.

"The intention is not to store up water in large quantities. It is desired to have water kept fresh and not to have it kept in reservoirs until it becomes stagnant, or soiled from dirt or things that might grow upon it. The water pumped in the morning reaches here in the afternoon, is sweet and pure and it is desired to have it maintain those qualities.

"Inside of a few days we will be able to tell you where the reservoir will be located. It will contain about 10,000,000 gallons of water and will cost about $10,000.

MAYRISCH ACQUITTED.

The Jury Only Remained Out of the Box Three Minutes.

Ernest Mayrisch Jr., the former chief clerk in the office of Tax Collector Barber, who was indicted by the grand jury for misappropriating public funds was acquitted today by a jury after a deliberation of three minutes.

W. W. Foote made a strong argument for the defense in which he held that the shortage was due to clerical errors and that Mayrisch had shown his good intent throughout the whole affair.

Judge Frick gave a liberal charge to the jury which retired only to return a few minutes later with its verdict of acquittal.

He Is to Have Primary Jurisdiction as Regards the Road's Receiver.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Justices Field, Harlan, Brewer, and Brown of Supreme Court today rendered a decision in the Northern Pacific receivership case, holding all the courts along the line of the road to be auxiliary to Judge Jenkins' court at Milwaukee.

This decision gives the Milwaukee court jurisdiction over the entire system in the matter of receiverships.

It was shown at this hearing that the creditors' bill and the foreclosure proceedings of 1893 had been filed in the Circuit Court for the eastern division of Wisconsin, over which Judge Jenkins presides.

It was also shown that this court then appointed receivers for the entire system who were for the time recognized.

Afterwards, however, the Circuit Court for other districts appointed receivers for portions of the road embraced within their respective jurisdictions and such confusion and antagonism arose, it was feared the interests of the road would be seriously jeopardized.

Exception was taken to the jurisdiction of the Milwaukee court on the ground that the Northern Pacific had no road except a leased line within the limits of the eastern district of Wisconsin.

This was substantially the only objection made to its recognition and it was intimated at the time of the hearing a large majority of the interests involved would be satisfied with the designation of the Milwaukee court as a responsible tribunal and one by which the receiver or receivers for the entire line should be designated.

LEGAL ARMOR.

City Attorney Peirsol Ready to Fight the Exempt Firemen.

There will be a special meeting of the Council this evening for the purpose of authorizing the City Attorney to represent the Council in the mandamus suit brought by the exempt firemen.

Mr. Peirsol believes that the suit can be defeated. He filed his answer yesterday. He has several points of defense but relies principally on the fact that the Oakland organization was not existing at the time of the passage and approval of the act of March, 1895, a fact which he claims is fatal to the plaintiff because the act applies only to exempt firemen organizations then existing.

A second point raised is that it is unconstitutional under article 4, sections 31 and 32 of the constitution.

The Patients Treated Better, Yet the Expenses Have Been Reduced.

The contract for supplying the principal county offices with steel files and shelves was awarded to the Office Specialty Manufacturing Company by the Supervisors yesterday afternoon, the price being $1.48 per file.

The annual report of Dr. W. A. Clark, superintendent of the County Infirmary, was then read. Among the interesting facts which it contained are the following:

"The year has been one of improvement and progress in all branches of this department. Very early in the year a plan looking ultimately to the separation of the indigents from the hospital cases was inaugurated and has been productive of nothing but good results, both for the patients and the management. Trained nurses have been introduced and better results are obtained both as to the welfare of the patients and the appearance of the wards.

"The drug department, though such is well stocked, economically managed and even in the small quarters allotted, manufactures nearly all its preparations. Improvements in the kitchen and dining room are marked. The food is well cooked and there is an abundance of it. No one can say that Alameda County does not properly feed the poor.

"The farm produces a large proportion of the feed used for the stock. Fresh milk and vegetables are furnished by this department to the patients, much to their gratification and benefit. Probably the finest stock of hogs within the county is raised on the infirmary farm.

"The patients have been brought under a firm but not rigorous discipline, at first causing considerable friction, which has now entirely disappeared, owing to the firm stand the chairman of the hospital committee took in the matter. In conclusion, the superintendent desires to express his thanks and appreciation for the uniform courtesy and assistance accorded him by the Board of Supervisors, the Hospital Committee and especially its chairman, Dr. A. Sairk, the inspecting physician, Dr. A. Hoffaker, the employes and patients."

A number of interesting tables are submitted. The maintenance in 1894 cost $73,210.33, or a daily average per capita of 49 41 cents, there being 293 patients on the average. In 1895 these figures were $11,751.61, a daily average of 49.27 cents for 248 4-13 patients of a saving of $8,451.31, or a daily average of .11 of a cent with 11 9-13 more patients on the average. Of this amount paid this year $1,541.50 was on account of the sewer. Deducting this from the cost of maintenance the saving the past year would be $12,990.59 or 5.08 cents daily per capita.

There are 40 stoves, one hot water heater, two ranges and one steam boiler in the infirmary which have consumed $1,761.55 of fuel. He says it would be a saving if the building were heated with steam and a saving would result in clothing and dry goods if there was a steam laundry added, besides giving unlimited supply of hot water for bathing purposes.

There were 306 patients January 1, 1895; 511 were admitted and there were 10 births during the year, 546 have been discharged; 82 have died and 223 remain January 1, 1896. Of the total number admitted native born citizens of the United States led with 219, Ireland followed with 132, Germany 45, Portugal 21, England, 23, Sweden 18, Scotland 13, France 11, Denmark and Canada 10 each, Italy and Australia 5 each, Norway and Wales 3 each, Spain, Nova Scotia, Belgium and China 2 each, Fiji Islands, Japan, Prussia, Poland, Finland, New Foundland and Jamaica 1 each.

Between 15 and 25 years, 6; between 26 and 35 years, 7; between 36 and 45 years, 24; between 46 and 55 years, 29; between 56 and 65 years, 63; between 66 and 75 years, 74; between 76 and 85, 25; between 86 and 95 years, 5.

There were 2096 persons who visited or insectem hom romohimohom mohaowidof inspected the institution during the year; 892 patients called and were treated.

The report was filed.

The board then adjourned for one week.

HUNTINGTON-SUTRO.

The Railroad President Scores the Old-Man-by the-Sea.

A NEW SIDE OF THE CASE.

C. P. Huntington has sent the following letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal, and it was published in that paper this morning:

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—I find in your issue of the 22nd an article in reference to the Southern Pacific Company's charter, and also some extracts from Adolph Sutro's address. There is little truth in it where it says that C. P. Huntington and his associates procured the charter for the express purpose of bringing it to California and the other States in which they had interests.

That so far is correct. We wanted to get a charter in some State where the laws were stable and the people were not liable to be changed by the action of such demagogues and charlatans as Adolph Sutro, who is figuring in this matter. We have a great many small railroads, and we thought we could economize very much by exchanging the shares of these roads into a great parent organization like the Southern Pacific Company. We did this, and exchanged the shares of these small constituent companies, which was equal to the economic working under a consolidation.

I think we have some thirty or forty small companies, the stock of which is owned by the Southern Pacific Company, which allows them to be worked as one company, thus saving the expense of many boards of directors and many other expenses. I suppose there are a couple of thousand shareholders who have exchanged their shares in the other companies for those of the Southern Pacific Company.

There is nothing wrong about it, and it is all clean and above-board.

This fellow Sutro wanted to have this company extend the Market street railway system to what is known as Seal Rocks, or the Cliff House, in San Francisco, some two and a half or three miles from the west end of the Market street road at First avenue, and carry passengers from the front of the city, on the Bay of San Francisco, out to the shores of the sea, into a network which he had set for catching the money of the people, including bars, gambling-rooms and all kinds and sorts of show places, a distance of eight miles over the hills, for five cents, hoping that for every passenger we brought there he would get many times the amount of five cents, at a less cost to him than it would cost to haul the passengers from the city front to the ocean beach.

I said to him that there was a company running from First avenue out to his place, and running at a loss of from $600 to $700 a month; that we could not afford to extend the line then, but would do so as soon as we could get fair returns for the money invested in building it. He said then, showing much temper, that if we did not build the road at once he would fight us in Washington and everywhere else, which he has been doing in his usual nasty way.

This Adolph Sutro is the fellow who hung about Washington many years ago selling shares of the notorious Sutro tunnel scheme in Nevada. With the money he got in this way he bought up large amounts of land in San Francisco, said to be more than one-tenth the acreage of the city limits, and this land has now become very valuable, making him, they say, the richest man in San Francisco, whilst the folks who bought the shares got nothing out of them.

Take him altogether he is, I think, one of the worst men in the world.

The men who assisted me in getting the charter and allowed their names to be used in that connection were honorable men, and their fellow-citizens very well know that such men as Henry D. McHenry, Gen. John Echols and their associates would not do anything dishonorable. They knew what the purpose was, and the charter has never been used for any other purpose.

There has been much money saved to the people of California by the consolidation, so to speak, of these many fragmentary roads into one organization, and it has been made possible to operate the lines at the minimum cost, so that last year the company received an average of less than two cents per mile for passengers in the State of California, and less than 12 mills per ton per mile for freight, and that, too, in a State where the expenses of running a railroad are more than in any other State, and where the fuel costs more than eight times what it did on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

I speak of that particularly because I used to be connected with it, and Mr. Ingalls, the worthy President of that company, said that he was paying only 60 cents a ton, while the coal in California, I think, costs about $5 per ton.

Yours truly,
C. P. HUNTINGTON.

DR. CROWLEY TESTIFIES.

The Jury Edified by a Mass of Expert Medical Evidence.

A. A. MOORE'S CROSS-FIRE.

A Celebrity Who Says There Is Not Any "Railroad Spine."

The case of Colonel Andrew Wettstein against the Southern Pacific Company for $20,000 damages was resumed in the Superior Court before Judge Ogden and a jury this morning. There was a large attendance in the lobby. The plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Smith and Piersol, and the defendant by A. A. Moore.

There were also present many physicians and surgeons, some of whom will appear as experts in the course of the trial. Among these were Drs. Woolsey, Crowley, Kuckein, Dunn, Selfridge, Maher, Legault, Shields, Lane, and Hamlin.

When court adjourned last Friday afternoon, Dr. Kuckein was on the stand and was about to undergo redirect cross-examination upon the subject, as Mr. Moore described it, of "that railroad spy," referring to a man who, the doctor had testified had spoken to him regarding Wettstein's alleged appearance on the streets when he was supposed to be in bed suffering from the injuries he had sustained at the hands of agents of the defendant.

The doctor was called by A. A. Moore.

Mr. Piersol said that he had not got through with the witness.

Mr. Moore said that the plaintiff had "got through" with the witness twice.

Mr. Piersol said he wanted to examine the doctor on a new matter brought out on the cross-examination.

The judge said that it could not be a new matter, but it might be considered supplemental matter.

A long argument ensued, Mr. Piersol holding that it was discretionary with the court to allow the plaintiff to continue his examination of Dr. Kuckein.

Mr. Moore contended that the court did not have discretion. The plaintiff should have exhausted the witness in the direct examination. Otherwise the case might be continued until the parties became old and blind.

The court sustained Mr. Moore's objection, until he could have the notes read to him at noon.

Mr. Piersol then said that he had not closed his redirect examination of the witness.

The court then allowed Mr. Piersol to continue the redirect examination. In response to a question Dr. Kuckein testified that he had not testified that all the sensitory nerves of the body are in the skin, that there are nerves all over the body. Mr. Piersol sought to show that there are nerves under the foot which could be so affected as to cause serious injury. But the objection of Mr. Moore was sustained, the court holding that no attempt had been made to show that the plaintiff had been injured on the foot, as also, that it was redirect examination, and that properly speaking the redirect examination had been concluded. The doctor was asked as to whether or not he wished to correct any answers he had made in his cross-examination.

Mr. Moore objected. The objection was overruled, and the witness said that he did not think he wanted to make any corrections of the kind mentioned.

The doctor was then redirect cross-examined by A. A. Moore. He said that the man who had spoken to him about the case in behalf of the railroad company was Mr. Duncomb. Duncomb had said he would call to see the witness at witness' office. But Duncomb did not call. Witness said he told Duncomb he did not know enough about the case to tell when the accident to Wettstein happened.

"Why did you think Duncomb was a spy?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Because he was hunting around for witnesses. It impressed me that he was an agent of the company, and I don't think now that I was mistaken."

"Did this gentleman who approached you offer you any money, any inducements to testify?"

"He did not."

"Did you ask him for money?"

"I did not."

"Did it necessarily follow because he was hunting for evidence that he was a spy?"

"I don't know."

"The plaintiff employed John Teague to get evidence. Did you consider him a spy?"

"I don't know."

"You said in your testimony that this man was an agent or a 'spy,' did you not?"

"I said he was an agent or a 'spy.'"

The doctor was then excused and Dr. Crowley was called.

Mr. Moore said that before Dr. Crowley was examined he desired to make a motion that the physical condition of the plaintiff be examined into.

The court denied the motion for the time being, but said that he would allow counsel to renew it later in the case.

DR. CROWLEY TESTIFIES.

The doctor testified to having graduated from reputable medical colleges and having been a medical practitioner since 1879.

He had, he said, examined the patient in his (witness') office six or seven times. "I examined his spine throughout," said Dr. Crowley, "and found a considerable injury over the second, third and fourth lumbar vertebrae. I also found want of reflex in the right leg and a deficiency in sensation and motion. I found also that the lack of sensation was perceptible from the side of the feet well up to the thighs. My conclusion as to the causes of these conditions was a blow upon or concussion of the spinal cord. I also examined the pulse and temperature. I conducted the examination by scratching the surface of the foot. It is difficult to keep the foot quiet during the time of such an examination. In addition to this, I took a knife and thrust the blade into inflamed parts of the foot when the patient was lying on the operating table, and the patient did not move. By pricking the skin, I did not find reflex on the right leg that I would have found on the left leg. I did not make any scientific examination of the sight or hearing because I am not able to make such an examination. My opinion as to the cause of the injury is that the patient received a blow or sustained concussion on the small of the back in the neighborhood of the vertebrae which I have described."

"What do you consider to be the result of these symptoms as to their being progressive?" he was asked by Mr. Smith.

"A patient with such injuries may recover."

He was asked what prospect there is of recovery in a patient who has been injured from eight to nine months and who still suffers.

"I would judge," said Dr. Crowley, "that a patient who has suffered five or six months, as this patient has, may require years to recover, if he recover at all."

He was then asked a series of questions by Mr. Smith, and replied: "With respect to the symptoms disclosed by the pricking with a pin, I should say they are objective symptoms. These indicate injury to the spinal cord. The lack of reflex in the right leg is an objective symptom. It is also an indication of an injury to the spinal cord."

He was asked whether or not he had examined the plaintiff knowing that in 1882 that gentleman had sustained a broken leg, and that later Wettstein had been thrown from his horse and remained unconscious six hours, drank a quart of beer a day, smoked cigars and had been struck over the head with a musket.

"I took all those matters into consideration," said the doctor, "with the exception of the blow on the head. A blow on the head would have nothing to do with the condition of the spinal cord several inches or a foot or two below the head. I made an examination of the various organs of the body. I found the heart healthy and the lungs healthy, though he may have suffered from dyspepsia."

He was then cross-examined by A. A. Moore.

He said that he had testified several times as an expert in railroad damage cases. He admitted that he expected to be paid by the plaintiff the same amount for his evidence whether or not the plaintiff recovered or died. The amount expected was $50, whether he was occupied five minutes or two hours. He was to receive that amount for the case. He had not been in attendance half an hour during the trial. He was asked if he was not testifying as an expert against the railroad company in a case in which Dr. Woolsey was taking an interest against the company, and replied in the affirmative.

He was asked whether or not he had not testified as an expert in a case against the railroad company when Dr. Woolsey was the expert of the railroad company. The question was objected to and the objection was sustained.

He was asked whether in a railroad damage case he had not testified that the plaintiff in that case had his neck broken, and that Dr. Woolsey for the company had testified that the neck was not broken, and that further, in that case, as soon as the plaintiff got damages he (the plaintiff) went around as well as ever about his business.

This was also objected to and the objection sustained.

"Did you not, within a year, in this courthouse, in a damage suit against the railroad, swear that a man's neck was broken, and did not that man, after receiving a verdict, get well and go about his business?" asked Mr Moore.

"I believe that is not true," said Dr. Crowley. "I believe still that the man's neck was broken, and that he did not go about his business as usual in the same kind of work."

"Did you not testify in that case, and will the record not show, that in a proper sense the man's neck was broken?"

"I think the record will show that I testified that a part of the vertebrae was broken. I don't think I said that it was broken in any other sense."

In response to questions, he said he did not know how many times he had acted as an expert in cases against the railroad. Neither did he know how many times Mr. Moore had cross-examined him in such cases.

"How many times have you ever been a witness against the defendant in this case in which Dr. Woolsey was not on the side and for the railroad company?"

The question was objected to and the objection was sustained.

"Is there any organ of the human body so well or better protected from shocks and jars as the spinal cord?"

"I think that the spinal cord is better protected than any other important organ of the body."

"Is it not true that it is suspended by delicate ligaments, surrounded by fluid matter, with a cushion of the dura matter, and is it not a wonderful illustration of the protection afforded important parts of the human body?"

"It is necessary that it should be protected, otherwise we would all be paralyzed. The moment it would come in contact we would have concussion of the spinal cord."

"In alighting heavily on the feet we would then have concussion of the brain?"

"Every time, almost, one would make a misstep."

"Must there not be some concussion of the cord?"

"Concussion is so broad a term that it might be applied to a little misstep or a sudden falling."

Mr. Moore then insinuated that the term concussion was meaningless and asked the witness what he understood by it.

Concussion, the doctor said, was spoken of as that condition when there is a molecular change.

"Is not that a definition," said Mr. Moore, "of those who seek to secure damages from railroad companies?"

"I do not think it is," said Dr. Crowley.

Mr. Moore then asked as to the pathology of concussion and the doctor replied that there is supposed in such cases to be a molecular change and some slight injury to the tissue besides.

"Do not writers in surgical science say there is no pathology on the subject?"

"I will say there is not a pathological change in the spinal cord. In the condition of the spinal cord when we find no molecular change there is paralysis of the nerves leading from the spinal cord. It will become gross lesion in time."

"His condition is that of concussion of the spinal cord and paralysis of the right leg."

Mr. Moore then asked the doctor if he were familiar with what Erickson, Page, Oppenheim and other medical authorities held on the subject, and the doctor said that he did not know what some of them maintained on the point. More questions followed, and among them the doctor was asked if it were true that doctors had invented their own terms to describe ailments affecting the human system, especially in connection with the spinal cord, and were those terms not more modern than those given by the witness. The doctor replied that the terms he had used were of general use. He also admitted that the plaintiff was affected with what might be called traumatic neurosis.

"Has he grave traumatic neurosis?"

"I do not know" was the reply.

A long series of technical questions was then propounded and finally Mr. Moore had, against the objection of opposing counsel, a paper which had been read by Dr. Brainerd before the Southern California Medical Association, in which the author scouted the theory of "railroad spine" and the theory of concussion. The theory, he said, was simply the plea of people who wanted to make raids on railroad treasuries, and who, after securing judgments, became as well as ever. It was a theory also which gave business to shyster lawyers.

BETTER BE ON YOUR GUARD

There Is a Possibility That a European Enemy May Invade Us Again This Year—A Suggestion in Time.

The latest news from London indicates the prevalence of a great deal of influenza, not only in that city, but throughout England and Europe. This is the way the grip of last year started.

There is an unusual amount of coughing, sneezing, headache, pain in the muscles, especially around the shoulders and arms, cold feet; in fact, all the usual grip symptoms.

You may say, I do not fear the grip. But do you not fear the terrible things which grip may bring? Especially pneumonia, which may come almost in a moment and cause your death within a day? More people die suddenly from pneumonia than from any other known complaint. Why? Because it comes unexpectedly, because it gives no warning, has no symptoms other than those above stated, and yet it is the most fatal of all known diseases.

In view of these solemn facts, what shall any sensible man or woman do who reads these words? Manifestly guard against the coming of this dangerous disease. How? Not by dosing with quinine but by strengthening, by toning the system with some pure stimulant of tonic power. There are many which claim to possess this quality, but there is but one which actually does possess it. That one is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It has stood the test of years and is the most popular preparation today known to the American people. Physicians recommend it. It is generally used and it is universally admitted to possess qualities known only to itself. Do not permit your druggist or grocer to persuade you otherwise, but insist upon having what you call for.

THE STANFORD CASE.

Arguments Are Started in the Great Liability Suit.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Bulletin.—Argument was begun in the Supreme court today in the case of the United States vs. Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, widow and executrix of the last will of the late Leland Stanford, to recover from the Stanford estate Stanford's proportion of the alleged individual liability for bonds of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

Over $15,000,000 is involved.

The suit comes to the Supreme court on appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the ninth circuit.

The argument for the government was begun by Assistant Attorney-General Dickinson, who spoke about two hours.

Mr. Choate followed in Mrs. Stanford's behalf.

He Is Accused of Not Having His Accounts in Shape.

R. Volkman of Lorin, a bookkeeper for Mangels of San Francisco, is said to be short in his accounts.

CHOKED HIS WIFE.

John Conroy's Method of Getting Even for Fancied Wrongs.

John Conroy, a former employe of the street department, was sent to the city prison by Judge Wood this morning for three months for choking his wife.

His story and that of his wife almost agreed. She said that he attempted to chastise their son and she remonstrated. He then turned his attention to her and committed the battery complained of by choking her.

He said that she accused him of stealing glass and he choked her for it. He admitted that he choked her and could show no justifiable grounds.

TO HIS BROTHER MICHAEL.

James McPeake Makes Disposition of His Estate.

The will of James McPeake who died in this city on January 17th was filed for probate in the Superior Court today. The deceased bequeathed a $1500 estate to his brother, Michael McPeake, "in exclusion of all other relatives, believing," the clause recites, "that he is entitled to the whole thereof." The property consists of a house and lot in East Oakland.

SHOT HER HUSBAND.

In a Fit of Jealous Rage Mrs. John Blanchi Wields a Pistol.

THE WOUND IS SLIGHT.

ALL AFTERWARDS SETTLED.

A Barber Who Endeavored to Keep Two Homes Going.

An amorous barber and an angry wife created a very lively scene this morning at a lodging house on Seventh street near Market. The parties to the affair were John Blanchi, who wields a razor at the Newland shaving parlors, 478 Seventh street, of which he is proprietor, and his wife, formerly Sarah Naughton. The episode resulted in a bullet wound in Blanchi's left shoulder. The weapon was in the hands of Mrs Blanchi, who claimed to have discovered her husband's unfaithfulness and was on the war path to wreak vengeance upon him. She was prepared to kill him, but her nervousness prevented her from inflicting anything more than a wound that will heal in the course of a few weeks.

As soon as the shooting occurred Mrs. Blanchi had almost relented. She hastened to assist her husband to the receiving hospital, which they reached soon after 9 o'clock. There the couple protested that the affair was entirely accidental, but between the sobs of the wife and Blanchi's groans of pain, the truth finally came to light, and the tale of domestic trouble was unfolded.

The couple discussed their differences while Drs. Legault and Johnson were dressing the wound, and by dint of perseverance the story of Blanchi's escapade with another fair damsel was related.

He at last admitted his departure from the path of strictly virtuous conduct, and was willing to accept the half condoling, half reproachful words of his wife as she nervously watched the surgeons probe for the bullet her angry deed had caused to be fired.

The fragmentary talk between the couple was put together, and the marital disturbance was disclosed.

The present Mrs. Blanchi is the barber's second wife. The first one, now deceased, was a sister of the lady who now graces the Blanchi household. Mrs Blanchi No 2 was Sarah Naughton. She wedded her husband last July, but for several months the marriage was kept a secret, because the first wife had died only nine months previously, and a proper respect for public opinion impelled them to keep the matter quiet for a time. The secret, however, could no longer be concealed from the world. To prevent inquiries and suspicions the couple determined to become man and wife in the eyes of the world as well as before the law.

About a month ago they rented a house at 807 Harrison street and went to housekeeping. Only a few weeks passed before trouble ensued. Blanchi complained one day of sickness and disappeared. Several days passed, but the barber remained absent. Then his wife began to make some inquiries. She went to the barber shop, but failed to locate him. She made further search and finally her quest was rewarded. Blanchi was maintaining she discovered, a separate establishment.

At this juncture she enlisted the assistance of one of her two stepdaughters, a little tot not more than 4 or 5 years old. The child accomplished for her stepmother the task of locating her father's trysting place. She was in a position to know where it was, and without difficulty could pilot her stepmother to the rendezvous of the faithless barber.

RUNNING HIM DOWN.

Mrs. Blanchi's anger continued to rise, and about 8 o'clock this morning she sallied forth in pursuit of her recreant husband. She was led along Seventh street by the child until they reached the house, on Seventh street, near Market.

Blanchi was standing at a window when he saw his wife and his daughter approaching. He had not time to make his escape. She entered the room and drew her pistol, firing point blank at him at close range. As soon as the first bullet was fired, Blanchi closed in upon her, and, grappling with his wife, managed to wrench the pistol from her before a second shot was fired.

As soon as the pistol left her hands she half swooned. Then she recovered herself sufficiently to assist him to the receiving hospital. The wound is not serious. Drs. Legault and Johnson found the bullet, which was from a 38 caliber revolver.

Mrs. Blanchi was very much wrought up at the hospital. "Why do you leave your lawful wife?" she asked, "and run off with another woman? I meant to kill you and then end my own life. That is what I ought to have done. You have supported me only poorly, and instead of saving your money for me you have spent it on some other woman."

Blanchi accepted the rebuke. He did not think it was his turn to talk. The criminations and recriminations between the couple at last ended in a patched up truce. They left the hospital together and disappeared up Franklin street with the child who had exposed unwittingly her father's duplicity. There will be no arrests.

FILIBUSTERS DROWNED.

Disastrous End of the Cruise of the Steamer Hawkins.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Jan. 28.—Twenty-five men were picked up from open boats off Long Island Monday morning by the schooner Helen H. Benedict, and were landed here late last night. They left today for New York, whence they sailed last Sunday.

Their ship was the steamer J. W. Hawkins, recently purchased at Baltimore for an alleged Cuban cruise, and she sailed from New York Sunday night, having on board between 75 and 100 men, bound, it is claimed, to join the Cuban insurgents.

The rescued men report that when the steamer was off the eastern end of Long Island, she sprang a serious leak and the water gained so rapidly on her that all hands were obliged to take to boats.

Activity and Irregularity in the New York Market.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The stock market opened moderately active and irregular.

The tendency of prices was downward, with Grangers and Manhattan leading.

Bears met with little success, depressing the prices after 10:15, and the appearance of supporting orders in the different stocks led them to cover freely, sending sugar up 1⅛ to 105½ and the general list an important fraction.

Easier feeling developed in share speculation at 11:30, chiefly due to realizing sales.

Declines did not exceed fractions and were most important in sugar and Grangers.

New England jumped 5¼ per cent on a single transaction.

Silver is 67¾ and lead $3 90.

Later on a Mob Organized and Strung Him Up to a Tree.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 28.—Alexander Jones, a negro desperado, boarded a passenger train at Keystone last night under the influence of whisky and became very quarrelsome.

The negro became much incensed when an attempt was made to eject him, pulled out two revolvers and began firing promiscuously.

W. H. Strother, Postmaster at Elkhorn, was shot through the abdomen and killed.

Peter Rice, colored, was shot through the right breast and probably fatally injured.

Jones was incarcerated in Elkhorn jail to await the train to convey him to Huntington for safe keeping.

Meanwhile a mob had been organized at Welch, fifteen miles west of Keystone.

At Hemphill, a small station 1 mile west of Welch, the train was flagged, and a mob, numbering 100 men, boarded it, dragged Jones to a tree, where he was swung to a limb and his body riddled with bullets.

The following note was attached to his body:

"This deed was done for the purpose of example and warning to negroes, so beware."

Jones, it is alleged, killed three men prior to his last offense.

The Catalonia Meets With a Bad Accident in Mid-Ocean.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Cunard line steamer Catalonia from Liverpool for Boston, with shaft broken, was spoken January 22d by the White Star freighter Cevic, which reached this port today.

Captain Atkin of the Catalonia asked that his ship be taken in tow by the Cevic but Captain Nicol of the latter was obliged to refuse because the courses of the two ships were so far apart.

A cablegram from St. Michaels, received today reports the Catalonia had been towed into that port by the steamer Braunschweig.

Women's Right Workers Start Their Button Hole Tactics.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The prayer of the Senate chaplain refered to the appearance of another star, Utah, in the constellation of States. He invoked the knitting together of the hearts of all the people of the Union for the advancement and glory of our beloved country.

Turple (Dem., Ind.) in presenting a petition concerning the Turkish massacres, said the Armenians were charged with no revolt, but only with being Christians.

The time has come that there should be official notification to Turkey and to the Mohammedan church that there had been a decadence in their power to proselyte with the sword.

"We already sent a message," said the Senator, referring to a concurrent resolution "but it should be followed by a shot which would go crashing through the grand seraglio."

The Senator urged it would be a glorious day when the destruction of this Turkish power was bought about. Turkish power was brought about, now be called upon to take up another great crusade, driving back the rule of Mohammedism and spreading the rule of Christianity.

Turple spoke with great earnestness and vigor and his remarks attracted much attention.

Allen (Neb.) gave notice of an amendment to the silver bond bill, depriving the Secretary of the Treasury of the power to issue bonds unless authority is granted by Congress.

Call's resolution for the investigation of the arrest of Eugene V. Debs was taken up. Call demanded immediate action, saying the laboring interests of the country desired the inquiry.

Hill (N. Y.) said ordinarily he had great respect for the laboring people, but he never heard they desired this investigation.

If such inquiry was desirable, it should be conducted by one of the regular committees. He offered an amendment directing the whole subject be investigated by the committee on judiciary, and a report be made as to what, if any legislation is necessary.

Call said the amendment was intended to suppress this inquiry. He spoke vigorously upon the indignities and wrongs against Eugene V. Debs because he ventured to express opinions contrary to those entertained by the court. The Senator said this inquiry was vital to the preservation of civil liberty and the inviolability of the personal rights of the individual.

Hill said he would not be put in the attributes of opposing the inquiry. He paid a high tribute to Debs, and the action he urged was with a view to securing appropriate legislative action.

Allen, who severely criticised Judge Woods, created a flutter of excitement by asserting that in his opinion the express purpose for referring the resolution to a standing committee was to suppress and kill it. It was an adroit means of sending the resolution to the "dark caverns" of the Senate.

The resolution finally went over to allow Thurston of Nebraska to address the Senate on the Monroe doctrine. He freely criticised the attitude of Senator Wolcott and supported the stand taken by the President.

SEEKING SUFFRAGE.

A Delegation of Women Workers Before the Senate Committee.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Senate marble room was completely filled today by a delegation of ladies from the National Equal Suffrage Association, who appeared before the Senate committee on woman suffrage to present a plea for recognition at the ballot box.

Senators Call and Peffer were the only members of the committee present, and they arrived late.

Speeches were limited to five minutes.

The speakers were presented by Dr. Annie Shaw.

The speakers dwelt upon the right of the female sex to equal participation with men in shaping legislation and almost all referred to the injustice of taxing women without allowing them to vote.

The delegation also visited the Judiciary Committee of the House.

Among those who spoke were Mrs. Saunders, wife of ex-Senator Saunders of Montana, and Mrs. Francis A. Williams, a Nevada ranch and mine owner.

MASK, JIMMY AND FUSE.

Knights of the Dark Lantern Do Some More Safe Cracking.

An Unprofitable Job at Jenkins' Saw Mills in East Oakland.

There was another safe blown open last night, a fact which demonstrates to the police that Turner and Fountain were not the only safe crackers in town, and now the officers are almost convinced that the story of the young men that they never used the tools found on them when arrested by officer Ely is true. Ever since the arrest of the lads the officers have hoped to be able to connect them with one or more of the attempted burglaries, and for that reason have withheld a misdemeanor complaint, charging them with having burglars' tools in their possession. It is now probable that the minor complaint will be filed this afternoon or in the morning.

The safe blown last night was in the office of C. T. Jenkins' sawmill at East Twelfth street, near Fifteenth avenue. The burglars entered the building from the rear, and though they did a neat job it was an unprofitable one. The owner never keeps any money in the safe, and last night was no exception.

The cracksmen bored a hole near the combination in the safe door and inserted an explosive. The door was blown completely off the hinges.

Near by neighbors say they heard an explosion about twenty minutes of 5 o'clock this morning, but it sounded more like the open firing of a heavily loaded shotgun than the muffled report which would come from blowing a safe door. They paid no attention to it.

This is the fourth safe operated on in the past month and none of the jobs netted a penny to the workers. The same mode of operation has been used in each case, which shows all the work to be done by the same parties.

The detectives made an investigation this morning, but failed to discover any clue which would lead to the capture of the energetic but unfortunate cracksmen.

William Kelleher Elopes With Alonzo Van Sandt's Wife.

The Husband and Officer Ed. Lamping on the Trail.

SUCCESS SOON ACHIEVED.

A Denouement Including a Pistol and Then Prison.

Officer Ed Lamping made a nocturnal trip last night and returned this morning with one of the prettiest captures made by the police this season.

Yesterday afternoon Herman Kosin, a grocery store keeper at Fourth and Webster streets reported to the police that his clerk, William Kelleher, was missing and with him had disappeared $85 in money belonging to the place. Watches were immediately sent to the railway stations but Kelleher managed to escape unobserved.

Further investigation showed that Mrs. Van Sandt, the wife of Alonzo Van Sandt, an employe at Reed's Lumber yard, was also missing.

The man and woman were well acquainted with each other and it was surmised that they had left together.

Later in the evening a report reached the police that the couple were seen going toward the Ingleside race track, and Officer Lamping was detailed to investigate. Van Sandt, the husband of the missing woman, accompanied him.

At a quarter past one o'clock this morning Lamping had located the guilty pair in a room in the Jackson Resort near the Richmond race course. He broke in the door and caught them both, but before he could get the handcuffs on Kelleher, he and Van Sandt started to settle old scores in a rough and tumble set-to. Lamping got them separated, handcuffed his prisoners and took them to San Francisco.

This morning they were brought to Oakland and complaints have been filed charging them both with grand larceny.

When taken they both protested innocence and a search of Kelleher revealed nothing to show guilt. When the woman was searched the tables changed. She had concealed in her stocking $71 15 of the stolen money besides a revolver which was taken from the store.

Kelleher seems very bitter toward Van Sandt and swears he will kill him for telling where he and Mrs. Van Sandt had gone. In fact he says that he took the revolver solely for the purpose of killing Van Sandt should he interfere.

Since being brought back to Oakland the pair are repentant. Both have confessed their guilt. Kelleher, who is only 17 years of age, says he was drunk when he took the money, and if sober would never have committed the crime. She claims that they had no intention of stealing the coin and that she intended persuading Kelleher to carry it back as soon as he should sufficiently sober up.

Mrs. Van Sandt is eight years the senior of her youthful companion. At the jail she denied her name and said it was Mary Higgins.

NO LOCATION FIXED.

Engineer Boardman on the Oakland Water Company's Reservoir.

With respect to the building of another reservoir by the Oakland Water Company, ex-City Engineer Boardman said today:

"The reservoir will be built but we have not decided as yet as to where it will be located. It may be back of the city or in East Oakland. We intend to go out as soon as the storm is over and select a site.

"We need another reservoir so that we may be able to keep our pumps going at a regular speed all the time.

"The pumps are going day and night. But, sometimes, when they pump a little more than we have any use for, we are compelled to telephone down to the works to have them go a little slower.

"The intention is not to store up water in large quantities. It is desired to have water kept fresh and not to have it kept in reservoirs until it becomes stagnant, or soiled from dirt or things that might grow upon it. The water pumped in the morning reaches here in the afternoon, is sweet and pure and it is desired to have it maintain those qualities.

"Inside of a few days we will be able to tell you where the reservoir will be located. It will contain about 10,000,000 gallons of water and will cost about $10,000.

MAYRISCH ACQUITTED.

The Jury Only Remained Out of the Box Three Minutes.

Ernest Mayrisch Jr., the former chief clerk in the office of Tax Collector Barber, who was indicted by the grand jury for misappropriating public funds was acquitted today by a jury after a deliberation of three minutes.

W. W. Foote made a strong argument for the defense in which he held that the shortage was due to clerical errors and that Mayrisch had shown his good intent throughout the whole affair.

Judge Erick gave a liberal charge to the jury which retired only to return a few minutes later with its verdict of acquittal.

He Is to Have Primary Jurisdiction as Regards the Road's Receiver.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Justices Field, Harlan, Brewer, and Brown of Supreme Court today rendered a decision in the Northern Pacific receivership case, holding all the courts along the line of the road to be auxiliary to Judge Jenkins' court at Milwaukee.

This decision gives the Milwaukee court jurisdiction over the entire system in the matter of receiverships.

It was shown at this hearing that the creditors' bill and the foreclosure proceedings of 1893 had been filed in the Circuit Court for the eastern division of Wisconsin, over which Judge Jenkins presides.

It was also shown that this court then appointed receivers for the entire system who were for the time recognized.

Afterwards, however, the Circuit Court for other districts appointed receivers for portions of the road embraced within their respective jurisdictions and such confusion and antagonism arose, it was feared the interests of the road would be seriously jeopardized.

Exception was taken to the jurisdiction of the Milwaukee court on the ground that the Northern Pacific had no road except a leased line within the limits of the eastern district of Wisconsin.

This was substantially the only objection made to its recognition and it was intimated at the time of the hearing a large majority of the interests involved would be satisfied with the designation of the Milwaukee court as a responsible tribunal and one by which the receiver or receivers for the entire line should be designated.

LEGAL ARMOR.

City Attorney Peirsol Ready to Fight the Exempt Firemen.

There will be a special meeting of the Council this evening for the purpose of authorizing the City Attorney to represent the Council in the mandamus suit brought by the exempt firemen.

Mr. Peirsol believes that the suit can be defeated. He filed his answer yesterday. He has several points of defense but relies principally on the fact that the Oakland organization was not existing at the time of the passage and approval of the act of March, 1895, a fact which he claims is fatal to the plaintiff because the act applies only to exempt firemen organizations then existing.

A second point raised is that it is unconstitutional under article 4, sections 31 and 32 of the constitution.

The Patients Treated Better, Yet the Expenses Have Been Reduced.

The contract for supplying the principal county offices with steel files and shelves was awarded to the Office Specialty Manufacturing Company by the Supervisors yesterday afternoon, the price being $1.48 per file.

The annual report of Dr. W. A. Clark, superintendent of the County Infirmary, was then read. Among the interesting facts which it contained are the following:

"The year has been one of improvement and progress in all branches of this department. Very early in the year a plan looking ultimately to the separation of the indigents from the hospital cases was inaugurated and has been productive of nothing but good results both for the patients and the management. Trained nurses have been introduced and better results are obtained both as to the welfare of the patients and the appearance of the wards.

"The drug department, though such is well stocked, economically managed and even in the small quarters allotted, manufactures nearly all its preparations. Improvements in the kitchen and dining room are marked. The food is well cooked and there is an abundance of it. No one can say that Alameda County does not properly feed the poor.

"The farm produces a large proportion of the feed used for the stock. Fresh milk and vegetables are furnished by this department to the patients, much to their gratification and benefit. Probably the finest stock of hogs within the county is raised on the infirmary farm.

"The patients have been brought under a firm but not rigorous discipline, at first causing considerable friction, which has now entirely disappeared, owing to the firm stand the chairman of the hospital committee took in the matter. In conclusion, the superintendent desires to express his thanks and appreciation for the uniform courtesy and assistance accorded him by the Board of Supervisors, the Hospital Committee and especially its chairman, Dr. A. Salik, the inspecting physician, Dr. A. Hoffaker the employes and patients."

A number of interesting tables are submitted. The maintenance in 1894 cost $53,-210.53, or a daily average per capita of 19.41 cents, there being 263 patients on the average. In 1895 these figures were $14,751.61 a daily average of 40.27 cents for 248 1-13 patients of a saving of $8,461.31, or a daily average or .14 of a cent with 14 9-13 more patients on the average. Of this amount paid this year $1,511.50 was on account of the sewer. Deducting this from the cost of maintenance the saving the past year would be $12,900 80 or 5.08 cents daily per capita.

There are 40 stoves, one hot water heater, two ranges and one steam boiler in the infirmary which have consumed 11,761.35 of fuel. He says it would be a saving if the building were heated with steam and a saving would result in clothing and dry goods if there was a steam laundry added, besides giving unlimited supply of hot water for bathing purposes.

There were 306 patients January 1, 1895; 511 were admitted and there were 10 births during the year 516 have been discharged; 82 have died and 233 remain January 1 1896. Of the total number admitted native born citizens of the United States led with 219, Ireland followed with 132, Germany 45, Portugal 24 England, 23, Sweden 18, Scotland 13 France 11, Denmark and Canada 10 each, Italy and Australia 5 each, Norway and Wales 3 each, Spain, Nova Scotia, Belgium and China 2 each, Fiji Islands, Japan, Prussia, Poland, Finland, New Foundland and Jamaica 1 each.

Between 15 and 25 years, 6; between 26 and 35 years, 7; between 36 and 45 years, 21; between 46 and 55 years, 29; between 56 and 65 years, 63; between 66 and 75 years, 74; between 76 and 85, 25; between 86 and 95 years, 5.

There were 2096 persons who visited or insectem hom romohimohom mohaowidot inspected the institution during the year; 332 patients called and were treated.

The report was filed.

The board then adjourned for one week.

HUNTINGTON-SUTRO.

The Railroad President Scores the Old-Man-by the-Sea.

A NEW SIDE OF THE CASE.

C. P. Huntington has sent the following letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal, and it was published in that paper this morning:

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—I find in your issue of the 22nd an article in reference to the Southern Pacific Company's charter, and also some extracts from Adolph Sutro's address. There is little truth in it where it says that C. P. Huntington and his associates procured the charter for the express purpose of bringing it to California and the other States in which they had interests.

That so far is correct. We wanted to get a charter in some State where the laws were stable and the people were not liable to be changed by the action of such demagogues and charlatans as Adolph Sutro, who is figuring in this matter. We have a great many small railroads, and we thought we could economize very much by exchanging the shares of these roads into a great parent organization like the Southern Pacific Company. We did this, and exchanged the shares of these small constituent companies, which was equal to the economic working under a consolidation.

I think we have some thirty or forty small companies, the stock of which is owned by the Southern Pacific Company, which allows them to be worked as one company, thus saving the expense of many boards of directors and many other expenses. I suppose there are a couple of thousand shareholders who have exchanged their shares in the other companies for those of the Southern Pacific Company.

There is nothing wrong about it, and it is all clean and above-board.

This fellow Sutro wanted to have this company extend the Market street railway system to what is known as Seal Rocks, or the Cliff House, in San Francisco, some two and a half or three miles from the west end of the Market street road at First avenue, and carry passengers from the front of the city, on the Bay of San Francisco, out to the shores of the sea, into a network which he had set for catching the money of the people, including bars, gambling-rooms and all kinds and sorts of show places, a distance of eight miles over the hills, for five cents, hoping that for every passenger we brought there he would get many times the amount of five cents, at a less cost to him than it would cost to haul the passengers from the city front to the ocean beach.

I said to him that there was a company running from First avenue out to his place, and running at a loss of from $600 to $700 a month; that we could not afford to extend the line then, but would do so as soon as we could get fair returns for the money invested in building it. He said then, showing much temper, that if we did not build the road at once he would fight us in Washington and everywhere else, which he has been doing in his usual nasty way.

This Adolph Sutro is the fellow who hung about Washington many years ago selling shares of the notorious Sutro tunnel scheme in Nevada. With the money he got in this way he bought up large amounts of land in San Francisco, said to be more than one-tenth the acreage of the city limits, and this land has now become very valuable, making him, they say, the richest man in San Francisco, whilst the folks who bought the shares got nothing out of them.

Take him altogether he is, I think, one of the worst men in the world.

The men who assisted me in getting the charter and allowed their names to be used in that connection were honorable men, and their fellow-citizens very well know that such men as Henry D. McHenry, Gen. John Echols and their associates would not do anything dishonorable. They knew what the purpose was, and the charter has never been used for any other purpose.

"There has been much money saved to the people of California by the consolidation, so to speak, of these many fragmentary roads into one organization, and it has been made possible to operate the lines at the minimum cost, so that last year the company received an average of less than two cents per mile for passengers in the State of California, and less than 12 mills per ton per mile for freight, and that, too, in a State where the expenses of running a railroad are more than in any other State, and where the fuel costs more than eight times what it did on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

I speak of that particularly because I used to be connected with it, and Mr. Ingalls, the worthy President of that company, said that he was paying only 60 cents a ton, while the coal in California, I think, costs about $5 per ton.

Yours truly,
C. P. HUNTINGTON.

DR. CROWLEY TESTIFIES.

The Jury Edified by a Mass of Expert Medical Evidence.

A. A. MOORE'S CROSS-FIRE.

A Celebrity Who Says There Is Not Any "Railroad Spine."

The case of Colonel Andrew Wettstein against the Southern Pacific Company for $20,000 damages was resumed in the Superior Court before Judge Ogden and a jury this morning. There was a large attendance in the lobby. The plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Smith and Piersol, and the defendant by A. A. Moore.

There were also present many physicians and surgeons, some of whom will appear as experts in the course of the trial. Among these were Drs. Woolsey, Crowley, Kuckein, Dunn, Selfridge, Maher, Legault, Shields, Lane, and Hamlin.

When court adjourned last Friday afternoon, Dr. Kuckein was on the stand and was about to undergo redirect cross-examination upon the subject, as Mr. Moore described it, of "that railroad spy," referring to a man who, the doctor had testified had spoken to him regarding Wettstein's alleged appearance on the streets when he was supposed to be in bed suffering from the injuries he had sustained at the hands of agents of the defendant.

The doctor was called by A. A. Moore.

Mr. Piersol said that he had not got through with the witness.

Mr. Moore said that the plaintiff had "got through" with the witness twice.

Mr. Piersol said he wanted to examine the doctor on a new matter brought out on the cross-examination.

The Judge said that it could not be a new matter, but it might be considered supplemental matter.

A long argument ensued, Mr. Piersol holding that it was discretionary with the court to allow the plaintiff to continue his examination of Dr Kuckein.

Mr. Moore contended that the court did not have discretion. The plaintiff should have exhausted the witness in the direct examination. Otherwise the case might be continued until the parties became old and blind.

The court sustained Mr. Moore's objection, until he could have the notes read to him at noon.

Mr. Piersol then said that he had not closed his redirect examination of the witness.

The court then allowed Mr. Piersol to continue the redirect examination. In response to a question Dr. Kuckein testified that he had not testified that all the sensitory nerves of the body are in the skin, that there are nerves all over the body, Mr. Piersol sought to show that there are nerves under the foot which could be so affected as to cause serious injury. But the objection of Mr. Moore was sustained, the court holding that no attempt had been made to show that the plaintiff had been injured on the foot, as also, that it was redirect examination, and that properly speaking the redirect examination had been concluded. The doctor was asked as to whether or not he wished to correct any answers he had made in his cross-examination.

Mr. Moore objected. The objection was overruled, and the witness said that he did not think he wanted to make any corrections of the kind mentioned.

The doctor was then redirect cross-examined by A. A. Moore. He said that the man who had spoken to him about the case in behalf of the railroad company was Mr. Duncomb. Duncomb had said he would call to see the witness at witness' office. But Duncomb did not call. Witness said he told Duncomb he did not know enough about the case to tell when the accident to Wettstein happened.

"Why did you think Duncomb was a spy?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Because he was hunting around for witnesses. It impressed me that he was an agent of the company, and I don't think now that I was mistaken."

"Did this gentleman who approached you offer you any money, any inducements to testify?"

"He did not."

"Did you ask him for money?"

"I did not."

"Did it necessarily follow because he was hunting for evidence that he was a spy?"

"I don't know."

"The plaintiff employed John Teague to get evidence. Did you consider him a spy?"

"I don't know."

"You said in your testimony that this man was an agent or a 'spy,' did you not?"

"I said he was an agent or a 'spy.'"

The doctor was then excused and Dr. Crowley was called.

Mr. Moore said that before Dr. Crowley was examined he desired to make a motion that the physical condition of the plaintiff be examined into.

The court denied the motion for the time being, but said that he would allow counsel to renew it later in the case.

DR. CROWLEY TESTIFIES.

The doctor testified to having graduated from reputable medical colleges and having been a medical practitioner since 1879.

He had, he said, examined the patient in his (witness') office six or seven times. "I examined his spine throughout," said Dr. Crowley, "and found a considerable injury over the second, third and fourth lumbar vertebrae. I also found want of reflex in the right leg and a deficiency in sensation and motion. I found also that the lack of sensation was perceptible from the side of the feet well up to the thighs. My conclusion as to the causes of these conditions was a blow upon or concussion of the spinal cord. I also examined the pulse and temperature. I conducted the examination by scratching the surface of the foot. It is difficult to keep the foot quiet during the time of such an examination. In addition to this, I took a knife and thrust the blade into inflamed parts of the foot when the patient was lying on the operating table, and the patient did not move. By pricking the skin, I did not find reflex on the right leg that I would have found on the left leg. I did not make any scientific examination of the sight or hearing because I am not able to make such an examination. My opinion as to the cause of the injury is that the patient received a blow or sustained concussion on the small of the back in the neighborhood of the vertebrae which I have described."

"What do you consider to be the result of these symptoms as to their being progressive?" he was asked by Mr. Smith.

"A patient with such injuries may recover."

He was asked what prospect there is of recovery in a patient who has been injured from eight to nine months and who still suffers.

"I would judge," said Dr. Crowley, "that a patient who has suffered five or six months, as this patient has, may require years to recover, if he recover at all."

He was then asked a series of questions by Mr Smith, and replied: "With respect to the symptoms disclosed by the pricking with a pin, I should say they are objective symptoms. These indicate injury to the spinal cord. The lack of reflex in the right leg is an objective symptom. It is also an indication of an injury to the spinal cord."

He was asked whether or not he had examined the plaintiff knowing that in 1882 that gentleman had sustained a broken leg, and that later Wettstein had been thrown from his horse and remained unconscious six hours, drank a quart of beer a day, smoked cigars and had been struck over the head with a musket.

"I took all those matters into consideration," said the doctor, "with the exception of the blow on the head. A blow on the head would have nothing to do with the condition of the spinal cord several inches or a foot or two below the head. I made an examination of the various organs of the body. I found the heart healthy and the lungs healthy, though he may have suffered from dyspepsia."

He was then cross-examined by A. A. Moore.

He said that he had testified several times as an expert in railroad damage cases. He admitted that he expected to be paid by the plaintiff the same amount for his evidence whether or not the plaintiff recovered or died. The amount expected was $50, whether he was occupied five minutes or two hours. He was to receive that amount for the case. He had not been in attendance half an hour during the trial. He was asked if he was not testifying as an expert against the railroad company in a case in which Dr. Woolsey was taking an interest against the company, and replied in the affirmative.

He was asked whether or not he had not testified as an expert in a case against the railroad company when Dr Woolsey was the expert of the railroad company. The question was objected to and the objection was sustained.

He was asked whether in a railroad damage case he had not testified that the plaintiff in that case had his neck broken, and that Dr. Woolsey for the company had testified that the neck was not broken, and that further, in that case, as soon as the plaintiff got damages he (the plaintiff) went around as well as ever about his business.

This was also objected to and the objection sustained.

"Did you not, within a year, in this courthouse, in a damage suit against the railroad, swear that a man's neck was broken, and did not that man, after receiving a verdict get well and go about his business?" asked Mr. Moore.

"I believe that is not true," said Dr. Crowley. "I believe still that the man's neck was broken, and that he did not go about his business as usual in the same kind of work."

"Did you not testify in that case, and will the record not show, that in a proper sense the man's neck was broken?"

"I think the record will show that I testified that a part of the vertebrae was broken. I don't think I said that it was broken in any other sense."

In response to questions, he said he did not know how many times he had acted as an expert in cases against the railroad. Neither did he know how many times Mr Moore had cross-examined him in such cases.

"How many times have you ever been a witness against the defendant in this case in which Dr. Woolsey was not on the side and for the railroad company?"

The question was objected to and the objection was sustained.

"Is there any organ of the human body so well or better protected from shocks and jars as the spinal cord?"

"I think that the spinal cord is better protected than any other important organ of the body."

"Is it not true that it is suspended by delicate ligaments, surrounded by fluid matter, with a cushion of the dura matter, and is it not a wonderful illustration of the protection afforded important parts of the human body?"

"It is necessary that it should be protected, otherwise we would all be paralyzed. The moment it would come in contact we would have concussion of the spinal cord."

"In alighting heavily on the feet we would then have concussion of the brain?"

"Every time, almost, one would make a misstep."

"Must there not be some concussion of the cord?"

"Concussion is so broad a term that it might be applied to a little misstep or a sudden falling."

Mr. Moore then insinuated that the term concussion was meaningless and asked the witness what he understood by it.

Concussion, the doctor said, was spoken of as that condition when there is a molecular change.

"Is not that a definition," said Mr. Moore, "of those who seek to secure damages from railroad companies?"

"I do not think it is," said Dr. Crowley.

Mr. Moore then asked as to the pathology of concussion and the doctor replied that there is supposed in such cases to be a molecular change and some slight injury to the tissue besides.

"Do not writers in surgical science say there is no pathology on the subject?"

"I will say there is not a pathological change in the spinal cord. In the condition of the spinal cord when we find no molecular change there is paralysis of the nerves leading from the spinal cord. It will become gross lesion in time."

"What would you call this man's condition?"

"His condition is that of concussion of the spinal cord and paralysis of the right leg."

Mr. Moore then asked the doctor if he were familiar with what Erickson, Page, Oppenheim and other medical authorities held on the subject, and the doctor said that he did not know what some of them maintained on the point. More questions followed, and among them the doctor was asked if it were true that doctors had invented their own terms to describe ailments affecting the human system, especially in connection with the spinal cord, and were those terms not more modern than those given by the witness. The doctor replied that the terms he had used were of general use. He also admitted that the plaintiff was affected with what might be called traumatic neurosis.

"Has he grave traumatic neurosis?"

"I do not know" was the reply.

A long series of technical questions was then propounded and finally Mr. Moore had, against the objection of opposing counsel, a paper which had been read by Dr. Brainerd before the Southern California Medical Association, in which the author scouted the theory of "railroad spine" and the theory of concussion. The theory, he said, was simply the plea of people who wanted to make raids on railroad treasuries, and who, after securing judgments, became as well as ever. It was a theory also which gave business to shyster lawyers.

BETTER BE ON YOUR GUARD

There Is a Possibility That a European Enemy May Invade Us Again This Year—A Suggestion in Time.

The latest news from London indicates the prevalence of a great deal of influenza, not only in that city, but throughout England and Europe. This is the way the grip of last year started.

There is an unusual amount of coughing, sneezing, headache, pain in the muscles, especially around the shoulders and arms, cold feet; in fact, all the usual grip symptoms.

You may say, I do not fear the grip. But do you not fear the terrible things which grip may bring? Especially pneumonia, which may come almost in a moment and cause your death within a day? More people die suddenly from pneumonia than from any other known complaint. Why? Because it comes unexpectedly, because it gives no warning, has no symptoms other than those above stated, and yet it is the most fatal of all known diseases.

In view of these solemn facts, what shall any sensible man or woman do who reads these words? Manifestly guard against the coming of this dangerous disease. How? Not by dosing with quinine but by strengthening, by toning, the system with some pure stimulant of tonic power. There are many which claim to possess this quality but there is but one which actually does possess it. That one is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It has stood the test of years and is the most popular preparation today known to the American people. Physicians recommend it. It is generally used and it is universally admitted to possess qualities known only to itself. Do not permit your druggist or grocer to persuade you otherwise but insist upon having what you call for.

THE STANFORD CASE.

Arguments Are Started in the Great Liability Suit.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Bulletin.—Argument was begun in the Supreme court today in the case of the United States vs. Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, widow and executrix of the last will of the late Leland Stanford, to recover from the Stanford estate Stanford's proportion of the alleged individual liability for bonds of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

Over $15,000,000 is involved.

The suit comes to the Supreme court on appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the ninth circuit.

The argument for the government was begun by Assistant Attorney-General Dickinson, who spoke about two hours.

Mr Choate followed in Mrs. Stanford's behalf.

He Is Accused of Not Having His Accounts in Shape.

R. Volkman of Lorin, a bookkeeper for Mangels of San Francisco, is said to be short in his accounts.

CHOKED HIS WIFE.

John Conroy's Method of Getting Even for Fancied Wrongs.

John Conroy, a former employe of the street department, was sent to the city prison by Judge Wood this morning for three months for choking his wife.

His story and that of his wife almost agreed. She said that he attempted to chastise their son and she remonstrated. He then turned his attention to her and committed the battery complained of by choking her.

He said that she accused him of stealing glass and he choked her for it. He admitted that he choked her and could show no justifiable grounds.

TO HIS BROTHER MICHAEL.

James McPeake Makes Disposition of His Estate.

The will of James McPeake who died in this city on January 17th was filed for probate in the Superior Court today. The deceased bequeathed a $1500 estate to his brother, Michael McPeake, "in exclusion of all other relatives, believing," the clause recites, "that he is entitled to the whole thereof." The property consists of a house and lot in East Oakland.

ONE HONEST MAN.

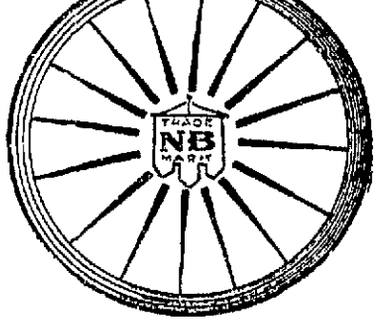

Dear Editor: Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C. O. D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HARRIS, Box 560, Delray, Mich.

REAL ESTATE.

HIS FAITH IN THE MUTUAL LIFE.

Mr. George H. Ripley, for many years president of the Home Life Insurance Company of this city was a policy holder in The Mutual Life and a persistent one. In 1847 Mr. Ripley became insured in The Mutual Life for $3600. The policy was increased by dividends and finally became a death claim for $11,189.

There are several very remarkable features connected with this policy, viz.:

1. The amount of dividend additions credited to the policy at death was more than twice as much as the original insurance.

2. Besides giving a $3600 insurance protection the combined amounts of policy and all premiums paid.

3. Besides giving a $3600 insurance protection for over forty-nine years, the company paid the face of the policy..$5,600
Returned all premiums.............. 4,851
With an excess of dividends amounting to.............. 2,738

Amount of claim..............$11,189

Mr. Ripley was a persistent policy holder, always paying the premiums in cash and in full, and while being a life insurance man connected with another company he showed his confidence in The Mutual Life by not insuring in any other institution.

The result attained on this policy is one of the best in the history of the Mutual Life. Commencing with $3600 in 1847 the insurance increased by dividends to $11,189 in 1895.

This is a phenomenal dividend record, probably never before equaled in the history of any other life insurance company.

A Terrible Collision

Occurred late last night directly in front of the Mammoth Furniture stores of J. L. Lyon & Son, at 1250 and 1252¼ Broadway. Luckily all their furniture, carpets, ranges, etc., both new and second hand, of which they have an enormous assortment, were inside their store for the night and so no damage was done. Telegraph avenue ran into Broadway.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

WHEAT AND OTHER GRAINS.

WHEAT—An advance at Liverpool was counterbalanced by a decline in Chicago, and as this market follows the latter in preference to the former, easier prices resulted. It was a surface decline, however, as the undercurrent is very strong. Milling has advanced, being very scarce. Buyers are scouring the country for it and sellers are generally asking $1.30.

No. 1, $1.12½; choice, $1.13¾; lower grades, $1@$1.10; extra choice for milling, $1.22@$1.27½.

BARLEY—Is quiet at unchanged prices. Feed, 67½@70c; choice, 71¼c; brewing, 75@82½c; Chevalier, $1.10@$1.20 for No. 1, and 75c@$1 per ctl for off grade.

OATS—Trade was quiet yesterday. Milling, 77½@85c; fancy feed, 85@90c; good to choice, 77½@85c; common to fair, 65@75c; gray, 80@85c; red, for seed, $1@$1.10; black for seed, $1.10@$1.30; ditto for feed, 75@85c; Surprise, 95c@$1.05 per ctl.

CORN—Dull and unchanged. Large yellow, 90c; small round yellow, 90c; white 82½@85c per ctl.

RYE—Is firm and in better demand at 77½@82½c per ctl.

FLOUR AND MILLSTUFFS.

FLOUR—The millers quote unchanged prices. Net cash prices are: Family extras, $3.65@$3.75; bakers' extras, $3.55@$3.65; superfine, $2.50@$2.00 per barrel.

CORNMEAL—Feed corn, $20; cracked corn, $20.50 per ton.

HAY AND FEEDSTUFFS.

BRAN—Receipts were over 9000 sacks. The market continues easy at $12@$13 per ton, jobbing rates.

MIDDLINGS—$16@$19 for lower grades up to $20.50 per ton for the best.

FEEDSTUFFS—Rolled barley, $16@$17 per ton; oilcake meal at the mill, $21 per ton; jobbing, $22.50; cottonseed oilcake, $21 per ton.

HAY—The heavy rains have at last affected prices and the upper grades are 50c lower.

Wheat, $8@$12; oat, $8@$10; wheat and oat, $7.50@$11; barley, $7@$9.50; alfalfa, $6@$9; clover, $6@$8; compressed, $7.50@$11; stock, $6@$7.50 per ton.

STRAW—35@60c per bale.

BEANS AND SEEDS.

BEANS—Continue dull and unchanged. Bayos, $1@$1.15; small whites, $1.25@$1.60; pea, $1.50@$1.65; large whites, $1.15@$1.25; pink, 90c@$1.12½; reds, $1.35@$1.40; blackeye, $1.75@$1.85; red kidney, $1.75@$1.90; Limas, $2.50@$2.75; butters, $1.60@$1.70 per ctl.

SEEDS—Quoted as follows: Brown mustard, $1.95@$2.05; trieste, $2@$2.20; yellow mustard, $1.50@$1.60; flax, $1.70@$1.75 per ctl; canary, 3¼@3½c per lb; alfalfa, 6½@7c; rape 1¾@2c; hemp, 4c.

DRIED PEAS—Nominal at $1.25@$1.50 per ctl for Niles.

POTATOES, ONIONS, VEGETABLES.

POTATOES—Yesterday's arrivals were large and included 4606 sacks from Oregon. Salinas Burbanks, 60@90c; river Burbanks, 25@40c per sack; Oregon Burbanks, 50@75c; Oregon Garnet Chiles, 65@70c; river reds, 45@55c per ctl.

ONIONS—Arrivals of over 900 sacks and the market was weaker at 85c@$1; cut onions, 50@75c; Oregon, $1@$1.15 asked.

BUTTER, CHEESE AND EGGS.

BUTTER—The situation shows no change whatever.

Creamery—Fancy, 27@28c; seconds, 25@26c per lb.

Dairy—Fancy, 24@25c; good to choice, 22@23c; lower grades, 18@21c.

CHEESE—Quoted as follows: Fancy mild new, 11½@12c; common to good, 8½@10c; cream cheddar, 11@12c; young America, 11@12c; western, 11@12c; eastern, 12@13c per lb.

EGGS—There is no real reason for a decline, as receipts are small, but prices are going down all the same.

Store eggs, 14@15c; ranch eggs, 17½c per dozen.

POULTRY AND GAME.

POULTRY—Nothing new. There is still some unsold Eastern stock on hand, with another car due in two or three days.

Live turkeys, 13@14c per lb for gobblers, and 11c for hens; dressed turkeys, 16@18c; geese, per pair, $1.25@$1.75; ducks, $5.50@$6.50 per doz; hens, $4@$5; roosters, young, $1.50@$5.50; do, old, $4@$4.50; fryers, $4.50@$5; broilers, $4.50 for large and $3@$4 for small; pigeons, $1.50@$2 per dozen for young and $1@$1.25 for old.

GAME—With one or two exceptions prices are lower.

Hare, 75c@$1 per dozen; rabbits, $1.25@$1.50 for cottontails and $1 for small; gray geese, $2.50@$3; white geese, 75c@$1; brant, $1.25@$1.50; honkers, $3@$3.50; English snipe, $2.50; jack snipe, $1.25@$1.50.

DECIDUOUS AND CITRUS FRUITS.

APPLES—We quote 85c@$1 per box for good to choice, 50@75c for common to fair, and $1.25@$1.50 for fancy.

CITRUS FRUITS—The great majority of oranges on the market are either frozen or frostbitten and are slow of sale in consequence and much lower. The freeze in the southern part of the State a month or so ago turns out much more serious than was supposed at the time.

Oranges, $1@$1.50 per box for seedlings, and $1.25@$2.25 for Navels; badly frosted stock goes still lower; lemons, $1@$1.50 for common and $2@$2.50 for good to choice; California limes, 75c@$1; Mexican limes, $5@$6; bananas, $1@$2 per bunch; pineapples, $2.50@$6 per dozen.

SAN FRANCISCO MEAT MARKET.

Mutton and lamb have advanced. Beef and pork are firm.

Wholesale rates for dressed stock from the slaughterers are as follows:

BEEF—First quality, 5½@6c; second quality, 4½@5c; third do, 3½@4c per lb.

VEAL—Large, 5@6c; small, 6@7c per lb.

MUTTON—Wethers 6½@7c; ewes, 6@6½c per lb.

LAMB—Spring, 12½c; yearlings, 7@8c per lb.

PORK—Live hogs, 3⅝c for large and 3¾c for small; dressed do, 4½@5¼c per lb.

THE WEATHER.

The pressure has fallen generally over the Rocky mountain region and eastward. It is rising along the Pacific slope. There are no well marked disturbances on the map this morning. It has rained during the past twelve hours in the Sacramento valley, the San Joaquin valley and the coast of California from San Francisco southward. Rains have been heavy in the valleys. Fair and partly cloudy weather prevails over the larger portion of the Pacific coast. The temperature has remained stationary except in Southern Nevada and in the vicinity of Independence, where it has fallen. The Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries are still high, and the main streams will probably continue to rise for about twelve hours. The stage at Sacramento will probably reach twenty-seven feet. A fall in the rivers may be looked for Wednesday night. The tributaries will begin to fall earlier.

FORECAST MADE AT SAN FRANCISCO FOR 36 HOURS ENDING 5 P. M., JANUARY 29, 1896.

Northern California—Showers in the Sacramento valley this afternoon; fair tonight and Wednesday; light variable winds.

SAN FRANCISCO AND VICINITY.

TUESDAY.....JANUARY 28, 1896.

It is among the latest news items that Venezuela has declared a commercial war against Great Britain. The newspapers of that country contain a standing proclamation that "whoever buys English goods increases the power of Great Britain." For two months from January 15th the press will publish daily the names of all foreign merchants who are dealing in any manner with England or her colonies. Spunky Venezuela will now make war by means of a boycott.

There is probably truth in the story that the Boers sold their rights in the South African gold mines for $300,000 and that the same are now worth $8,000,000. The Boers wanted nothing to do with mines; they are an agricultural people. In the early days the Mormons, for the same reason, wanted nothing to do with mines. Brigham Young for a long time advised his people to let mining severely alone. It might have been good advice for that time; but is hardly good for these times.

We take no stock in this story, although it is printed and reprinted in some of the Eastern papers: "The latest rumor at Washington about Senator Hill's matrimonial possibilities is that he is going to marry the widow of Senator George Hearst of California. She has a beautiful home in Washington and has a fortune of $25,000,000, most of which, however, would go to her son, William R. Hearst of San Francisco and New York, if she should marry again. We don't believe that David has any chance there."

That part of the Federal grant for agricultural colleges due to Connecticut was originally assigned to Yale College, which had for a long time maintained an agricultural department. But the State undertook to establish the Storrs Agricultural School and diverted the grant to that institution. Commissioners were appointed by the State to decide on the justice of the award. The commissioners have reported that there is due to Yale College a little more than $154,000, which substantially turns the award over to that institution.

This news comes down from the State of Washington: The rich gold discoveries of Forty Mile Creek, in Alaska, belong to the United States, and not Great Britain. The 141st meridian of longitude has been accurately determined by an employe of the British Government and property marked at certain places. Gen. Duffield the chief of the Coast Survey, says it shows that only sixteen miles of the creek as the bird flies, and but twenty-three miles as the water flows is in British territory, and that in this portion no gold has been discovered.

The spring rush of prospectors to the Yukon gold fields has already begun. Seventy-five prospectors have already set out for Alaska.

About once in two months the old railroad chestnut is started out on its rounds, or a similar one. This, for instance, will do for a sample. It is sent from Pacific Grove to a Fresno paper. "President Jones of the Monterey and Fresno Railroad has started East to sell $200,000 in bonds. His secretary states that $400,000 in bonds have been sold here on condition that he sells $200,000 more in the East. The colonel feels confident of the sale, and says an Eastern firm has been pledged to take the construction and equipment of the road from Monterey to Hollister. The road will be 160 miles long and will pass through some of the finest fruit and grain land in the State. The directors have secured the water frontage of Monterey, said to be worth $1,000,000." It has never been made to appear that anybody was interested in this railroad scheme but Colonel Jones, who appears to be about of the same stripe as some of the railroad men who offered to build a railroad from Oakland to Stockton if somebody would put up the capital

Florida Citrus Growers Coming to California.

Florida is replanting her orange groves. The cold killed thousands of young trees and cut the old ones down nearly to the ground. That disaster has been repeated three or four times in Florida. The result is that many citrus men are discouraged and are determined to begin anew in California. The cold in the orange belt of Northern California did not this year drop below 32 degrees. Not an orange was frosted. No trees were killed. The crop ripened just about a month earlier than it did in Southern California.

Every immigrant from Florida who proposes to plant an orange grove in California should have a full knowledge of these facts. Having had his crops and trees twice destroyed in Florida within a few years, if he makes a new move now, he will want to go beyond the frost line. There are better opportunities now for citrus planting in the northern counties than there are in Southern California. The orange belt, or that which is known to be such, is nearly quite as large in these northern counties, and not ten per cent of it is occupied for citrus culture.

It is believed that this very year the citrus growers in that region received an average of much better prices for their product than have the citrus growers of Southern California. All these statements are of special interest to the Florida citrus men who propose to come to California. The misleading statements that have been made in former years have kept back this northern citrus belt from rapid improvement. But these falsehoods have been hunted down. One of the great orange belts of the future will be in Northern California. There is not a single district in this belt where the record of cold is as great by eight or ten degrees as it is at Riverside and some of the other districts in that vicinity.

The Problem of the Fruit Growers.

The Santa Clara fruit growers have called a meeting to consider what is to be done in view of the prospect of a greatly increased fruit production in that county and in other parts of the State. The crop of last year was below the average, and yet it appeared to be ample to meet all the demands of distant markets. The fruit acreage is rapidly increasing. There is every prospect that it may double twice in the next ten years. Planting will go on as long as there is any prospect of getting paying returns from fruit crops. A large acreage will come into bearing this year. A still larger one next year.

Now, all these probabilities are foreseen. People will not stop planting because down in Santa Clara county the prune crop sometimes overstocks the market. The fact is carefully concealed that in that county fortunes have been made from the cultivation of this single fruit, even with the strong competition of French prunes. Last year the supply of California fruit seemed to meet the demand of the market. But it is to be noted that when the supply was only one-fourth as large, it also met the demands of the market, because the latter had only been made large enough to take this limited product.

With the proposal that fruit production may double in California in the next five years, because the non-bearing area is nearly as large as that in bearing, the only practical thing to do is to enlarge the market. It is absurd to say that the California product is meeting the wants of 70,000,000 people. The greater part of these do not consume the fruit of this State because they cannot get it. The fruit growers have been gradually enlarging the market. But this enlargement has not kept pace with production. When that has doubled we shall probably hear the same story of restricted markets, while hundreds will be as eager to plant new orchards as they are today.

The Brown Tribunal Disappears.

When the committee in the Brown investigation was organized, it was foreseen that it would do nothing. Such an organization was not known in the history of the Congregational Church. It was made up of members of the Bay Association of ministers and the deacons of the church. Its findings, if it made any, would have had little or no weight, because it did not represent any valid tribunal to make a conclusive inquiry. After backing and filling, the committee finally decided that it had nothing to do, thus realizing the old distich: "Since I am so soon done for, I wonder what I was begun for." Two ex-judges, who were originally appointed on the committee, declined to serve after surveying the situation. The committee did not retire until they had expressed confidence in Brown.

The orderly method in the Congregational denomination is to call a council of churches—a representative body of ministers and laymen—to whom is expressly delegated the power to determine a particular issue. The finding having been accepted by the local church, that is the end of the matter. There is no tribunal for appeal. It is within the power of the local church to settle all differences without a council. But it is considered a more orderly proceeding to call for the counsel of other churches. It is remarkable that up to this time, the first step has not been taken in that direction. It is assumed that the trial of the Davidson woman will clear up the horizon and open the way for a final disposition of the whole matter. This playing for points may be good strategy when a tough case is to be won by delay.

Hungary will this year celebrate the one thousandth anniversary of its national history. It has now only a semi-independence. Incorporated with the Austrian Empire, its national character is not lost. Every Austrian king must be crowned in Hungary, or he is not the acknowledged king of that nation. Austria is a dual nation; and Hungary at present seems to be the most prosperous part of that Empire.

We doubted the truth of the report that was in circulation to the effect that Foraker would oppose McKinley's nomination for President. He has published this statement: "I am for McKinley first, last and all the time." It follows that Ohio will have a solid delegation for her favorite son in the Republican convention. What a fortunate circumstance it is for any one to have been born in Ohio.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Montana mines yielded $17,115,000 worth of minerals last year. The copper production of the State was about 65 per cent of the whole product of the United States. The gold product amounted to $4,100,000; silver to 1,500,000 ounces, copper to 212,000 pounds, and lead to 24,500,000 pounds. The gold output was 10 per cent greater than in the previous year and 17 per cent greater than in 1893.

Gold mining in the South is having quite a boom just now, according to reports in the newspapers. The gold mines in North Georgia are said to be doing a profitable business; a company with $2,500,000 capital is about to develop gold mines in West Virginia, and finds of considerable value and importance are reported in North Carolina. It is said that hundreds of miners have recently arrived in the gold fields in Montgomery and Stanley counties, N. C.

Fifty thousand Belgian dogs are employed in dragging small carts about the streets. They are said to have greater pulling power than any other animal, being able easily to pull four times their weight. They are often overloaded and cruelly treated, and an effort is being made to improve their condition by passing laws punishing the use of the whip and kicking, prohibiting the employment of dogs under twenty-two inches shoulder height, and compelling the use of such harness and shafts as will allow the animals to lie down for rest.

During 1895 the London mint struck off 71,215,295 coins, about ten millions more than in 1894. The value of the gold coins was £3,592,625; of the silver coins, £1,196,108, and of the bronze, £10,995.

A 624-karat diamond, the finest ever found in Africa, was discovered at Jagersfontein in the Transvaal on the day after Christmas. When cut it is expected that it will be worth $1,500,000.

Sir Samuel Lewis, K. C. M. G., the coal black negro who was knighted on New Year's Day, is 52 years old. He was educated at Wesley College, Sheffield, and University College, London, was admitted to the bar of the Middle Temple in 1871, and became Chief Justice of Sierra Leone in 1882. Last year he was chosen as the first mayor of the city of Freetown.

A New York paper thus describes the appearance of the great Cunarder, Etruria, which recently steamed into the harbor covered with ice: "What appeared to be a huge crystal steamship passed up the North river, glistening in the sunlight and presenting a beautiful appearance. Rays of green and red light streamed out from the side light towers on either side of the vessel. Although it was noonday, a huge white light, brilliant as a sunburst, burned in the rigging forward of the mainmast. The hull of the craft from water line to hurricane deck was a solid mass of ice. The huge smokestacks were perfectly white. At first glance is looked as if the craft were a mammoth confection."

The most successful photograph ever offered for sale by the famous English photographer, Mr. William Downey, was that of the Princess of Wales with her baby, the future Duchess of Fife, on her back. Mr. Downey states: "We sold 200,000 of that picture alone."

The Goulds will be compelled to pay $600,000 as an inheritance tax into the New York State treasury. Since the income tax failed it might be well for Uncle Sam to try an inheritance tax. It would prove an excellent way of getting back some of the money filched from the government by the bond deals and the establishment of the gold standard.

A woman will be drafted for service in the French army next year for the reason that at her birth she was erroneously registered as a male child. Though the officials are cognizant of the blunder, red tape makes it essential for her to present herself for military duty.

Vienna is much excited over the alleged discovery by Professor Routgens of a new conductor of light whereby an article imbedded in an opaque body can be photographed. The importance of this discovery can hardly be overestimated. Its value in surgery for diagnostic purposes is at once apparent.

Probably the most brilliant woman chess player in the world is Mrs. Nellie Showalter, of Kentucky. She was born in 1872 at Donerail, Ky., and is a direct descendant of Chief Justice Marshall. She was married in 1887 to to Jackson W. Showalter, who taught her to play chess. She will leave Kentucky for Brooklyn in a few weeks to take part in the cable chess match between the women of England and America to be held in April.

Kruger, President of the Transvaal Republic, said when he was traveling in Holland in 1856: "You may protect yourself against the cold air by weather strips, but there is no protection against British infiltration."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

How Royalty Cares for Its Dead.

Among the queerest features of court etiquette of the Old World are those in connection with royal and imperial deaths. This is vividly brought home to one by the grim and almost grusome circumstances surrounding the demise of the Japanese Imperial Prince and Field Marshal, Kitashirakawa, who succumbed the other day to fever while in command of the Mikado's army of occupation in the still unsubdued island of Formosa. Japanese court etiquette requires that no publication or official intimation of the death of a member of the reigning family shall be made until after the celebration of certain mortuary ceremonies in his or her own palace.

* * *

The dead prince was therefore brought all the way back from Formosa to Tokio as a live man. The general order announcing his departure to the troops under his command in Formosa bore his signature, or what purported to be such. The man of war that bore his corpse to the Japanese naval arsenal and seaport of Yokosuka flew no emblem of mourning at its masthead; meals were served in the cabin where the dead prince lay, and the military and naval daily reports were made to his dead ears every morning an evening just as if he were alive.

* * *

On arrival at Yokosuka he was disembarked and received with naval and military honors, as if he had been alive, and his corpse, arrayed in the uniform of field marshal, was seated in a saloon carriage on the railroad, his staff taking their places around him. Arriving at Tokio, he was conveyed, not to a hearse, but to an ordinary coupe, seated in which he was driven to his palace, and it was only on the following day that the public and official announcement of his demise was made.

* * *

The prince was well known in this country, and spent some time in New York just before the outbreak of the war with China. Few people were aware that he at one time bore the title of Mikado. A cousin of the present emperor, he occupied the post of Prince-Abbot of the most important monastery in Japan, at Tokio, when the war between the Tykoon and the present Mikado broke out in 1867. The Tycoon with a view of strengthening his cause, set up the young Prince-Abbot as an opposition Emperor and Mikado, his lineage being fully equal to that of the real Mikado. When the revolution was brought to a close by the victory of the present ruler of Japan, he graciously pardoned his cousin in consequence of his youth, sent him to the United States and Europe for a period of seven years to improve his mind by travel and on his return overwhelmed him with honors. The dead prince was persona gratissma at Berlin and was held in high esteem by the late Emperor William, as well as by his son and grandson.

* * *

The gruesome ride of the dead Japanese prince through the streets of Tokio, as if alive, recalls to mind a similar drive of which Nubar Pasha, who has just resigned the office of Prime Minister of Egypt to take up his permanent residence in France, must retain a vivid memory. When the Khedive Abbas died, strangled by his two ignoble boy favorites in his gloomy and sombre desert palace of Benha, twenty miles from Cairo, where he lived a life that can only be compared to that of the Roman Emperor Tiberius at Capri, Nubar was Governor of Cairo. The news of the despot's death was secretly brought to him in the dead of night. He hurried off to the palace of Benha as fast as the fleetest horse could carry him, and on arriving there placed himself in communication with the head eunuch, giving strict orders that not a soul should be permitted to stir from the palace.

* * *

Ordering the state carriage to be brought to the private entrance, he, assisted by the head eunuch, placed the body of the strangled ruler in a sitting posture within it and, taking his own seat opposite, as usual, the eunuch, mounting the box, drove the twenty miles to Cairo surrounded by guards and the usual pomp in this ghastly companionship, being compelled to use the greatest care to keep the corpse from being tumbled forward upon himself by the jolting of the carriage. Although it was daylight when he reached the city and the streets were crowded, he arrived at the citidel without exciting suspicion, and, once there, caused the guns of the stronghold to be trained on the city, and proclaimed Prince Said as Viceroy, thus crushing the conspiracy which had been organized for the object of bringing Prince Hami to the throne.

* * *

At most of the European courts it is to this day customary for dead personages of royal and imperial rank to hold a sort of levee or reception just before their interment, when all the great dignitaries of the realm and members of the court pass one by one before the august dead, bowing low and kissing the cold and clammy hand of the corpse.

* * *

Even still more strange are the ceremonies that used to be in force in France when that country still enjoyed the advantages—or disadvantages—of a monarchical regime. During the entire forty days that the embalmed corpse of the illustrious dead lay in state in the Cathedral of St. Denis the court ceremonies were carried on within the abbey as though the monarch or prince still lived. The royal or imperial table would be set every night in the refectory and the grand master of ceremonies when dinner was brought up, would proceed in full uniform to the chancel of the church, where the corpse lay rigid and cold, and with a low obeisance, would exclaim:

"Sire, the dinner is served according to your Majesty's orders!"

Then the chamberlain standing on duty beside the corpse would respond with great dignity:

"His Majesty has been graciously pleased to dine already and desires to remain undisturbed," whereupon the master of the ceremonies would back out with the three customary low obeisances to the dead and would order the meal to be taken away.

* * *

After all, the lying in state of deceased monarchs and princes, embalmed, shaven, coiffed and dressed in full uniform to give a lifelike resemblance to the corpse, is a part and parcel of this species of grim comedy which provides that a royal personage, no matter if the breath has left his or her body, shall be regarded as alive until finally laid in the tomb. It is an etiquette which belongs to a bygone age and which should find no place in our present enlightened era, since it savors of something akin to mockery and cannot but be most painful to those near and dear relatives who have been bereaved.

* * *

Yet none of them dare omit it, not even when, as in the case of poor Crown Prince Rudolph of Meverling, the top of his skull and the left side of his head were entirely crushed in by those who took part in that terrible tragedy, and it required the utmost skill on the part of the physicians and embalmers to conceal from the public the traces of the injuries which he had sustained.

* * *

The single instance where the lying in state has been omitted in modern times is that of the late King John of Saxony, a fact which gave rise to the rumor that he had long survived his official funeral, and been detained, in consequence of his homicidal mania, a close prisoner in one of the most inaccessible monasteries of Saxon Switzerland.

A Surprised Detective.

"A young lady, who was possessed of considerable money and a number of jewels sent for me. She had been robbed of some diamonds valued at several hundred dollars. I finally found all but one pin, they having been pawned. I obtained a description of the man who borrowed money upon them, and for several weeks could not locate him. When I did, his landlady said that he had left that morning and was going to Baltimore. I watched the depot, and was soon rewarded by seeing the man step out of a hack. I seized his arm, and said: 'You are arrested!' 'What for?' he asked, in a tone that showed me he was not much surprised, but greatly frightened. 'That will be explained at the station,' I replied. There was a feminine shriek from the hack, and, glancing into the vehicle, I saw it was my fair client. They had just been married and were starting on their wedding trip. I took in the situation at a glance, and then, realizing that I was powerless under the new order of affairs, I said: 'I see now that you are not the man I want,' and let him go. Then he began to bluster, and, taking him aside, I gave him to understand I knew of his robbing the girl to pay the expenses of his courtship, and he quieted down very suddenly."—Washington Star.

George Augustus Sala, in his memoirs, described in an amusing manner the circumstances of his first meeting with Joseph Jefferson, the actor: "One Saturday I saw an advertisement in the papers stating that on the ensuing Monday Mr. Jefferson was to make his appearance at the Adelphi theatre in Dion Boucicault's striking romantic 'Rip Van Winkle.' It seemed to me that I had often met Mr. Jefferson in society in New York, and that we had been on friendly terms; so I wrote him at once at the Charing Cross hotel as follows: 'Dear Old Hoss: Pork and beans tomorrow at 7. Come on.' The letter was duly sent to the hotel, but early on Sunday morning the terrible truth broke on my mind that the actor who had been so friendly to me at New York was not named Jefferson, but had an entirely different appellation, and that I did not know Joseph Jefferson from the man in the moon. How the astounding aberration had come about I cannot tell. I passed the day in moody perturbation. At 7:30 p. m. lo, and behold! Joseph Jefferson in full evening dress made his appearance. 'I wasn't going to miss a good chance,' he said, as he took his seat at our humble board, and we spent a delightful evening."

After the new minister had delivered his first sermon in the Presbyterian church of a little Washington town recently, a deacon approached him and said: "You didn't give us any Latin or Greek in yer sermon today." "No," said the minister, "I did not. I was not aware that the congregation included any who understood those languages." And this was a bit of sarcasm. "Wall, ther ain't none wot duz," replied the deacon; "but we folks up here want to hev wat's going on in them city churches, an' we'll hev to ax yer tu give et tu us."—Northwest Magazine.

REAL ESTATE.

HIS FAITH IN THE MUTUAL LIFE.

Mr. George H. Ripley, for many years president of the Home Life Insurance Company of this city, was a policy holder in The Mutual Life and a persistent one. In 1847 Mr. Ripley became insured in The Mutual Life for $3600. The policy was increased by dividends and finally became a death claim for $11,189.

There are several very remarkable features connected with this policy, viz:

1. The amount of dividend additions credited to the policy at death was more than twice as much as the original insurance.

2. Besides giving a $3600 insurance protection the combined amounts of policy and all premiums paid.

3. Besides giving a $3600 insurance protection for over forty-nine years, the company paid the face of the policy..$3,600
Returned all premiums 4,851

Amount of claim $11,189

Mr. Ripley was a persistent policy holder, always paying the premiums in cash and in full, and while being a life insurance man connected with another company he showed his confidence in The Mutual Life by not insuring in any other institution.

The result attained on this policy is one of the best in the history of the Mutual Life. Commencing with $3600 in 1847 the insurance increased by dividends to $11,189 in 1895.

This is a phenomenal dividend record, probably never before equaled in the history of any other life insurance company.

A Terrible Collision

Occurred late last night directly in front of the Mammoth Furniture stores of J. L. Lyon & Son, at 1250 and 1252½ Broadway. Luckily all their furniture, carpets, ranges, etc., both new and second hand, of which they have an enormous assortment, were inside their store for the night and so no damage was done. Telegraph avenue ran into Broadway.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

WHEAT AND OTHER GRAINS.

WHEAT—An advance at Liverpool was counterbalanced by a decline in Chicago, and as this market follows the latter in preference to the former, easier prices resulted. It was a surface decline, however, as the undercurrent is very strong. Milling has advanced, being very scarce. Buyers are scouring the country for it and sellers are generally asking $1.30.

No. 1, $1.12½; choice, $1.13¾; lower grades, $1@$1.10; extra choice for milling, $1.22@$1.27½.

BARLEY—Is quiet at unchanged prices. Feed, 67½@70c; choice, 71¼c; brewing, 75@82½c; Chevalier, $1.10@$1.20 for No. 1, and 75c@$1 per ctl for off grade.

OATS—Trade was quiet yesterday. Milling, 77½@85c; fancy feed, 85@90c; good to choice, 77½@85c; common to fair, 65@75c; gray, 80@85c; red, for seed, $1@$1.10; black for seed, $1.10@$1.30; ditto for feed, 75@85c; Surprise, 95c@$1.05 per ctl.

CORN—Dull and unchanged. Large yellow, 90c; small round yellow, 90c; white 82½@85c per ctl.

RYE—Is firm and in better demand at 77½@82½c per ctl.

FLOUR AND MILLSTUFFS.

FLOUR—The millers quote unchanged prices. Net cash prices are:

Family extras, $3.65@$3.75; bakers' extras, $3.55@$3.65; superfine, $2.50@$3.00 per barrel.

CORNMEAL—Feed corn, $20; cracked corn, $20.50 per ton.

HAY AND FEEDSTUFFS.

BRAN—Receipts were over 3000 sacks. The market continues easy at $12@$13 per ton, jobbing rates.

MIDDLINGS—$16@$19 for lower grades up to $20.50 per ton for the best.

FEEDSTUFFS—Rolled barley, $16@$17 per ton; oilcake meal at the mill, $21 per ton; jobbing, $22.50; cottonseed oilcake, $21 per ton.

HAY—The heavy rains have at last affected prices and the upper grades are 50c lower.

Wheat, $8@$12; oat, $8@$10; wheat and oat, $7.50@$11; barley, $7@$9.50; alfalfa, $6@$9; clover, $6@$8, compressed, $7.50@$11; stock, $6@$7.50 per ton.

STRAW—35@60c per bale.

BEANS AND SEEDS.

BEANS—Continue dull and unchanged. Bayos, $1@$1.15; small whites, $1.25@$1.60; pea, $1.50@$1.65, large whites, $1.15@$1.25; pink, 90c@$1.12½; reds, $1.35@$1.40; blackeye, $1.75@$1.85; red kidney, $1.75@$1.90; Limas, $2.50@$2.75; butters, $1.60@$1.70 per ctl.

SEEDS—Quoted as follows: Brown mustard, $1.95@$2.05; trieste, $2@$2.20; yellow mustard, $1.10@$1.60; flax, $1.70@$1.75 per ctl; canary, 3¼@3½c per lb; alfalfa, 6½@7c; rape 1¾@2c; hemp, 4c.

DRIED PEAS—Nominal at $1.25@$1.50 per ctl for Niles.

POTATOES, ONIONS, VEGETABLES.

POTATOES—Yesterday's arrivals were large and included 4606 sacks from Oregon. Salinas Burbanks, 60@70c; river Burbanks, 25@40c per sack; Oregon Burbanks, 50@75c; Oregon Garnet Chiles, 65@70c; river reds, 45@55c per ctl.

ONIONS—Arrivals of over 900 sacks and the market was weaker at 85c@$1; cut onions, 50@75c; Oregon, $1@$1.15 asked.

BUTTER, CHEESE AND EGGS.

BUTTER—The situation shows no change whatever.

Creamery—Fancy, 27@28c; seconds, 25@26c per lb.

Dairy—Fancy, 24@25c; good to choice, 22@23c; lower grades, 18@21c.

CHEESE—Quoted as follows: Fancy mild new, 12½@13c, common to good, 8@10c; cream cheddar, 11@12c; young America, 11@12c; western, 11@12c; eastern, 12@13c per lb.

EGGS—There is no real reason for a decline, as receipts are small, but prices are going down all the same.

Store eggs, 11@15c; ranch eggs, 17½c per dozen.

POULTRY AND GAME.

POULTRY—Nothing new. There is still some unsold Eastern stock on hand, with another car due in two or three days.

Live turkeys, 13@14c per lb for gobblers, and 11c for hens, dressed turkeys, 16@18c; geese, per pair, $1.25@$1.75; ducks, $5.50@$6.50 per doz; hens, $4@$5; roosters, young, $4.50@$5.50, do, old, $4@$4.50; fryers, $4.50@$5; broilers, $4.50 for large and $3@$4 for small; pigeons, $1.50@$2 per dozen for young and $1@$1.25 for old.

GAME—With one or two exceptions prices are lower.

Hare, 75c@$1 per dozen; rabbits, $1.25@$1.50 for cottontails and $1 for small; gray geese, $2.50@$3, white geese, 75c@$1; brant, $1.25@$1.50; honkers, $3@$3.50; English snipe, $2.50; jack snipe, $1.25@$1.50.

DECIDUOUS AND CITRUS FRUITS.

APPLES—We quote 85c@$1 per box for good to choice, 50@75c for common to fair, and $1.25@$1.50 for fancy.

CITRUS FRUITS—The great majority of oranges on the market are either frozen or frostbitten and are slow of sale in consequence and much lower. The freeze in the southern part of the State a month or so ago turns out much more serious than was supposed at the time.

Oranges, $1@$1.50 per box for seedlings, and $1.25@$2.25 for Navels; badly frosted stock goes still lower, lemons, $1@$1.50 for common and $2@$2.50 for good to choice; California limes, 75c@$1; Mexican limes, $5@$6; bananas, $1@$2 per bunch; pineapples, $2.50@$6 per dozen.

SAN FRANCISCO MEAT MARKET.

Mutton and lamb have advanced. Beef and pork are firm.

Wholesale rates for dressed stock from the slaughterers are as follows:

BEEF—First quality, 5@6c; second quality, 4@5c; third do, 3½@4c per lb.

VEAL—Large, 5@6c; small, 6@7c per lb.

MUTTON—Wethers 6½@7c; ewes, 6@6½c per lb.

LAMB—Spring, 12½c; yearlings, 7@8c per lb.

PORK—Live hogs, 3¾c for large and 3¾c for small; dressed do, 4½@5¼c per lb.

THE WEATHER.

The pressure has fallen generally over the Rocky mountain region and eastward. It is rising along the Pacific slope. There are no well marked disturbances on the map this morning. It has rained during the past twelve hours in the Sacramento valley, the San Joaquin valley and the coast of California from San Francisco southward. Rains have been heavy in the valleys. Fair and partly cloudy weather prevails over the larger portion of the Pacific coast. The temperature has remained stationary except in Southern Nevada and in the vicinity of Independence, where it has fallen. The Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries are still high, and the main streams will probably continue to rise for about twelve hours. The stage at Sacramento will probably reach twenty-seven feet. A fall in the rivers may be looked for Wednesday night. The tributaries will begin to fall earlier.

FORECAST MADE AT SAN FRANCISCO FOR 36 HOURS ENDING 5 P. M., JANUARY 29, 1896.

Northern California—Showers in the Sacramento valley this afternoon; fair tonight and Wednesday; light variable winds.

SAN FRANCISCO AND VICINITY.

Fair tonight and Wednesday; light westerly winds. A. McADIE, Local Forecast Official.

TUESDAY..... JANUARY 28, 1896.

It is among the latest news items that Venezuela has declared a commercial war against Great Britain. The newspapers of that country contain a standing proclamation that "whoever buys English goods increases the power of Great Britain." For two months from January 14th the press will publish daily the names of all foreign merchants who are dealing in any manner with England or her colonies. Spunky Venezuela will now make war by means of a boycott.

There is probably truth in the story that the Boers sold their rights in the South African gold mines for $800,000 and that the same are now worth $8,000,000. The Boers wanted nothing to do with mines; they are an agricultural people. In the early days the Mormons, for the same reason, wanted nothing to do with mines. Brigham Young for a long time advised his people to let mining severely alone. It might have been good advice for that time; but is hardly good for these times.

We take no stock in this story, although it is printed and reprinted in some of the Eastern papers. "The latest rumor at Washington about Senator Hill's matrimonial possibilities is that he is going to marry the widow of Senator George Hearst of California. She has a beautiful home in Washington and has a fortune of $25,000,000, most of which, however, would go to her son, William R. Hearst of San Francisco and New York, if she should marry again. We don't believe that David has any chance there."

That part of the Federal grant for agricultural colleges due to Connecticut was originally assigned to Yale College, which had for a long time maintained an agricultural department. But the State undertook to establish the Storrs Agricultural School and diverted the grant to that institution. Commissioners were appointed by the State to decide on the justice of the award. The commissioners have reported that there is due to Yale College a little more than $154,000, which substantially turns the award over to that institution.

This news comes down from the State of Washington: The rich gold discoveries of Forty Mile Creek, in Alaska, belong to the United States, and not Great Britain. The 141st meridian of longitude has been accurately determined by an employe of the British Government and properly marked at certain places. Gen. Duffield the chief of the Coast Survey, says it shows that only sixteen miles of the creek as the bird flies, and but twenty-three miles as the water flows is in British territory, and that in this portion no gold has been discovered.

The spring rush of prospectors to the Yukon gold fields has already begun. Seventy-five prospectors have already set out for Alaska.

About once in two months the old railroad chestnut is started out on its rounds, or a similar one. This, for instance, will do for a sample. It is sent from Pacific Grove to a Fresno paper. "President Jones of the Monterey and Fresno Railroad has started East to sell $200,000 in bonds. His secretary states that $400,000 in bonds have been sold here on condition that he sells $200,000 more in the East. The colonel feels confident of the sale, and says an Eastern firm has been pledged to take the construction and equipment of the road from Monterey to Hollister. The road will be 160 miles long and will pass through some of the finest fruit and grain land in the State. The directors have secured the water frontage of Monterey, said to be worth $1,000,000." It has never been made to appear that anybody was interested in this railroad scheme but Colonel Jones, who appears to be about of the same stripe as some of the railroad men who offered to build a railroad from Oakland to Stockton if somebody would put up the capital.

Florida Citrus Growers Coming to California.

Florida is replanting her orange groves. The cold killed thousands of young trees and cut the old ones down nearly to the ground. That disaster has been repeated three or four times in Florida. The result is that many citrus men are discouraged and are determined to begin anew in California. The cold in the orange belt of Northern California did not this year drop below 32 degrees. Not an orange was frosted. No trees were killed. The crop ripened just about a month earlier than it did in Southern California.

Every immigrant from Florida who proposes to plant an orange grove in California should have a full knowledge of these facts. Having had his crops and trees twice destroyed in Florida within a few years, if he makes a new move now, he will want to go beyond the frost line. There are better opportunities now for citrus planting in the northern counties than there are in Southern California. The orange belt, or that which is known to be such is nearly quite as large in these northern counties, and not ten per cent of it is occupied for citrus culture.

It is believed that this very year the citrus growers in that region received an average of much better prices for their product than have the citrus growers of Southern California. All these statements are of special interest to the Florida citrus men who propose to come to California. The misleading statements that have been made in former years have kept back this northern citrus belt from rapid improvement. But these falsehoods have been hunted down. One of the great orange belts of the future will be in Northern California. There is not a single district in this belt where the record of cold is as great by eight or ten degrees as it is at Riverside and some of the other districts in that vicinity.

The Problem of the Fruit Growers.

The Santa Clara fruit growers have called a meeting to consider what is to be done in view of the prospect of a greatly increased fruit production in that county and in other parts of the State. The crop of last year was below the average, and yet it appeared to be ample to meet all the demands of distant markets. The fruit acreage is rapidly increasing. There is every prospect that it may double twice in the next ten years. Planting will go on as long as there is any prospect of getting paying returns from fruit crops. A large acreage will come into bearing this year. A still larger one next year.

Now, all these probabilities are foreseen. People will not stop planting because down in Santa Clara county the prune crop sometimes overstocks the market. The fact is carefully concealed that in that county fortunes have been made from the cultivation of this single fruit, even with the strong competition of French prunes. Last year the supply of California fruit seemed to meet the demand of the market. But it is to be noted that when the supply was only one-fourth as large, it also met the demands of the market, because the latter had only been made large enough to take this limited product.

With the proposal that fruit production may double in California in the next five years, because the non-bearing area is nearly as large as that in bearing, the only practical thing to do is to enlarge the market. It is absurd to say that the California product is meeting the wants of 70,000,000 people. The greater part of these do not consume the fruit of this State because they cannot get it. The fruit growers have been gradually enlarging the market. But this enlargement has not kept pace with production. When that has doubled we shall probably hear the same story of restricted markets, while hundreds will be as eager to plant new orchards as they are today.

The Brown Tribunal Disappears.

When the committee in the Brown investigation was organized, it was foreseen that it would do nothing. Such an organization was not known in the history of the Congregational Church. It was made up of members of the Bay Association of ministers and the deacons of the church. Its findings, if it made any, would have had little or no weight, because it did not represent any valid tribunal to make a conclusive inquiry. After backing and filling, the committee finally decided that it had nothing to do, thus realizing the old distich: 'Since I am so soon done for, I wonder what I was begun for." Two ex-judges, who were originally appointed on the committee, declined to serve after surveying the situation. The committee did not retire until they had expressed confidence in Brown.

The orderly method in the Congregational denomination is to call a council of churches—a representative body of ministers and laymen—to whom is expressly delegated the power to determine a particular issue. The finding having been accepted by the local church, that is the end of the matter. There is no tribunal for appeal. It is within the power of the local church to settle all differences without a council. But it is considered a more orderly proceeding to call for the counsel of other churches. It is remarkable that up to this time, the first step has not been taken in that direction. It is assumed that the trial of the Davidson woman will clear up the horizon and open the way for a final disposition of the whole matter. This playing for points may be good strategy when a tough case is to be won by delay.

Hungary will this year celebrate the one thousandth anniversary of its national history. It has now only a semi-independence. Incorporated with the Austrian Empire, its national character is not lost. Every Austrian king must be crowned in Hungary, or he is not the acknowledged king of that nation. Austria is a dual nation; and Hungary at present seems to be the most prosperous part of that Empire.

We doubted the truth of the report that was in circulation to the effect that Foraker would oppose McKinley's nomination for President. He has published this statement: "I am for McKinley first, last and all the time." It follows that Ohio will have a solid delegation for her favorite son in the Republican convention. What a fortunate circumstance it is for any one to have been born in Ohio.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Montana mines yielded $47,125,000 worth of minerals last year. The copper production of the State was about 65 per cent of the whole product of the United States. The gold product amounted to $1,100,000, silver to 4,500,000 ounces, copper to 212,000 pounds, and lead to 21,500,000 pounds. The gold output was 40 per cent greater than in the previous year and 17 per cent greater than in 1893.

Gold mining in the South is having quite a boom just now, according to reports in the newspapers. The gold mines in North Georgia are said to be doing a profitable business, a company with $2,000,000 capital is about to develop gold mines in West Virginia, and there is of considerable value and importance are reported in North Carolina. It is said that hundreds of miners have recently arrived in the gold fields in Montgomery and Stanley counties, N. C.

Fifty thousand Brazilian dogs are employed in dragging small carts about the streets. They are said to have greater pulling power than any other animal, being able easily to pull four times their weight. They are often overloaded and cruelly treated, and an effort is being made to improve their condition by passing laws punishing the use of the whip and kicking, prohibiting the employment of dogs under twenty-two inches shoulder height, and compelling the use of such harness and shafts as will allow the animals to lie down for rest.

During 1895 the London mint struck off 72,215,905 coins, about ten millions more than in 1894. The value of the gold coins was £3,502,625; of the silver coins, £1,196,168, and of the bronze, £10,905.

A 631-karat diamond, the finest ever found in Africa, was discovered at Jagersfontein in the Transvaal on the day after Christmas. When cut it is expected that it will be worth $1,500,000.

Sir Samuel Lewis, K. C. M. G., the coal black negro who was knighted on New Year's Day, is 52 years old. He was educated at Wesley College, Sheffield, and University College, London, was admitted to the bar of the Middle Temple in 1871, and became Chief Justice of Sierra Leone in 1882. Last year he was chosen as the first mayor of the city of Freetown.

A New York paper thus describes the appearance of the great Cunarder, Etruria, which recently steamed into the harbor covered with ice: "What appeared to be a huge crystal steamship passed up the North river, glistening in the sunlight and presenting a beautiful appearance. Rays of green and red light streamed out from the side light towers on either side of the vessel. Although it was noonday, a huge white light, brilliant as a sunburst, burned in the rigging forward of the mainmast. The hull of the craft from water line to hurricane deck was a solid mass of ice. The huge smokestacks were perfectly white. At first glance is looked as if the craft were a mammoth confection."

The most successful photograph ever offered for sale by the famous English photographer, Mr. William Downey, was that of the Princess of Wales with her baby, the future Duchess of Fife, on her back. Mr. Downey states: "We sold 300,000 of that picture alone."

The Goulds will be compelled to pay $500,000 as an inheritance tax into the New York State treasury. Since the income tax failed it might be well for Uncle Sam to try an inheritance tax. It would prove an excellent way of getting back some of the money filched from the government by the bond deals and the establishment of the gold standard.

A woman will be drafted for service in the French army next year for the reason that at her birth she was erroneously registered as a male child. Though the officials are cognizant of the blunder, red tape makes it essential for her to present herself for military duty.

Vienna is much excited over the alleged discovery by Professor Routgens of a new conductor of light whereby an article imbedded in an opaque body can be photographed. The importance of this discovery can hardly be overestimated. Its value in surgery for diagnostic purposes is at once apparent.

Probably the most brilliant woman chess player in the world is Mrs. Nellie Showalter, of Kentucky. She was born in 1872 at Donerail, Ky., and is a direct descendant of Chief Justice Marshall. She was married in 1887 to to Jackson W. Showalter, who taught her to play chess. She will leave Kentucky for Brooklyn in a few weeks to take part in the cable chess match between the women of England and America to be held in April.

Kruger, President of the Transvaal Republic, said when he was traveling in Holland in 1886: "You may protect yourself against the cold air by weather strips, but there is no protection against British infiltration."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

How Royalty Cares for Its Dead.

Among the queerest features of court etiquette of the Old World are those in connection with royal and imperial deaths. This is vividly brought home to one by the grim and almost gruesome circumstances surrounding the demise of the Japanese Imperial Prince and Field Marshal, Kitashirakawa, who succumbed the other day to fever while in command of the Mikado's army of occupation in the still unsubdued island of Formosa. Japanese court etiquette requires that no publication or official intimation of the death of a member of the reigning family shall be made until after the celebration of certain mortuary ceremonies in his or her own palace.

* * *

The dead prince was therefore brought all the way back from Formosa to Tokio as a live man. The general order announcing his departure to the troops under his command in Formosa bore his signature, or what purported to be such. The man of war that bore his corpse to the Japanese naval arsenal, and seaport of Yokosuka flew no emblem of mourning at its masthead; meals were served in the cabin where the dead prince lay, and the military and naval daily reports were made to his deaf ears every morning an evening just as if he were alive.

* * *

On arrival at Yokosuka he was disembarked and received with naval and military honors, as if he had been alive, and his corpse, arrayed in the uniform of field marshal, was seated in a saloon carriage on the railroad, his staff taking their places around him. Arriving at Tokio, he was conveyed, not to a house, but to an ordinary coupe seated in which he was driven to his palace, and it was only on the following day that the public and official announcement of his demise was made.

* * *

The prince was well known in this country, and spent some time in New York just before the outbreak of the war with China. Few people were aware that he at one time bore the title of Mikado. A cousin of the present emperor, he occupied the post of Prince-Abbot of the most important monastery in Japan at Tokio, when the war between the Tykoon and the present Mikado broke out in 1867. The Tycoon with a view of strengthening his cause, set up the young Prince-Abbot as an opposition Emperor and Mikado, his lineage being fully equal to that of the real Mikado. When the revolution was brough to a close by the victory of the present ruler of Japan, he graciously pardoned his cousin in consequence of his youth, sent him to the United States and Europe for a period of seven years to improve his mind by travel and on his return overwhelmed him with honors. The dead prince was personal gentleman at Berlin and was held in high esteem by the late Emperor William, as well as by his son and grandson.

* * *

The gruesome ride of the dead Japanese prince through the streets of Tokio, as if alive, recalls to mind a similar drive of which Nubar Pasha, who has just resigned the office of Prime Minister of Egypt to take up his permanent residence in France, must retain a vivid memory. When the Khedive Abbas died strangled by his two Ilgnoble boy favorites in his gloomy and sombre desert palace of Benha, twenty miles from Cairo, where he lived a life that can only be compared to that of the Roman Emperor Tiberius at Capri Nubar was Governor of Cairo. The news of the despot's death was secretly brought to him in the dead of night. He hurried off to the palace of Benha as fast as the fleetest horse could carry him, and on arriving there placed himself in communication with the head eunuch giving strict orders that not a soul should be permitted to stir from the palace.

* * *

Ordering the state carriage to be brought to the private entrance, he, assisted by the head eunuch, placed the body of the strangled ruler in a sitting posture within it and, taking his own seat opposite as usual, the eunuch mounting the box, drove the twenty miles to Cairo surrounded by guards and the usual pomp in this ghastly companionship, being compelled to use the greatest care to keep the corpse from being tumbled forward upon himself by the jolting of the carriage. Although it was daylight when he reached the city and the streets were crowded, he arrived at the citidel without exciting suspicion, and once there caused the guns of the stronghold to be trained on the city, and proclaimed Prince Said as Viceroy, thus crushing the conspiracy which had been organized for the object of bringing Prince Hami to the throne.

* * *

At most of the European courts it is to this day customary for dead personages of royal and imperial rank to hold a sort of levee or reception just before their interment, when all the great dignitaries of the realm and members of the court pass one by one before the august dead, bowing low and kissing the cold and clammy hand of the corpse.

* * *

Even still more strange are the ceremonies that used to be in force in France when that country still enjoyed the advantages—or disadvantages—of a monarchical regime. During the entire forty days that the embalmed corpse of the illustrious dead lay in state in the Cathedral of St. Denis the court ceremonies were carried on within the abbey as though the monarch or prince still lived. The royal or imperial table would be set every night in the refectory and the grand master of ceremonies when dinner was brought up, would proceed in full uniform to the chancel of the church, where the corpse lay rigid and cold, and with a low obeisance, would exclaim:

"Sire, the dinner is served according to your Majesty's orders!"

Then the chamberlain standing on duty beside the corpse would respond with great dignity:

"His Majesty has been graciously pleased to dine already and desires to remain undisturbed," whereupon the master of the ceremonies would back out with the three customary low obeisances to the dead and would order the meal to be taken away.

* * *

After all, the lying in state of deceased monarchs and princes, embalmed, shaven, coiffed and dressed in full uniform to give a lifelike resemblance to the corpse, is a part and parcel of this species of grim comedy which provides that a royal personage, no matter if the breath has left his or her body, shall be regarded as alive until finally laid in the tomb. It is an etiquette which belongs to a bygone age and which should find no place in our present enlightened era, since it savors of something akin to mockery and cannot but be most painful to those near and dear relatives who have been bereaved.

* * *

Yet none of them dare omit it, not even when, as in the case of poor Crown Prince Rudolph of Meverling, the top of his skull and the left side of his head were entirely crushed in by those who took part in that terrible tragedy, and it required the utmost skill on the part of the physicians and embalmers to conceal from the public the traces of the injuries which he had sustained.

* * *

The single instance where the lying in state has been omitted in modern times is that of the late King John of Saxony, a fact which gave rise to the rumor that he had long survived his official funeral, and been detained, in consequence of his homicidal mania, a close prisoner in one of the most inaccessible monasteries of Saxon Switzerland.

A Surprised Detective.

"A young lady, who was possessed of considerable money and a number of jewels sent for me. She had been robbed of some diamonds valued at several hundred dollars. I finally found all but one pin, they having been pawned. I obtained a description of the man who borrowed money upon them, and for several weeks could not locate him. When I did, his landlady said that he had left that morning and was going to Baltimore. I watched the depot, and was soon rewarded by seeing the man step out of a hack. I seized his arm, and said: 'You are arrested!' 'What for?' he asked, in a tone that showed me he was not much surprised, but greatly frightened. 'That will be explained at the station,' I replied. There was a feminine shriek from the hack, and, glancing into the vehicle, I saw it was my fair client. They had just been married and were starting on their wedding trip. I took in the situation at a glance, and then, realizing that I was powerless under the new order of affairs, I said: 'I see now that you are not the man I want,' and let him go. Then he began to bluster, and, taking him aside, I gave him to understand I knew of his robbing the girl to pay the expenses of his courtship, and he quieted down very suddenly."—Washington Star.

George Augustus Sala, in his memoirs, described in an amusing manner the circumstances of his first meeting with Joseph Jefferson, the actor: "One Saturday I saw an advertisement in the papers stating that on the ensuing Monday Mr. Jefferson was to make his appearance at the Adelphi theatre in Dion Boucicault's striking romantic 'Rip Van Winkle.' It seemed to me that I had often met Mr. Jefferson in society in New York, and that we had been on friendly terms; so I wrote him at once at the Charing Cross hotel as follows: 'Dear Old Hoss: Pork and beans tomorrow at 7. Come on.' The letter was duly sent to the hotel, but early on Sunday morning the terrible truth broke on my mind that the actor who had been so friendly to me at New York was not named Jefferson, but had an entirely different appellation, and that I did not know Joseph Jefferson from the man in the moon. How the astounding aberration had come about I cannot tell. I passed the day in moody perturbation. At 7:30 p. m. lo, and behold! Joseph Jefferson in full evening dress made his appearance. 'I wasn't going to miss a good chance,' he said, as he took his seat at our humble board, and we spent a delightful evening."

After the new minister had delivered his first sermon in the Presbyterian church of a little Washington town recently, a deacon approached him and said. "You didn't give us any Latin or Greek in yer sermon today." "No," said the minister, "I did not. I was not aware that the congregation included any who understood those languages." And this was a bit of sarcasm. "Wall, ther ain't none wot duz," replied the deacon; "but we folks up here want to hev wat's going on in them city churches, an' we'll hev to ox yer tu give et tu us."—Northwest Magazine.

Corral Hollow's Coal Mines Are Rich in Buried Treasure.

A TRIP TO THE SCENE.

An Enormous Industry to Be Developed for This Section.

Cement, Firebrick and Glass Are All Awaiting Enterprise.

The following description of the Corral Hollow coal mines is from the special midwinter edition of the Livermore Herald:

In going from Livermore to the mines the first thing of interest is the portal of the tunnel, continuing to ascend the canon, we come upon some ruins which mark the places where work was done on these coal veins years before all the land having value for coal was purchased and consolidated by Mr. John Treadwell. Still continuing to ascend, the top of the divide is finally reached. From this point a good view of the "Hollow" and the surrounding country is obtained. The steep descent is then commenced, until the works finally appear and the bottom of the "Hollow" is reached. Donning miners' clothes we entered the tunnel shown in the cut. This tunnel is 10 feet by 10 feet, 3000 feet long, and has double tracks. It crosses 10 or 12 coal veins, measuring from 16 inches to 10½ feet in width, and cuts them some 700 feet below the surface.

The first vein encountered is quite a distance in, and is 5½ feet thick; a gallery was driven on this vein 700 feet, all in coal. Coming out of this gallery we enter the main tunnel and shortly come upon a vein 16 inches thick; continuing several hundred feet we come to another one which is 6 feet wide.

Thirty feet further on we come to one which is 10½ feet wide; turning to the left from the main tunnel we enter a gallery driven on this vein for a distance of over one-third of a mile; after a short distance in we come to the hoisting works. At this point a slope has been sunk 415 feet. Mounting the skip we were slowly lowered until we reached a depth of 200 feet. At this point long galleries are driven both ways, and for the first time an idea of the vast quantity of coal overhead can be formed. Mounting the skip we were again lowered until we reached a lower gallery. We produce a reproduction of a flash-light picture taken at this station which but feebly conveys an idea of the tremendous size of the vein.

We descended still further and explored more galleries; finally being hoisted to the tunnel level, we proceeded to the face of the main gallery, stopping en route to examine upraises and crosscuts of other veins. Returning we again entered the main tunnel, and soon came upon innumerable small veins, running from one to two feet in width until we finally reached one which is seven feet wide. Here another long gallery is driven, and an upraise 650 feet creates a draft that extinguished our light very frequently. We climbed up in this raise; nothing but coal greets the eye. By this time the scribe was thoroughly fatigued and was glad to get back to daylight, having traveled over three miles underground.

Partaking of a bounteous lunch, we visited the new shaft, which is 11 feet by 22 feet, 300 feet deep, and is being sunk five feet a day. Entering the buggy we were driven down the canon, which is practically level, and visited numerous tunnels and shafts along the course of the veins, which have been traced and explored over a distance of six miles. A personal investigation will convince the most skeptical that there is coal enough there to supply the needs of the State for the next fifty years; and if anyone doubts its quality they need only open the doors of the boilers to be persuaded that it makes a very hot fire. It burns equally well in the stoves, and it required a good, strong fire the day of our visit to dispel the chill of the San Joaquin fog that had drifted in.

OTHER INDUSTRIES.

The citizens of Livermore, and the people generally, will be interested in learning that other industries will spring up and new enterprises be inaugurated.

On the lands of the company are found beds of clay and reefs of limestone of unexceptional excellence and purity. These are two raw materials employed in the manufacture of cement, of which a large amount is annually used. Although it is brought from Germany and England as ballast, the price nevertheless ranges from $2.25 to $3.50 per barrel of 400 pounds.

Persons skilled in the manufacture of cement, and who are familiar with the raw materials found in Corral Hollow, state that cement equal to the best imported can be made there for 80 cents per barrel, and the annual consumption is placed at 400,000 barrels. Wealthy cement manufacturers are already negotiating with the company for the sole rights to manufacture cement and lime, so that the erection of large works for that purpose will proceed shortly.

There is also situated upon the company's land a bed of clay suitable for the manufacture of fire brick and other refractory articles. As there is a large demand in that line this industry will undoubtedly soon be established.

A sand for glass-making purposes is also found here. At present the glass manufacturing industry in California is confined entirely to the manufacture of bottles. Let us hope that this industry will be materially enlarged at Corral Hollow. We can't do too much manufacturing. With our tremendous natural resources we would soon become the richest State in the Union if we did our own manufacturing, and thus stop the tremendous drain of gold necessary to pay for the manufactured articles we import. We export the raw materials and import the finished product.

The placing of Corral Hollow coal on the market will alter this state of affairs, because this coal will be sold at a figure which will enable manufacturers to exist. Heretofore prices were so high as to be prohibitive. By reason of cheap fuel from these mines great changes will occur in the State in the next few years.

Old fogies and pessimists have always declared that California would never be among the manufacturing States on account of lack of cheap fuel. This restriction is now removed, and manufactures will spring into existence. Thousands of skilled operatives will find employment here and every artery of trade will share the benefits of cheap fuel and increased population.

Another interesting bit of news to the citizens of Livermoe, Stockton., San Jose and intervening towns is the contemplated erection of an electric light and power plant at the mines. The contract for the erection of a 5,000 horse-power plant has been entered into. The plant is designed to burn what is generally considered waste at other coal mines. Light and power will be supplied to any town within a radius of forty miles, and will be a boon to many of the interior towns, where high-priced fuel makes electric light a luxury. A careful review of all the facts proves conclusively that no single enterprise ever inaugurated will have such a deep and changing effect on the general prosperity of the State as this one.

"Cheap fuel" has been the cry, and at last we have attained it.

However, a pilot has been sent to the steamer in the hope that the vessel may be floated soon.

The cargo is still being discharged and another effort will be made next high tide to pull the steamer into deep water.

Regent Reinstein Suggests a Relay System for Students.

FOUR HOURS WORK A DAY.

Work on the Proposed Roads Will Shortly Be Started.

Desire to Get a First-Class Team for This Season.

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—In ten days the University cadets will don their overalls and jumpers and become a pick and shovel brigade. Regent Reinstein has now decided upon the plan of managing the student labor, and in a long letter published in today's "Berkeleyan" has completely mapped out what is expected from them. They are to first break ground within ten days from today, and the new Regent says he has the utmost confidence that every man will perform his task faithfully.

In consequence of the students' strict drill in army regulations, the managing of the working force will be carried out in military rule. The entire body will be divided into two squads, under command of Superintendent McLaren of Golden Gate Park. Each of these squads will be subdivided and placed in charge of McLaren's lieutenants, skilled workmen from San Francisco. Those who are enrolled in the first squad will be requested to report at 8 in the morning and work until 10, and then lay off for three hours. The second squad must begin at 10 and work till 12. At 1 o'clock the first squad resumes work until 3. At 3 the second squad comes on again and finishes the day's work at 5. Thus each student works for four hours and is at leisure to rest for six hours, which will not make it so burdensome as expected. It is understood that a complete cessation of University exercises will be granted for a week while the work is in progress, but this has not been definitely decided as yet.

The new Regent greatly regrets that all the plans originally proposed have been knocked out and modifications of them substituted by the committee on grounds. He says: "The proposed plans would have made a very effective, complete improvement, which would have appealed to the eye. The campus would have been one great green sward. What is permitted, however, will at least give easy and excellent approach from Center street and around North hall and across the main path. The plans have been modified so thoroughly that only the following is permitted: First, footpath fifteen feet wide from Center street to second bridge on line proposed by Mr. McLaren and surveyed by Professor Soule; second, cutting down around North hall; third, shaving down main path and possibly some few other slight changes will be allowed by the committee."

The grounds were selected as the first field for work, because the time is ripe for improvement and the benefit will be most general. Many of the other Regents, however, appear to doubt the seriousness of the "We will" so lustily shouted by the cadets when Reinstein asked them if they were willing to perform manual labor for the sake of their Alma Mater. The new appointee takes a shot at them in his letter, and refers to them as "those Regents who have not graduated from the University, and are consequently, of course, talking through their tiles." If the students in whom Reinstein has put all his hope and trust should fail him in his hour of need, their conduct would be apt to sear his warm heart so badly that he will resort to the breach of promise suit to even up matters.

WHEELER RESIGNS.

Much surprise has been created in college circles by the resignation of Wheeler, '96, from the team which is to represent California in the Carnot medal debate against Stanford. Wheeler gives as his excuse press of college work and that he cannot give his undivided attention to the debate. While his resignation is received with regret, it does not lessen the confidence of the Berkeleyites, as young Fryer, the freshman, will step into Wheeler's place. Fryer is the first freshman to enter an inter-collegiate debate, but many in the University consider him the equal of Wheeler.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The freshman-sophomore baseball game for the silver cup will not take place tomorrow, as the rain has played havoc with the diamond. The game will be postponed for a week. Meantime, Captain Blasingame of '98 will have a few practices to determine upon the make-up of his team. The most important contest after the inter-class game will be the one between the glee club and the members of the football team. This is expected to be one of the society events of the season, as the sweet carolers have as many lady friends as the knights of the gridiron. "Brick" Morse and Charles Elston, the tenors, will form the battery for the singers, and the footballers are endeavoring to beat the combination. The game will be played on January 8th.

MUST PAY UP.

The California Bridge and Construction Company has instituted proceedings against the property owners who are delinquent in their assessment for the South Line Main sewer. Two years ago the company constructed the sewer, and a number of property owners refused to settle for their portion of the assessment. Liens were therefore filed against them, which will expire tomorrow. Unless a settlement is made today, foreclosure suits will be commenced immediately. The number of delinquents is 100, and the amount involved about $3000.

TRAINING COMMENCED.

About thirty-five athletes met Captain Merwin in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon to receive his instructions as to training for the coming meet with Stanford. "If the team proves itself worthy," said the captain, "we will probably go against colleges outside of the State. Otherwise we will not. The matter rests entirely in your hands." After giving them instructions, Merwin required the athletes to sign the roll for gymnasium work. All those who signed must be on hand every night, or their names will be dropped. The principal athletes who signed are Merwin, Koch, Barnes, Torrey, Chick, Dean, Hupp, Carver, Hilton, Edgren, Dorn, Brown, Reeves, Anderson, Starr, Bakewell, Baugh, Dozier, Holden, Pierce, Pache, Lloyd, Dresser, Gilesberg, Hooper, Houghton, Houston, Dexter, Crafts, Stedman, Perley, Marmon and Carroli.

HERE AND THERE.

The directors of the Crescent Athletic club met last evening to arrange for the next gentlemen's evening. It is expected to be held on February 5th, when a good programme can be presented.

Rodgers denies statements to the effect that he will not appear to prosecute the students whom he alleges severely beat him several nights ago.

The Students' Congress will meet tomorrow night to discuss the Cuban question.

The seniors are pulling wires with all their might. The class election takes place Friday afternoon.

The members of the Law College will not escape without some lampooning in the "Blue and Gold" this year. Editor Case has requested President Maguire of the junior class at Hastings to appoint an assistant editor to keep his eye peeled for jokes at Hastings.

"Josh" made its appearance today and sold rapidly.

The Berkeley merchants are determined to compel the Town Trustees to repeal the ordinance levying a tax on wagons doing business within the town limits. The ordinance was aimed at Oakland produce men, but is reacting against the local men, and has the effect of a boycott. None of the Contra Costa farmers will sell their crops to merchants in Berkeley because of the tax, and they have found themselves shunned and alone. Hence the prayer for repeal.

ROW OVER AN ESTATE.

Application Is Made in Court for a Change of Assignee.

Application has been made to the Superior Court for the removal of attorney George H. Perry as assignee of the estate of Louis Meyer, the restaurant man of San Francisco, who is trying to secure a discharge from insolvency. The application was made on an affidavit filed by Charles E. Brown, a creditor of Meyer, who charges Perry with generally mismanaging and neglecting the duties of his position as a protector of the interests of the creditors.

Brown recites that Perry has not pursued all the available assets of the defunct firm and charges that Perry failed to obtain the best terms possible on real estate belonging to Meyer that was sold for the benefit of the creditors.

He also alleges that Perry failed to comply with the provisions of the insolvency law in neglecting within three months of the date of his appointment to file a true and just account of all the receipts and payments.

Brown has also filed a demand for wages. He says he was employed on May 3rd last as a fryer in the restaurant. There is a balance of $25 due him, he says, and he seeks an order of court to secure its payment.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Business Transacted at the Meeting of the City Society.

The Oakland City Christian Endeavor Society held its regular monthly meeting in the Y. M. C. A.'s hall last evening in the Y. M. C. A.'s hall last even the programme, less business being transacted, and a greater part of the evening given to social and spiritual pursuits.

The meeting was opened by a short praise service, followed by devotional exercises. The roll being called, Miss Emma McCormick rendered a vocal solo in creditable style. John Walling, the composer played one of his own pieces, and also sang in a quartette consisting of himself, Misses Emma and Mary McCormack, and E. C. Gilbert.

The musical programme was followed by an address on "Lookout Committee Work," by Dr. Sanborn, after which a general discussion followed. Among those who spoke were Rev. Barton Perry, Rev. McCullum, A. J. McMurtray, R. M. Brown, Messrs. Bacon, Kaig and McKee. The latter is editor of the Pacific Coast Endeavor.

The next sunrise praise service will be held in the First Christian church corner Thirteenth and Market streets, next Sunday morning at 7 o'clock.

Next week the Endeavor day exercises will be held in the Union Street Presbyterian church. A committee to make arrangements for the service was appointed as follows: R. M. Brown, Hector McLean and Myron T. Holcomb.

SHASTA MINES.

Engineer Markwick Is Putting the Dams in Shape.

Editor Tribune—Sir: The dam which was erected this past season by E. Markwick on Clear Creek, Shasta county, has proved so far a success. It was built in twenty-seven feet of water and above low water mark twenty-five feet. The intention of this dam is to furnish water for power by a short canal to carry 3000 inches of water on the left bank of a stream which will afford 1200 inches of water all seasons of the year, thus draining the Creek bed suitable for sluicing and crevicing, which has never been done on a proper system and a mechanical-like manner. A further design by E. Markwick is to raise a portion of the water to cover a certain piece of land for gravel sluicing by a continuance of hoisting wheels, thus saving an enormous expense of making ditches, flumming and repairs by overflows caused by large gulches.

E. Markwick is a constructing engineer and a director of the California Gold Mining and Development Company. He believes the above company will handle the Clear Creek Mining and Milling Company's property on Clear Creek in connection with their large prospected quartz gold mines located 1½ miles from the proposed power house. This locality is the richest in placer gold of any part of Shasta county. ENERGETIC.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DOINGS IN THE COUNTY.

An Air of Prosperity Is Noted in All the Interior Towns.

The latest happenings in the county are as follows:

Haywards.

A movement is on foot to get up a public reading room.

Editor Oakes says in the last issue of the Journal: "We would like to offer one suggestion, and that is that as we are to vote next fall on a constitutional amendment granting the right of suffrage to women that the committee secure an eloquent advocate of the fair sex to discuss the question at this place."

J. W. McCoy of Redwood Canyon reports almost a flood in his section. The water was within six inches of the old mark.

The Athletic Club will have field-day sports on February 22d. A gun club annex has been added to the organization.

Livermore.

The League of Progress has called a mass meeting to be held next Saturday afternoon to consider the project of establishing a creamery in this city.

The midwinter number of The Herald will be issued this evening.

The death of Dr. J. Nanning occurred Saturday last. The deceased was a resident of Livermore since 1858.

The rainfall for last week was 3.56 inches, making a total of 9.27 inches.

Emil Greenbaum of San Francisco has written George Beck, offering to encourage the project of a new hotel in this place. He will be invited to attend the next meeting of the League of Progress.

For the purpose of awakening an interest among the children of the valley in observing the growth and development of the valley's flowers and note the difference in climatic conditions in the same locality, while at the same time drawing the attention of all to the early spring-time growth of the valley, the Herald offers a prize to the first school girl or boy bringing to its office a boquet of not less than fifty California poppies, with a written statement of the locality in which they were found and the date of the gathering.

San Leandro.

The Board of Trade is taking an interest in the question of having San Leandro annex adjoining territory. The same organization has requested the trustees to limit the speed of street cars in passing through the town to four miles an hour.

Joseph Williams, who disappeared in a mysterious manner recently, has returned. During his absence he was in Stockton.

Irvington.

Station Agent Wamsley saved a man considerably under the influence of liquor, from being killed by the train Saturday evening. In attempting to board a moving train the stranger clutched the side of the car and would have fallen beneath the wheels if the deacon had not caught him by the coat collar and thrown him to one side.

The crop prospects at this time are far ahead of those of last year at the same time, even though there has been only one-half as much rain up to date.

The editor of the Washington Press seems to be glad to get back from the mountains. In his last paper he says: "Some of our residents thought the rain of Friday last quite severe, but for a right smart downpour they should have been down to Boulder Creek, where 5.18 inches fell in 24 hours."

Niles.

While attending an entertainment, given a few nights ago by Niles Lodge I. O. O. F., Miss Branch wrenched one of her ankles.

WANTS TO GO FREE.

"Cowboy Detective" Simon Seeks Credits From the Supervisors.

S. S. Simon, the cowboy detective, who was sent to the County Jail for six months for having unstamped cigars in his possession, has made application to the Board of Supervisors to be allowed 30 days credit for good behavior under the provisions of the Goodwin act. His term will expire on March 6th. If the credits are allowed he may go free on February 5th. There is $100 fine attached to the sentence that was imposed and some question has arisen whether he will have to serve any time in default of the payment of that sum.

Simon was at one time a government customs house officer. He became well known in San Francisco under the sobriquet of the "cowboy detective." He was mixed up in several unsavory Chinatown scandals and finally landed in the meshes of the United States revenue laws.

The Afro-American League.

The league movement among the Afro-American voters of this State will change the political aspect of the race in future State and municipal campaigns, and will do more toward securing the Afro-American voters their share of political patronage than anything else. The league movement is here to stay, and in future campaigns in this State, or in any of the counties in the State, it will prove a very important political factor for the good of the race, and will secure for the members of the race a just and proper distribution of public patronage after the battle has been won and victory perched upon the banner of the party that has succeeded in securing the support of the league movement in their several counties.—San Francisco Elevator.

Schilling's Troupe Entertains a Large Audience at the Macdonough.

Realistic Production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Oakland.

The stormy outlook of last evening did not prevent a large attendance from witnessing the performance of Schilling's Minstrels. The programme was everything the advance notices have claimed for it, and there were hundreds of delighted and amused people in the audience who pronounced the show the best in the black face line that has been given here for a long time.

There is a really splendid first part. The comedian end men, who furnish enough new jokes, with old ones embellished, are Lew Spencer, Charles Schilling, William Carroll, Ed Nealy, Henry and Joe La Rose. The overture, "The Minstrel Ring," introduces a fine medley of ballads, comic songs and a clever dialogue.

The second part is unique throughout, and affords an excellent vaudeville entertainment. There is a Japanese equilibrist, who is a marvel. He seems to overcome every law of gravitation. His handling of the ball and sticks, his umbrella and cane trick, are two of the cleverest acts.

Schilling does a musical turn that is decidedly unique, and Carroll and Nealy have a rough and tumble knock-about that brings down the house. Frank Hammond gives a pleasing monologue, and the Trocadero quartet present a musical skit, "The Telephone Agent."

The crowning performance of the evening is the brothers La Rose in one of the best acrobatic performances that any team ever attempted here. Their act is unique in make-up and their tumbling is marvelous.

There will be a final performance this evening.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Managers Collins and Waldron did not belie their words when they said the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Oakland this week would be par excellence the best of the year. They have spent much money and labor and the result is a clean, finished and interesting production. The play breathes the Southern air. The plantation scenes in which real colored folk participate are very realistic. The cotton field scenes, with the singing, dancing and darkey jubilee, were very catching.

The death of Little Eva is a beautiful climax.

THE CALIFORNIA.

The second week of "In Old Kentucky" opened to a crowded house last night and the big audience thoroughly enjoyed the pickaninny band and the many other features of this popular drama of racing life.

THE COLUMBIA.

The Frawley Company will close their engagement this week at the Columbia with "Men and Women," a drama that is intensely interesting. It crowded the Columbia last night, and the company gave a brilliant performance. The third act is the finest scene of the drama. A guilty man confesses his thefts before a midnight meeting of bank directors in a most thrilling fashion.

MOROSCO'S.

"The Editor," a sparkling comedy drama, was given at Morosco's last night to a large audience. The play fluctuates from New York to Arizona, where it deals with the trials of a newspaper man in that territory. The play moves well and contains some sparkling scenes.

THE ORPHEUM.

Rachael Walker, the Creole singer, has won a high place on the Orpheum programme. She has a voice of wonderful range and tone, and her rendition of the ballads of the day is marvelous. The bill throughout is far beyond the average of the Orpheum programmes, and that makes it excellent.

THE TIVOLI.

"Ixion" was given last night to a crowded house. It will be withdrawn after this week. The run has been phenomenal.

THE ALCAZAR.

"A Canting Scoundrel," an English comedy, drew a large audience to the Alcazar last evening. The play was presented by the Grover Company in its usual excellent manner.

EXPENSES INCREASING.

Auditor Snow Makes Comparison With Six Years Ago.

Since the compilation of the last annual report, Auditor Snow has made a comparison between the cost of running the city for the year 1890-91 and the year just closed.

Figures show that the cost of the departments of administration have increased $11,000, or about 12 per cent. The expenses, other than that of administration, new school buildings and wharves, have increased about 20 per cent. This increase is made up principally in the following items:

Police	$ 16,000
Free Library and Reading R'ms	8,000
Street cleaning and repairing	10,000
Street lighting	23,000
Water front suit (partial)	30,000

A LUMBER COMBINE.

Local Dealers Are About to Fix a Standard Rate.

A few of Oakland's lumber merchants met in the rooms of the Merchants' Exchange the other morning. The object of the meeting was to fix some rate to be observed by all the dealers. Owing to the absence of several of the most important merchants, no definite move was made.

Another meeting will be held shortly for the same purpose. At present there is no uniform rate, each merchant fixing his own price. The dealers will be greatly benefited by an established price, and many are looking for better times in the lumber business.

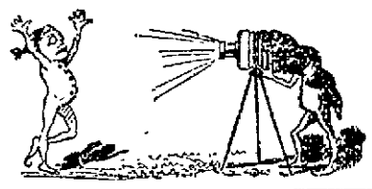

Get in out of the rain and get under a waterproof umbrella. Courtney repairs, makes, covers, sells them at bargain prices. 514 Thirteenth street, Oakland.

Expeditious and Economical.

There are many things which are made and sold in this city which are as good and frequently a great deal better than any of the same kind which may be procured across the bay. When, however, it is necessary to bring an article from or send one to San Francisco, the best means should be utilized to save time and money and, accordingly, the People's Express is just the medium which the public patronizes. It is expeditious, reliable and economical. The office is on Ninth street between Broadway and Franklin streets.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette.

Corral Hollow's Coal Mines Are Rich in Buried Treasure.

A TRIP TO THE SCENE.

An Enormous Industry to Be Developed for This Section.

Cement, Firebrick and Glass Are All Awaiting Enterprise.

The following description of the Corral Hollow coal mines is from the special midwinter edition of the Livermore Herald:

In going from Livermore to the mines the first thing of interest is the portal of the tunnel, continuing to ascend the canon, we come upon some ruins which mark the places where work was done on these coal veins years before all the land having value for coal was purchased and consolidated by Mr. John Treadwell. Still continuing to ascend, the top of the divide is finally reached. From this point a good view of the "Hollow" and the surrounding country is obtained. The steep descent is then commenced, until the works finally appear and the bottom of the "Hollow" is reached. Donning miners' clothes we entered the tunnel shown in the cut. This tunnel is 10 feet by 10 feet, 3000 feet long, and has double tracks. It crosses 10 or 12 coal veins, measuring from 16 inches to 10½ feet in width, and cuts them some 700 feet below the surface.

The first vein encountered is quite a distance in, and is 5½ feet thick; a gallery was driven on this vein 700 feet, all in coal. Coming out of this gallery we enter the main tunnel and shortly come upon a vein 16 inches thick; continuing several hundred feet we come to another one which is 6 feet wide. Thirty feet further on we come to one which is 10½ feet wide; turning to the left from the main tunnel we enter a gallery driven on this vein for a distance of over one-third of a mile; after a short distance in we come to the hoisting works. At this point a slope has been sunk 415 feet. Mounting the skip we were slowly lowered until we reached a depth of 200 feet. At this point long galleries are driven both ways, and for the first time an idea of the vast quantity of coal overhead can be formed. Mounting the skip we were again lowered until we reached a lower gallery. We produce a reproduction of a flash-light picture taken at this station which but feebly conveys an idea of the tremendous size of the vein.

We descended still further and explored more galleries, finally being hoisted to the tunnel level, we proceeded to the face of the main gallery, stopping en route to examine upraises and crosscuts of other veins. Returning we again entered the main tunnel, and soon came upon innumerable small veins running from one to two feet in width until we finally reached one which is seven feet wide. Here another long gallery is driven, and an upraise 650 feet creates a draft that extinguished our light very frequently. We climbed up in this raise; nothing but coal greets the eye. By this time the scribe was thoroughly fatigued and was glad to get back to daylight, having traveled over three miles underground.

Partaking of a bounteous lunch, we visited the new shaft, which is 11 feet by 22 feet, 300 feet deep, and is being sunk five feet a day. Entering the buggy we were driven down the canon, which is practically level, and visited numerous tunnels and shafts along the course of the veins, which have been traced and explored over a distance of six miles. A personal investigation will convince the most skeptical that there is coal enough there to supply the needs of the State for the next fifty years; and if anyone doubts its quality they need only open the doors of the boilers to be persuaded that it makes a very hot fire. It burns equally well in the stoves, and it required a good, strong fire the day of our visit to dispel the chill of the San Joaquin fog that had drifted in.

OTHER INDUSTRIES.

The citizens of Livermore, and the people generally, will be interested in learning that other industries will spring up and new enterprises be inaugurated.

On the lands of the company are found beds of clay and reefs of limestone of unexceptional excellence and purity. These are two raw materials employed in the manufacture of cement, of which a large amount is annually used. Although it is brought from Germany and England as ballast, the price nevertheless ranges from $2.25 to $3.50 per barrel of 400 pounds.

Persons skilled in the manufacture of cement, and who are familiar with the raw materials found in Corral Hollow, state that cement equal to the best imported can be made there for 80 cents per barrel, and the annual consumption is placed at 400,000 barrels. Wealthy cement manufacturers are already negotiating with the company for the sole rights to manufacture cement and lime, so that the erection of large works for that purpose will proceed shortly.

There is also situated upon the company's land a bed of clay suitable for the manufacture of fire brick and other refractory articles. As there is a large demand in that line this industry will undoubtedly soon be established.

A sand for glass-making purposes is also found here. At present the glass manufacturing industry in California is confined entirely to the manufacture of bottles. Let us hope that this industry will be materially enlarged at Corral Hollow. We can't do too much manufacturing. With our tremendous natural resources we would soon become the richest State in the Union if we did our own manufacturing, and thus stop the tremendous drain of gold necessary to pay for the manufactured articles we import. We export the raw materials and import the finished product.

The placing of Corral Hollow coal on the market will alter this state of affairs because this coal will be sold at a figure which will enable manufacturers to exist. Heretofore prices were so high as to be prohibitive. By reason of cheap fuel from these mines great changes will occur in the State in the next few years.

Old fogies and pessimists have always declared that California would never be among the manufacturing States on account of lack of cheap fuel. This restriction is now removed, and manufactures will spring into existence. Thousands of skilled operatives will find employment here and every artery of trade will share the benefits of cheap fuel and increased population.

Another interesting bit of news to the citizens of Livermore, Stockton, San Jose and intervening towns is the contemplated erection of an electric light and power plant at the mines. The contract for the erection of a 5,000 horse-power plant has been entered into. The plant is designed to burn what is generally considered waste at other coal mines. Light and power will be supplied to any town within a radius of forty miles, and will be a boon to many of the interior towns, where high-priced fuel makes electric light a luxury. A careful review of all the facts proves conclusively that no single enterprise ever inaugurated will have such a deep and changing effect on the general prosperity of the State as this one.

"Cheap fuel" has been the cry, and at last we have attained it.

Regent Reinstein Suggests a Relay System for Students.

FOUR HOURS WORK A DAY.

Work on the Proposed Roads Will Shortly Be Started.

Desire to Get a First-Class Team for This Season.

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—In ten days the University cadets will don their overalls and jumpers and become a pick and shovel brigade. Regent Reinstein has now decided upon the plan of managing the student labor, and in a long letter published in today's "Berkeleyan" has completely mapped out what is expected from them. They are to first break ground within ten days from today, and the new Regent says he has the utmost confidence that every man will perform his task faithfully.

In consequence of the students' strict drill in army regulations, the managing of the working force will be carried out in military rule. The entire body will be divided into two squads, under command of Superintendent McLaren of Golden Gate Park. Each of these squads will be subdivided and placed in charge of McLaren's lieutenants, skilled workmen from San Francisco. Those who are enrolled in the first squad will be requested to report at 8 in the morning and work until 10, and then lay off for three hours. The second squad must begin at 10 and work till 12. At 1 o'clock the first squad resumes work until 3. At 3 the second squad comes on again and finishes the day's work at 5. Thus each student works for four hours and is at leisure to rest for six hours, which will not make it so burdensome as expected. It is understood that a complete cessation of University exercises will be granted for a week while the work is in progress, but this has not been definitely decided as yet.

The new Regent greatly regrets that all the plans originally proposed have been knocked out and modifications of them substituted by the committee on grounds. He says: "The proposed plans would have made a very effective, complete improvement, which would have appealed to the eye. The campus would have been one great green sward. What is permitted, however, will at least give easy and excellent approach from Center street and around North hall and across the main path. The plans have been modified so thoroughly that only the following is permitted: First, footpath fifteen feet wide from Center street to second bridge on line proposed by Mr. McLaren and surveyed by Professor Soule; second, cutting down around North hall; third, shaving down main path and possibly some few other slight changes will be allowed by the committee."

The grounds were selected as the first field for work, because the time is ripe for improvement and the benefit will be most general. Many of the other Regents, however, appear to doubt the seriousness of the "We will" so lustily shouted by the cadets when Reinstein asked them if they were willing to perform manual labor for the sake of their Alma Mater. The new appointee takes a shot at them in his letter, and refers to them as "those Regents who have not graduated from the University, and are consequently, of course, talking through their tiles." If the students in whom Reinstein has put all his hope and trust should fail him in his hour of need, their conduct would be apt to sear his warm heart so badly that he will resort to the breach of promise suit to even up matters.

WHEELER RESIGNS.

Much surprise has been created in college circles by the resignation of Wheeler, '96, from the team which is to represent California in the Carnot medal debate against Stanford. Wheeler gives as his excuse press of college work and that he cannot give his undivided attention to the debate. While his resignation is received with regret, it does not lessen the confidence of the Berkeleyites, as young Fryer, the freshman, will step into Wheeler's place. Fryer is the first freshman to enter an inter-collegiate debate, but many in the University consider him the equal of Wheeler.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The freshman-sophomore baseball game for the silver cup will not take place tomorrow, as the rain has played havoc with the diamond. The game will be postponed for a week. Meantime, Captain Blasingame of '98 will have a few practices to determine upon the make-up of his team. The most important contest after the inter-class game will be the one between the glee club and the members of the football team. This is expected to be one of the society events of the season, as the sweet carolers have as many lady friends as the knights of the gridiron. "Brick" Morse and Charles Elston, the tenors, will form the battery for the singers, and the footballers are endeavoring to beat the combination. The game will be played on January 8th.

MUST PAY UP.

The California Bridge and Construction Company has instituted proceedings against the property owners who are delinquent in their assessment for the South Line Main sewer. Two years ago the company constructed the sewer, and a number of property owners refused to settle for their portion of the assessment. Liens were therefore filed against them, which will expire tomorrow. Unless a settlement is made today, foreclosure suits will be commenced immediately. The number of delinquents is 100, and the amount involved about $3000.

TRAINING COMMENCED.

About thirty-five athletes met Captain Merwin in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon to receive his instructions as to training for the coming meet with Stanford. "If the team proves itself worthy," said the captain, "we will probably go against colleges outside of the State. Otherwise we will not. The matter rests entirely in your hands." After giving them instructions, Merwin required the athletes to sign the roll for gymnasium work. All those who signed must be on hand every night, or their names will be dropped. The principal athletes who signed are Merwin, Koch, Barnes, Torrey, Chick, Dean, Hupp, Carver, Hilton, Edgren, Dorn, Brown, Reeves, Anderson, Starr, Bakewell, Baugh, Dozier, Holden, Pierce, Pache, Lloyd, Dresser, Griesberg, Hooper, Houghton, Houston, Dexter, Crafts, Stedman, Perley, Marmon and Carroll.

HERE AND THERE.

The directors of the Crescent Athletic club met last evening to arrange for the next gentlemen's evening. It is expected to be held on February 5th, when a good programme can be presented.

Rodgers denies statements to the effect that he will not appear to prosecute the students whom he alleges severely beat him several nights ago.

The Students' Congress will meet tomorrow night to discuss the Cuban question.

The seniors are pulling wires with all their might. The class election takes place Friday afternoon.

The members of the Law College will not escape without some lampooning in the "Blue and Gold" this year. Editor Case has requested President Maguire of the junior class at Hastings to appoint an assistant editor to keep his eye peeled for jokes at Hastings.

"Josh" made its appearance today and sold rapidly.

The Berkeley merchants are determined to compel the Town Trustees to repeal the ordinance levying a tax on wagons doing business within the town limits. The ordinance was aimed at Oakland produce men, but is reacting against the local men, and has the effect of a boycott. None of the Contra Costa farmers will sell their crops to merchants in Berkeley because of the tax, and they have found themselves shunned and alone. Hence the prayer for repeal.

ROW OVER AN ESTATE.

Application Is Made in Court for a Change of Assignee.

Application has been made to the Superior Court for the removal of attorney George H. Perry as assignee of the estate of Louis Meyer, the restaurant man of San Francisco, who is trying to secure a discharge from insolvency. The application was made on an affidavit filed by Charles E. Brown, a creditor of Meyer, who charges Perry with generally mismanaging and neglecting the duties of his position as a protector of the interests of the creditors.

Brown recites that Perry has not pursued all the available assets of the defunct firm and charges that Perry failed to obtain the best terms possible on real estate belonging to Meyer that was sold for the benefit of the creditors.

He also alleges that Perry failed to comply with the provisions of the insolvency law in neglecting within three months of the date of his appointment to file a true and just account of all the receipts and payments.

Brown has also filed a demand for wages. He says he was employed on May 3rd last as a fryer in the restaurant. There is a balance of $25 due him, he says, and he seeks an order of court to secure its payment.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Business Transacted at the Meeting of the City Society.

The Oakland City Christian Endeavor Society held its regular monthy meeting in the Y. M. C. A.'s hall last evening in the Y. M. C. A.'s hall last even the programme, less business being transacted, and a greater part of the evening given to social and spiritual pursuits.

The meeting was opened by a short praise service, followed by devotional exercises. The roll being called, Miss Emma McCormick rendered a vocal solo in creditable style. John Walling, the composer played one of his own pieces, and also sang in a quartette consisting of himself, Misses Emma and Mary McCormack, and E. C. Gilbert.

The musical programme was followed by an address on "Lookout Committee Work," by Dr. Sunborn, after which a general discussion followed. Among those who spoke were Rev. Barton Perry, Rev. McCullum, A. J. McMurtray, R. M. Brown, Messrs. Bacon, Kaig and McKee. The latter is editor of the Pacific Coast Endeavor.

The next sunrise praise service will be held in the First Christian church corner Thirteenth and Market streets, next Sunday morning at 7 o'clock.

Next week the Endeavor day exercises will be held in the Union Street Presbyterian church. A committee to make arrangements for the service was appointed as follows: R. M. Brown, Hector McLean and Myron T. Holcomb.

SHASTA MINES.

Engineer Markwick Is Putting the Dams in Shape.

Editor Tribune—Sir: The dam which was erected this past season by E. Markwick on Clear Creek, Shasta county, has proved so far a success. It was built in twenty - seven feet of water and above low water mark twenty-five feet. The intention of this dam is to furnish water for power by a short canal to carry 3000 inches of water on the left bank of a stream which will afford 1200 inches of water all seasons of the year, thus draining the Creek bed suitable for sluicing and crevicing, which has never been done on a proper system and a mechanical-like manner. A further design by E. Markwick is to raise a portion of the water to cover a certain piece of land for gravel sluicing by a continuance of hoisting wheels, thus saving an enormous expense of making ditches, flumes and repairs by overflows caused by large gulches.

E. Markwick is a constructing engineer and a director of the California Gold Mining and Development Company. He believes the above company will handle the Clear Creek Mining and Milling Company's property on Clear Creek in connection with their large prospected quartz gold mines located 11½ miles from the proposed power house. This locality is the richest in placer gold of any part of Shasta county. ENERGETIC.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DOINGS IN THE COUNTY.

An Air of Prosperity Is Noted In All the Interior Towns.

Haywards.

A movement is on foot to get up a public reading room.

Editor Oakes says in the last issue of the Journal: "We would like to offer one suggestion, and that is that as we are to vote next fall on a constitutional amendment granting the right of suffrage to women that the committee secure an eloquent advocate of the fair sex to discuss the question at this place."

J. W. McCoy of Redwood Canyon reports almost a flood in his section. The water was within six inches of the old mark.

The Athletic Club will have field day sports on February 22d. A gun club annex has been added to the organization.

Livermore.

The League of Progress has called a mass meeting to be held next Saturday afternoon to consider the project of establishing a creamery in this city.

The midwinter number of The Herald will be issued this evening.

The death of Dr. J. Nanning occurred Saturday last. The deceased was a resident of Livermore since 1888.

The rainfall for last week was 3.56 inches, making a total of 9.27 inches.

Emil Greenbaum of San Francisco has written George Beck offering to encourage the project of a new hotel in this place. He will be invited to attend the next meeting of the League of Progress.

For the purpose of awakening an interest among the children of the valley in observing the growth and development of the valley's flowers and note the difference in climatic conditions in the same locality, while at the same time drawing the attention of all to the early spring-time growth of the valley, the Herald offers a prize to the first school girl or boy bringing to its office a bouquet of not less than fifty California poppies, with a written statement of the locality in which they were found and the date of the gathering.

San Leandro.

The Board of Trade is taking an interest in the question of having San Leandro annex adjoining territory. The same organization has requested the trustees to limit the speed of street cars in passing through the town to four miles an hour.

Joseph Williams, who disappeared in a mysterious manner recently, has returned. During his absence he was in Stockton.

George Pilat, late of Oakland, plays the cornet for the Presbyterian Sunday School and evening service.

Irvington.

Station Agent Wamsley saved a man considerably under the influence of liquor, from being killed by the train Saturday evening. In attempting to board a moving train the stranger clutched the side of the car and would have fallen beneath the wheels if the deacon had not caught him by the coat collar and thrown him to one side.

The crop prospects at this time are far ahead of those of last year at the same time, even though there has been only one-half as much rain up to date.

The editor of the Washington Press seems to be glad to get back from the mountains. In his last paper he says: "Some of our residents thought the rain of Friday last quite severe, but for a right smart downpour they should have been down to Boulder Creek, where 5.18 inches fell in 24 hours."

Niles.

While attending an entertainment, given a few nights ago by Niles Lodge I. O. O. F., Miss Branch wrenched one of her ankles.

WANTS TO GO FREE.

"Cowboy Detective" Simon Seeks Credits From the Supervisors.

S. S. Simon, the cowboy detective, who was sent to the County Jail for six months for having unstamped cigars in his possession, has made application to the Board of Supervisors to be allowed 30 days credit for good behavior under the provisions of the Goodwin act. His term will expire on March 6th. If the credits are allowed he may go free on February 5th. There is $100 fine attached to the sentence that was imposed and some question has arisen whether he will have to serve any time in default of the payment of that sum.

Simon was at one time a government customs house officer. He became well known in San Francisco under the sobriquet of the "cowboy detective." He was mixed up in several unsavory Chinatown scandals and finally landed in the meshes of the United States revenue laws.

The Afro-American League.

The league movement among the Afro-American voters of this State will change the political aspect of the race in future State and municipal campaigns, and will do more toward securing the Afro-American voters their share of political patronage than anything else. The league movement is here to stay, and in future campaigns in this State, or in any of the counties in the State, it will prove a very important political factor for the good of the race, and will secure for the members of the race a just and proper distribution of public patronage after the battle has been won and victory perched upon the banner of the party that has succeeded in securing the support of the league movement in their several counties.—San Francisco Elevator.

MINSTRELS MAKE MERRY

Schilling's Troupe Entertains a Large Audience at the Macdonough.

Realistic Production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Oakland.

The stormy outlook of last evening did not prevent a large attendance from witnessing the performance of Schilling's Minstrels. The programme was everything the advance notices have claimed for it, and there were hundreds of delighted and amused people in the audience who pronounced the show the best in the black face line that has been given here for a long time.

There is a really splendid first part. The comedian and men, who furnish enough new jokes, with old ones embellished, are Lew Spencer, Charles Schilling, William Carroll, Ed Nealy, Henry and Joe La Rose. The overture, "The Minstrel Ring," introduces a fine medley of ballads, comic songs and a clever dialogue.

The second part is unique throughout, and affords an excellent vaudeville entertainment. There is a Japanese equilibrist who is a marvel. He seems to overcome every law of gravitation. His handling of the ball and sticks, his umbrella and cane trick, are two of the cleverest acts.

Schilling does a musical turn that is decidedly unique, and Carroll and Nealy have a rough and tumble knock-about that brings down the house. Frank Hammond gives a pleasing monologue, and the Trocadero quartet present a musical skit, "The Telephone Agent."

The crowning performance of the evening is the brothers La Rose in one of the best acrobatic performances that any team ever attempted here. Their act is unique in make-up and their tumbling is marvelous.

There will be a final performance this evening.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Managers Collins and Waldron did not belie their words when they said the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Oakland this week would be par excellence the best of the year. They have spent much money and labor and the result is a clean, finished and interesting production. The play breathes the Southern air. The plantation scenes in which real colored folk participate are very realistic. The cotton field scenes with the singing, dancing and darkey jubilee, were very catching.

The death of Little Eva is a beautiful climax.

THE CALIFORNIA.

The second week of "In Old Kentucky" opened to a crowded house last night and the big audience thoroughly enjoyed the pickaninny band and the many other features of this popular drama of racing life.

THE COLUMBIA

The Frawley Company will close their engagement this week at the Columbia with "Men and Women," a drama that is intensely interesting. It crowded the Columbia last night, and the company gave a brilliant performance. The third act is the finest scene of the drama. A guilty man confesses his thefts before a midnight meeting of bank directors in a most thrilling fashion.

MOROSCO'S

"The Editor," a sparkling comedy drama, was given at Morosco's last night to a large audience. The play fluctuates from New York to Arizona, where it deals with the trials of a newspaper man in that territory. The play moves well and contains some sparkling scenes.

THE ORPHEUM.

Rachael Walker, the Creole singer, has won a high place on the Orpheum programme. She has a voice of wonderful range and tone, and her rendition of the ballads of the day is marvelous. The bill throughout is far beyond the average of the Orpheum programmes, and that makes it excellent.

THE TIVOLI

"Nadjy" was given last night to a crowded house. It will be withdrawn after this week. The run has been phenomenal.

THE ALCAZAR.

"A Canting Scoundrel," an English comedy, drew a large audience to the Alcazar last evening. The play was presented by the Grover Company in its usual excellent manner.

I have just received a large assortment of early spring flowering bulbs. Now is the time to plant. H. M. Sanborn, 517 Fourteenth street.

Auditor Snow Makes Comparison With Six Years Ago.

Since the compilation of the last annual report Auditor Snow has made a comparison between the cost of running the city for the year 1890-91 and the year just closed.

Figures show that the cost of the departments of administration have increased $11,000, or about 12 per cent. The expenses, other than that of administration, new school buildings and wharves, have increased about 20 per cent. This increase is made up principally in the following items:

Police	$ 16,000
Free Library and Reading R'ms	8,000
Street cleaning and repairing	10,000
Street lighting	23,000
Water front suit (partial)	30,000

A LUMBER COMBINE.

Local Dealers Are About to Fix a Standard Rate.

A few of Oakland's lumber merchants met in the rooms of the Merchants' Exchange the other morning. The object of the meeting was to fix some rate to be observed by all the dealers. Owing to the absence of several of the most important merchants, no definite move was made.

Another meeting will be held shortly for the same purpose. At present there is no uniform rate, each merchant fixing his own price. The dealers will be greatly benefited by an established price, and many are looking for better times in the lumber business.

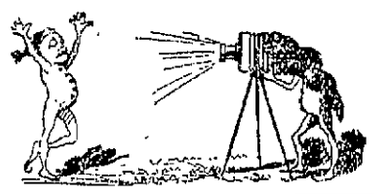

Get in out of the rain and get under a waterproof umbrella. Courtney repairs, makes, covers, sells them at bargain prices. 511 Thirteenth street, Oakland.

Expeditious and Economical.

There are many things which are made and sold in this city which are as good and frequently a great deal better than any of the same kind which may be procured across the bay. When, however, it is necessary to bring an article from or send one to San Francisco, the best means should be utilized to save time and money and, accordingly, the People's Express is just the medium which the public patronizes. It is expeditious, reliable and economical. The office is on Ninth street between Broadway and Franklin streets.

SCHOOL BONDS FOR SALE.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County, California, made October 28th, 1895, sealed proposals will be received at the office of the treasurer of said county at the Hall of Records of said county, in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, until 12 o'clock noon, on the 1st day of February, 1896, for the purchase of three bonds of the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars each of Newark School District of Alameda County; at which said time said proposals will be opened and said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for cash in United States gold coin, subject to the provisions hereinafter set forth. Said bonds were issued by said Board of Supervisors under and in accordance with the provisions of Section 1880 to 1888, both inclusive, of the Political Code, and in conformity with an order of the Board of Supervisors of said county passed October 28, 1895, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from date until paid, interest payable on the first day of February of each year, out of and from the Building Fund of said Newark School District upon presentation and surrender to the treasurer of said county of the interest coupons.

Said bonds are to be numbered consecutively one to three inclusive and are to mature as follows, to wit:

Bond numbered One, one year from date.

Bond numbered Three, three years from date.

Bids will be received for one or any larger number of said bonds up to three. All bids must be equal in amount to the par value of the bonds bid for and accompanied by a certified check or cash deposit in the sum of at least 10 per cent. of the amount of the bid, payable to the Clerk of the Board of Trustees of Newark School District of Alameda County. The said check or deposit will be returned in case of rejection of the bid, and be forfeited to the Board of Trustees if the bidder neglects to pay for the bond or bonds he bids for within five days after notice of the acceptance of the bid.

Upon the opening of said proposals said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidders for cash in United States gold coin subject to the above provisions.

All bids or proposals are to be addressed to the "Board of Trustees, Newark School District, care O. M. Sanford, Treasurer of Alameda County," and endorsed "Proposals for Bonds."

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

THOMAS HART, Plaintiff,
vs.
J. E. McELRATH, ET AL., Defendants.
No. 11,184

Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale issued out of the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, of the State of California, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1896, in the above entitled action, wherein Thomas Hart, the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against J. E. McElrath and Elsie Ann McElrath, defendants, on the 7th day of January, A. D. 1896, for the sum of eleven hundred and twenty-six dollars, besides interest, costs and counsel fees, which said decree was, on the 17th day of January, A. D. 1896, recorded in Judgment Book 19 of said Court, at page 149, I am commanded to sell all those certain lands and premises situated, lying and being in the County of Alameda, State of California, and bounded and described as follows:

First: Commencing at a point of intersection of the eastern line of Shattuck avenue with the northern line of the Drexler Tract, according to the map of said Drexler Tract filed September 12th, 1889, in the County Recorder's office of said Alameda County, running thence northerly along said line of Shattuck avenue one hundred and forty (140) feet, more or less, to the northern line of Plot 96 of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho; thence easterly along said northern line of said plot one hundred and seventy-four (174) feet to the southwestern line of the Vicente Peralta Reservation; thence southeasterly along said line of said reservation two hundred and thirty (230) feet, more or less, to the most northern line of said Drexler Tract; thence westerly along the said northern line of said Drexler Tract two hundred and seventy (270) feet to the point of commencement. Being a portion of Plots Nos. 49 and 96, according to Kellersberger's map of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho, filed 21st January, 1857, in the County Recorder's office of said Alameda county.

Second. Commencing at a point of intersection of the eastern line of Shattuck avenue with the southern line of the said Drexler Tract; running thence southerly along said line of Shattuck avenue one hundred and sixty-five and 12-100 (165.12) feet to the northern line of the land of Marion McElrath, as distributed to her by decree of distribution in the matter of the estate of S. E. Alden, deceased, (Estate No. 261, Superior Court of Alameda County, probate); running thence easterly along said line of said land of Marion McElrath one hundred and ninety-six and 10-100 (196.10) feet to the southwestern line of Plot No. 49 of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho; thence northwesterly one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet more or less, along said line of said Plot 49, to the point of intersection with the southern line of said Drexler Tract (being along the northwestern corner of the lands of the estate of F. Galindo, deceased); and thence westerly along the southern line of said Drexler Tract one hundred and thirty (130) feet to the point of commencement. Being a portion of Plot No. 48, according to said Kellersberger's map of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho, filed 21st January, 1857, in the County Recorder's office of said Alameda county. Together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

Public notice is hereby given that on

WEDNESDAY, THE 12TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, A. D. 1896,

At 10 o'clock, A. M. of that day, in front of the Broadway entrance of the Court House of the County of Alameda, in the City of Oakland, I will, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, sell the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder for lawful money of the United States.

Oakland, January 20, 1896.

W. S. HARLOW,
A commissioner appointed by said Superior Court.
H. A. Luttrell, attorney for plaintiff.

ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE LICENSING FOR PURPOSES OF REGULATION AND REVENUE, EVERY KIND OF LAWFUL BUSINESS, HEREINAFTER SPECIFIED, TRANSACTED OR CARRIED ON WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, AND ALL SHOWS, EXHIBITIONS AND LAWFUL GAMES CARRIED ON THEREIN; FIXING RATES OF LICENSE TAX UPON THE SAME AND PRESCRIBING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF SAID ORDINANCE.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Every person, firm or corporation engaged in carrying on, pursuing or transacting within the County of Alameda, any occupation, business or calling, hereinafter specified, must procure a license and pay a license tax therefor, as hereinafter provided. Said license tax must be paid in advance to the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance. Separate licenses must be procured, and the separate license tax paid for each branch, establishment, or separate house of business located in said county.

Section 2. License taxes shall be collected at the rate in this Ordinance prescribed, from the taking effect of this Ordinance provided that nothing in this Ordinance contained shall affect the validity of any license issued before the taking effect of this Ordinance; provided, however, that if any person, firm or corporation shall engage in, carry on or transact any business of occupation without having first procured the license in this Ordinance prescribed, there shall immediately become due and payable the entire license tax for the period for which the rate is in this Ordinance fixed.

Section 3. The Auditor must keep a ledger, in which he must keep the collectors' account of all licenses delivered to him, sold or returned unsold by him.

Section 4. The persons charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, must make diligent inquiry as to all persons liable to pay license tax, as provided in this Ordinance; and in all cases where the amount of license to be paid by any person, firm or corporation, is based upon the amount of receipts of sales affected, or business transacted, such person, firm or corporation shall render a sworn statement in writing to the Board of Supervisors of said County of Alameda, made before some officer authorized to administer oaths, of the total amount of receipts, sales made, or business done by said person, firm or corporation respectively, during the three months next preceeding the expiration of the last license, which statement shall determine the amount for which such license shall be issued or renewed; and thereupon such person, firm or corporation must procure a license from the County of Alameda, for the term desired; and the class for which said party is liable to pay; and in all cases, where an under estimate has been made by the party appearing, the party making such estimate, or the person, firm or corporation he represents, are required to pay for a license for the next quarter, double the sum otherwise required; and the said person so charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, is hereby authorized to bring suit, against any person, firm or corporation, liable to pay a license tax, who fails, neglects or refuses to pay the proper license tax, or who carries on, or attempts to carry on, business without first paying said license tax, for the recovery of said tax.

Section 5. On the first Monday in each month the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes under the provisions of this ordinance must return to the Auditor all licenses unsold, and be credited therewith; and must pay into the County Treasury, for the use of the County General Fund, all moneys collected for licenses sold during the preceding month.

Section 6. Auctioneers are divided into eight classes, and must obtain licenses from the said County of Alameda, as follows: Those whose average monthly sales amount to $100,000 and upwards, constitute the first class, and must pay a license tax of $200 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $75,000 and less than $100,000 constitute the second class, and must pay a license tax of $150 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $50,000 and less than $75,000, constitute the third class, and must pay a license tax of $100 per quarter, those whose monthly sales amount to $30,000 and less than $50,000, constitute the fourth class, and must pay a license tax of $75 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to $20,000, and less than $30,000, constitute the fifth class, and must pay a license tax of $60 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $10,000 and less than $20,000, constitute the sixth class and must pay a License Tax of $50 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to $2,500 and less than $10,000, constitute the seventh class, and must pay a license tax of $25 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to less than $2500, constitute the eighth class, and must pay a license tax of $7.50 per quarter.

Section 7. Licenses must be obtained for the purposes hereinafter named, and payment must be made as follows:

No. 1: Proprietors of billiard or pool tables, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table $1 per quarter.

No. 2: For a bowling alley, $1 per quarter for each alley.

No. 3: For each exhibition, for pay, of a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or any acrobatic performance, $25.

No. 4. For each show, for pay, of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians, wire or rope dancers, or slight of hand exhibition, $5 each day.

No. 5: For every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of expressing, transmitting or conveying goods, wares or general merchandise of every kind and description, by wagons or vehicles drawn by horses or mules, $15 per quarter.

Section 8. Every person engaged in the business of a pawnbroker must pay a license tax of $20 per quarter.

Section 9. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who vends goods, wares, or merchandise of any kind (other than his own manufacture, or agricultural, viniculltural, ranch or farm produce or butchers' meat or fish), must pay a license tax of $10 per quarter: unless he uses a wagon or one or more animals for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise, in which case he must pay a license tax of $15 per quarter; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to bona fide merchants of said Alameda County who have fixed places of business, and who supply goods, wares or merchandise to other merchants or dealers within said county, who, also, have fixed places of business.

Section 10. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propogation, for hire, must obtain a license therefor, and pay therefor as follows:

No. 1: Horses that are hired for the purpose of propogation for the season at $100 or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of $75 per year.

No. 2: At $75, and less than $100, constitute the second class, and require a license of $60 per year.

No. 3: At $50, and less than $75, constitute the third class, and require a license of $40 per year.

No. 4: At $30, and less than $50, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of $25 per year.

No. 5: At less than $30, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of $15 per year; for each jack, $15 per year; for each bull, $10 per year.

Section 11. In any action brought under or arising out of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, the fact that a party represented himself or herself as engaged in any business or employment, for the transaction for which a license is by this Ordinance required, or that such party exhibited a sign indicating such business or employment, shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of such party to pay license.

Section 12. The conviction and punishment of any person for transacting any business without a license, shall not excuse or exempt such person from the payment of any license due or unpaid at the time of such conviction.

Section 13. The provisions of this Ordinance shall not be construed as requiring the payment of any License Tax or the procuring of any license for any exhibition or entertainment given for the benefit of any church, school, or other charitable object, by any amateur dramatic association, or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

Section 14. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, to establish, open, keep, maintain or carry on within the County of Alameda, any saloon, bar, store, dram shop, tippling place, stand or any place where spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof, are sold or given away; or for any person, firm or corporation (except as hereinafter provided), to sell within the limits of the County of Alameda, any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof without having the permission and license therefor as in this Section of said Ordinance provided.

No. 1: No license issued under any of the provisions of this Section of said Ordinance shall be assignable or transferable without the consent of the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors endorsed thereon, and only to such person, firm or corporation as have obtained from the Board of Supervisors the permission hereinafter required, and having filed a bond as hereinafter provided, and complied in all other respects with the requirements of this Ordinance.

No. 2: No person, firm or corporation shall have issued to him or them the license required by this section of said Ordinance, unless such person, firm or corporation, be of good moral character, and first obtain permission as provided herein, by making application in writing to the Board of Supervisors at a meeting thereof, for permission to obtain the license herein required and shall file with said application a written recommendation signed by not less than five out of ten of the citizens of the County of Alameda, residing nearest the place where the applicant or applicants propose to carry on the said business, each of whom must be a freeholder, and the "head of the family," as that term is defined by Section 1261 of the Civil Code of the State of California.

The application in writing herein required shall contain and set forth:

First: The name and residence of the applicant or applicants, and how long he or they have resided in said County of Alameda.

Second: The particular place for which a license is desired.

Third: The name of the owner of the premises.

Fourth: That the applicant or applicants are the only person or persons in any manner interested in the business asked to be licensed, and that no other persons shall be in any way interested therein during the continuance of the permission.

Fifth: Whether or not the applicant or applicants have had a permission or license for the sale of liquors in said Alameda County, during any time preceding his or their present application, revoked.

Sixth: That the applicant or applicants are of good moral character and suitable to conduct such a place. This petition must be verified by affidavit of applicant or applicants, made before the County Clerk, or some authorized Notary Public.

3. Such applicant or applicants shall, at the time of making application for permission to obtain a license, file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors a bond in the penal sum of One Thousand ($1000) dollars, with two or more sureties, who shall each be residents of the County of Alameda, and shall each qualify in double the amount of the penal sum of the bond; said bond to be approved by the Board of Supervisors, and conditioned that the said applicant or applicants shall conduct the business for which the license is sought, in a quiet, orderly and reputable manner, and will not permit any breach of the peace or disturbance of the public order or decorum, by any tumultuous, riotous or disorderly conduct upon the premises, and shall not sell, give or furnish any intoxicating liquor, spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine, or any admixture thereof, to any person in a state of intoxication, or addicted to the inordinate use of intoxicating liquors, or to any person under the age of 18 years, and shall not allow any person under the age of 18 years, or intoxicated person to be or remain upon premises where any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wines is sold to be drank on the premises and shall not sell or give away any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine between the hour of 12 o'clock P. M., and the hour of 5 o'clock of the following morning; and that said applicant or applicants shall obey and abide by all laws and Ordinances now in force, and which may hereafter be enacted, regulating the time of closing saloons and places of business where spiritous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof are sold. Said application and recommendation, after the approval of said bond, shall be immediately referred to the Judiciary Committee for investigation, who shall report the result thereof to the Board of Supervisors at the meeting following, and at any time before said last named meeting, or at said meeting, and before final action upon any application, any resident or residents of the County voting precinct where said applicant or applicants desire to conduct such business, may file with said Board, or with the Clerk thereof, petitions in favor of, or remonstrances against the granting of such permission, and it shall be the duty of said Board of Supervisors, before taking final action upon any application, to consider all such petitions, and in all cases to decide impartially as to the necessity or needlessness of such permission for the accommodation, peace or good order of the public, according to the number, character and showing of the petitioners for, and remonstrance against such permission. If, after considering all the matters aforesaid, the Board shall find that the applicant or applicants are proper persons to carry on said business, and that the carrying on of said business, at the place where the same is proposed to be carried on, will not be prejudicial to the public good, said Board may, by resolution, grant the required permit, which permit shall remain in force not more than one year from the date of the same; and be good only for the person, firm or corporation, and place named therein.

4. Any person, firm or corporation, to whom such a permit has been granted, who does not conduct the business for which such permit has been granted, in a quiet, orderly and reputable manner, or who permits any breach of the peace, or disturbance of the public order or decorum, by any tumultuous, riotous or disorderly conduct on the premises, or who sells, gives or furnishes any intoxicating liquor, spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine, or any admixture thereof, to any person in a state of intoxication, or addicted to the inordinate use of intoxicating liquors, or to any person under the age of 18 years, or who shall allow any person under the age of 18 years, or any intoxicated person to be or remain upon premises where any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine is sold, to be drank on the premises, or who sells or gives away any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine between the hour of 12 P. M. and the hour of 5 o'clock the following morning, or who shall not obey and abide by all laws and ordinances now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted regulating the time of closing saloons and places of business where spiritous, malt or fermented liquors or wine, or any admixture thereof, are sold or given away, shall forfeit all permits and licenses theretofore issued to said person, firm or corporation, under the provisions of this Ordinance, and also any license that may have been issued to said person, firm or corporation, under the provisions of this Ordinance subsequent to the filing with the Board of Supervisors of the complaint next hereinafter mentioned.

5. Any elector of the said County of Alameda may file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors a complaint against any person, firm or corporation whom he has reason to believe is guilty of any of the acts or neglects, specified in subdivision 4 of Section 14 of this Ordinance, which complaint must be in writing, and must specifically set forth any violation or violations by the party complained against, of any of the provisions of said subdivision 4. At the next meeting of the Board after the filing of the said complaint, or if the Board is in session at the time said complaint is filed, the Board shall fix a time for the hearing thereof, and at the time so fixed shall investigate the charges so made in said complaint. Notice of the time so fixed, of at least five days, shall be given to the person, firm or corporation complained against. If, on such investigation the said Board shall find that the said complaint is well founded, and that any charge or charges therein contained, are true, it shall so declare by resolution, and shall by the same resolution, revoke the permit theretofore granted to said person, firm or corporation, and revoke all licenses theretofore issued to said person, firm or corporation under the provisions of this Ordinance; and said licenses shall thenceforth be without force or effect. Said Board may, also by the same resolution, declare the bond required by subdivision 3 of Section 14 of this Ordinance, given by said person, firm or corporation, forfeited, and direct action to be brought thereon to recover the penalty thereof.

6: The license tax under this section of said Ordinance shall be as follows. For every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of selling or giving away or in any manner furnishing, in any saloon, bar, stand or any other place of business or in any public place within the County of Alameda, and for every person, firm or corporation who sells or offers to sell, or keeps for the purpose of sale, within the said County of Alameda, any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof, $30 per quarter, payable in advance to the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes, under the provision of this Ordinance; provided that druggists and apothecaries shall not be required to obtain a license under the provisions of this Ordinance, for furnishing liquors upon the written prescription of a regularly licensed and registered physician, such liquor in no case to be used or drank upon the premises, nor for supplying alcohol or preparations containing the same, for scientific, mechanical, medical or medicinal purposes, provided, further, that no spiritous, malt or vinous liquors shall be sold or furnished more than once on any one prescription of such physician, and that no physician shall prescribe any intoxicating liquors as a beverage to any person addicted to the inordinate us of intoxicating liquors.

Section 15. Every person, who shall, within the County of Alameda, keep or assist in keeping any saloon, bar, store, dram shop, tippling place, stand or any other place, where any spiritwous, malt or fermented liquors or wine is sold or given away without having first procured the permit and license required therefor by the provisions of this Ordinance, or who shall sell or give away within the County of Alameda, any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine without having first procured the permit and license required therefor by the provisions of this Ordinance, or after the same may have been revoked by the Board of Supervisors, as in this Ordinance provided; and any person who shall conduct or carry on any business, occupation or calling for which a license tax is required by the provisions of this Ordinance, without having first procured the license required by this Ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 16. The person charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall have the power to make arrests for the violations of any of the provisions of this Ordinance. The said person so charged by law as aforesaid with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, is also further required to report to the Board of Supervisors monthly the names and locations of the places of business of all persons to whom licenses have been issued during the previous month; also the amounts paid, and the kind of license issued.

Section 17. The Board of Supervisors shall have power to order a free license issued to any person who may apply therefor, whenever in their judgment the same may be necessary to enable any applicant who may be poor and unable to pay his license tax, to earn a livelihood.

Section 18. Every person, firm or corporation receiving a license under this ordinance shall place the same in a conspicuous place in his or its place of business; and all peddlers and other persons who have no fixed place of business must produce and show their license whenever required to any person who may make demand to see the same.

Section 19. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance licensing for purposes of regulation and revenue every kind of lawful business hereinafter specified, transacted or carried on within the corporate limits of the County of Alameda, State of California, and all shows, exhibitions and lawful games carried on therein; fixing rates of license tax upon the same, and providing for the collection thereof," passed by the Board of Supervisors of the said County of Alameda, on the 30th day of January, 1893, and all amendments thereof and thereto, and all Ordinances and parts of Ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance, are hereby repealed.

Section 20. This Ordinance shall take effect on the 7th day of February, 1896.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Each road district as now established in said county of Alameda shall constitute a Pound District, and there shall be a Poundkeeper for each Pound District, to be appointed by the Board of Supervisors upon petition of at least fifteen qualified electors of the district. Each Pound District shall be known by the name of the road district with which it coincides; thus, the Pound District that coincides with Altamont road district shall be known as Altamont Pound District.

Section 2. Each Poundkeeper, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall make and execute a good and sufficient bond, with two or more sureties, in the sum of $250, payable to the said county of Alameda and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as such Poundkeeper.

Section 3. Each Poundkeeper must, at his own charge and expense, erect and maintain a suitable inclosure for the keeping of such animals as may be impounded.

Section 4. It is hereby declared unlawful for any ox, bull, cow, horse, colt, jack, mule, calf, sheep or hog to run at large in said county of Alameda, outside of the corporate limits of incorporated cities and towns, in said county of Alameda, or to be pastured, or herded, or staked, or tied, for the purpose of grazing, on any highway, public road, public street or public common in said county of Alameda, outside of the corporate limits of incorporated cities and towns in said county of Alameda; and it shall be unlawful for any animals or stock of any kind to be tied, staked, pastured or to run at large upon any private property in said county of Alameda, outside of incorporated cities and towns, unless by consent of the owner or occupant of such property.

Section 5. The Poundmaster shall take up and impound any of the animals enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance found running at large, staked, tied or being pastured or herded on any highway, public road, public street or public common in said county of Alameda, or found running at large, staked, tied or being herded or pastured upon any private property in said county of Alameda, contrary to the provisions of section 4 of this ordinance.

Section 6. The Poundkeeper shall, within twenty-four hours after the time any animal, enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance, is impounded, as provided by section 5 of this ordinance, cause to be delivered to the owner or keeper of such animal, if known to him, or cause to be left at the usual place of abode of such owner or keeper, a notice in writing, describing the marks, brands and color of the animal impounded, stating the amount of fees and charges incurred and the time of impounding.

Section 7. When the owner or keeper of any animal impounded is not known by the Poundkeeper, the said Poundkeeper shall, within twenty-four hours after the time the said animal is taken up and impounded, post notices in writing, describing the marks, brands and color of the animal impounded, and stating the amount of fees and charges incurred and the time of impounding. Said notices shall be posted by the Poundkeeper in three of the most public places in his Pound District.

Section 8. If the owner, or agent of the owner, of any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance, shall pay the penalty, charges and fines hereinafter provided for, the animal impounded shall forthwith be discharged from the Pound of the district in which the same is impounded.

Section 9. If the owner, or agent of the owner, of any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance, shall refuse or neglect for the period of three days after the said animal is impounded, to pay the penalties, charges and fines herein provided for, the Poundkeeper shall sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder. Such sale can only be made upon at least five days' notice posted in three of the most public places in the Pound District in which said animal is impounded, which said notice shall contain a full description of said animal, and shall set forth that the same will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder at a time and place to be specified in said notice, and shall also contain a descriptions of the marks, brand and color of the animal to be sold, together with a statement of the amount of penalties and charges due under the provisions of this ordinance and of the time of impounding. If said animal is not reclaimed by the owner, or agent of the owner, before the expiration of the time specified in said notice, the Poundkeeper shall proceed to sell the said animal at the time and place and in the manner specified in said notice.

Section 10. After the payment of the penalties and charges and fines, hereinafter in this ordinance provided, the overplus of such sale, if any, shall be paid to the owner of said animal so impounded, under the provisions of this ordinance, upon request, if he, said owner, shall apply for the same within one month from the time of said sale, otherwise said overplus shall be placed in the County Treasury of said county of Alameda, there to await the order of the owner, and shall be paid to said owner by the Treasurer, if he shall apply for the same within twelve months from the day of sale, on his making satisfactory proof that he is entitled to the same, and if no claimant for said overplus appear within the time above specified the same shall be placed in the road fund of the road district wherein said Pound is situated.

Section 11. It shall not be lawful for any person to rescue any animal enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance from the possession of any person who is impounding the same under the provisions of this ordinance, and it shall not be lawful for any person to make any Pound breach, or in any way directly or indirectly convey or deliver any animal out of any Pound without lawful authority, and no person shall wilfully and knowingly resist, delay or obstruct any Poundkeeper in the performance of his duties under this ordinance.

Section 12. The Poundkeeper, or any person impounding any animal under the provisions of this ordinance may retake the same within six days after the same is first impounded in the event that the same is directly or indirectly conveyed or delivered out of the Pound without lawful authority, and may again impound and detain the same and proceed as hereinbefore provided.

Section 13. The Poundkeeper shall daily cause all animals impounded to be provided with food and drink suitable for such animals, and upon neglect so to do, shall be liable to the owner thereof for all damages arising from such neglect.

Section 14. The Poundkeeper shall be entitled to charge and collect of and from the owner of animals impounded under this ordinance the following fee for impounding and keeping the same:

1: For each horse, jack, jennet mule, cow, bull and heifer, $1 for the first day, and 50 cents per day for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

2: For each swine, goat, suckling calf or colt, 50 cents for the first day and 25 cents for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

3: For each sheep, 10 cents for the first day and 5 cents for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

Section 15. If any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance be not redeemed or sold within the time and in the manner specified herein, the Poundkeeper shall kill and bury the same in some suitable and appropriate place therefor, to be selected by him, in the manner, and for which he shall be entitled to receive the fee, as hereinafter provided, for the burial of dead animals.

Section 16. It shall be the duty of all persons having dead animals upon their premises, or who shall be the owner or possessor of any dead animal which die within the county of Alameda, to bury the same at least four feet under ground, within forty-eight hours after the same shall die; and upon the request of any owner or possessor of any dead animal, it shall be the duty of the Poundkeeper to proceed forthwith to bury the same, in some suitable and appropriate place therefor, for which he shall be entitled to receive from the owner or possessor of such dead animals the following fees, to wit:

For burying horses, bulls, oxen and cows, each, $1.00.

For burying jacks, mules, steers and colts, each, $1.00.

For burying hogs, sheep, goats and calves, each, $2.50.

Section 17. If any person fail or neglect to bury any dead animal as provided for in this ordinance, then in such case it shall be the duty of the Poundkeeper to proceed forthwith to bury the same; and it shall be lawful for the Poundkeeper to charge to and recover from the owner or possessor of such dead animal the fees last hereinbefore provided for.

Section 18. If any person shall rescue any animal enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance from the possession of any person who is impounding the same under the provisions of this ordinance, or if any person shall make any Pound breach or in any way directly or indirectly convey or deliver any animal out of any Pound without lawful authority, or if any person shall wilfully and knowingly resist, delay or obstruct any Poundkeeper in the performance of his duties under this ordinance, or if any person shall neglect or refuse to notify the Poundkeeper of any dead animal upon his premises, or upon premises of which he is the owner or possessor, or if any person liable to pay the Poundkeeper the fees hereinbefore provided for shall fail or neglect to pay said fees, or if any person shall violate any provision of this ordinance, such person shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100. Any judgment that the defendant pay a fine shall also direct that in case said fine be not paid the defendant be imprisoned until the fine be satisfied in the proportion of one day's imprisonment for each two dollars of the fine so imposed.

Section 19. The penalties and charges herein provided shall constitute the compensation of the Poundkeeper for his services as such Poundkeeper performed under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 20. An ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Establish, Maintain, Regulate and Govern Public Pounds in the County of Alameda," passed by the Board of Supervisors of said Alameda county on the 20th day of January, 1894, and all amendments thereof and thereto, and all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall take effect the 7th day of February, 1896.

Passed January 20th, 1896, by the following called vote, viz:

ADJUDICATION OF INSOLVENCY.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE County of Alameda, State of California.

In the matter of C. R. Moore, an insolvent debtor.

Order of adjudication of insolvency.

C. R. Moore having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency from which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said C. R. Moore is hereby declared to be insolvent. It is hereby ordered that the Sheriff of the County of Alameda, be, and he is hereby direct to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of said C. R. Moore, an insolvent debtor, whatsoever and wheresoever situate, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an assignee of his estate. All persons having the same or any part thereof in his or their possession are hereby directed to deliver said property to said Sheriff. And all persons are herby forbidden to pay any debts to said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to such insolvent to him, or to any person, firm, corporation or association for his use, and the said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor whose claims shall have been filed with the Clerk of said Court at least two days prior to the date next hereinafter named, be and appear before the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, in open Court at the Court Room of Department 2 of said Court, in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, on the 29th day of January, 1896, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts and choose an assignee of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that this order be published in the Oakland Tribune, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published in the County of Alameda, as often as the said newspaper is published, before the day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered than in the meantime all proceedings against said insolvent be stayed.

Dated January 20th A. D. 1896.

AMERICANS NOT SAFE.

Unfriendly Tone Evidenced in Cuba by the New Regime.

The Departure of Campos Brings About a Change of Policy.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, January 28.—A special to a local paper from Key West, Fla., says:

Advices received here from Havana indicate that since the resignation of Martinez de Campos the Spanish authorities are acting in a high-handed manner toward American citizens suspected of being in sympathy with the insurgents.

Recently Henry Riso, who claims to be a naturalized citizen of the United States, was arrested at Puerto Principe as a political suspect.

Riso was thrown into a dungeon, although proclaiming his American citizenship.

His request that Consul-General Williams be informed of his plight was denied, and when the last steamer left for Centa, the Spanish penal settlement in Africa, Riso was placed on board.

The unfortunate man attempted to make a scene as he was placed on the vessel, but he was knocked down by the Spanish guards and hurried below decks.

Riso had no trial, but it is understood the authorities ordered him confined at Centa for life.

Transportation to Centa now means death, as cholera is raging there.

El Comercio in an editorial says: "Marin is too tender with these Yankees. Every one of them at all implicated in the revolution should be summarily dealt with. But for American money and American sympathy there would be no revolution, and the Yankees have no right to expect mercy from Spain."

Financiers in Havana are evidently fearful about the outcome of the revolution, for they are shipping large sums of gold and silver by every steamer that leaves for New York.

Upmann & Company, who represent the Rothschilds, are taking the lead in these shipments. It is understood that Upmann & Co. have informed their depositors that money is no longer safe in Havana.

It is reported that Upmann & Co. are acting under orders from the Rothschilds, who have declined the new Spanish loan on the ground that Cuba is lost to the Madrid government.

Died Far From Home.

John C. Farhner, formerly a resident this city, died recently at San Jose de Guatemala of yellow fever. The news has reached the family, who reside at the corner of Tenth and Jackson streets. The last heard from him was at Christmas, when he sent money to his family with which to buy Christmas presents.

The Anti-Missionary Troubles to Be Subjected to Thorough Inquiry.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A dispatch to the World from Ichang, China, dated January 25th, says:

The Cheng Tu Commission arrived today from Chung King. It is conveyed by a Chinese river boat and two lifeboats.

The commission, headed by Sheridan P. Read, United States Consul at Tien Tsin, is returning from its inquiry into the anti-missionary riots in Sechuen province, of which Cheng Tu is the capital.

It left Tien Tsin last September and marched overland through the heart of China with an imposing military escort furnished from Pekin, in order to impress the celestials that the American Government is strong enough to reach and protect its people even in places where they thought no foreigner dare venture.

The commission is going back by way of the Yang Tse Kiang River. It left Chung King January 15th and in ten days covered about four hundred miles.

Nearly a thousand miles by river remain to be traversed before the ocean will be reached.

No Felony Charge Yet.

Clarence Fountain and William Turner the lads arrested by Officer Ely for carrying burglars' tools, were not brought up in the Police Court this morning. At present the only charge the police could put against them is carring concealed weapons and burglars' tools, both misdemeanors, and as it is believed that they have attempted to blow safes they are being held until a thorough investigation can be made to try to connect them with a graver charge.

TO GET BIG BOUNTIES.

Liberal Inducements Held Out for Recruits for Cuba.

A Number of Expeditions Said to Be Organizing in this Country.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—A special from Philadelphia says:

Since the acquittal of Capt. Samuel Hughes, of the steamer Laurada, of the J. D. Hare line of this city, charged in the United States District Court of South Caroline with violation of the neutrality laws in carrying arms and munitions and men to Cuba, there has been developing here more active determination among the Cubans and their sympathizers than at any time during the last ten months.

As a result of the verdict it has been decided by the Cubans here that another series of expeditions shall be inaugurated, and further it is announced that recruiting of men to serve in the Cuban army will at once begin in the south and southwest, especially in Texas, from which State it is expected 500 men will be enrolled before March 4th.

Most of these will be picked riflemen accustomed to the sort of guerilla life they may be called upon to endure in Cuba.

They are to be given, it is said, a bounty of $300 with wages of $40 a month and a guarantee of heavy reward in money at the close of the war if the island should gain its independence.

It is also said that here in Philadelphia some of the young men connected with the National Guard and the Naval Reserve will be enlisted and that they will openly leave in the steamers which will now be easily obtained.

It is announced that Herbert B. Chase, late captain of Company C, 13th regiment, of Scranton, has accepted a commission in the insurgent army and that he has been engaged to drill and instruct recruits.

One of the most influential of Cuban sympathizers who is thoroughly informed as to all movements in this country to aid the revolution, is also authority for the statement that, in view of Judge Brawley's decision, there will be at once fitted out at New York a vessel with regular military masts.

She will be sufficiently well armed to protect herself in case of pursuit by a Spanish war vessel.

Her gunners are to be Americans, while the Cubans will constitute the boarding parties who will go with her and who will be supplied with machetes.

Following the departure of this vessel from New York two others, it is said, will be similarly equipped at this port and will sail soon afterward.

KILLED A PRISONER.

Tragic Termination of a Trial In a Justice's Court.

The Officer Claims He Only Fired In Order to Scare His Man.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WHITING, Ind., Jan. 28.—George Banygyij was shot and killed at East Chicago by Officer Winters while he was making his escape from Justice Cheney's court, where he was having a hearing for participating in a riot at a Polish wedding the night before.

Officer Winters was arrested. He said he fired the fatal shot to frighten the fugitive.

It is said that Banygyij was arrested as a rioter in the place of another man said to be Andrew Jonski. He is reported to have declared there was a mistake in identity, and for that reason he tried to run away.

As a result of the killing of their countryman, the Slavs are in a wild state of excitement, and they threaten all sorts of things.

Winters immediately after giving bonds secreted himself and has kept in hiding, fearing that the angry Slavs would take revenge on him.

A STRIKE STARTED IT.

A Brakeman Brings a Damage Suit Against an Eastern Road.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 28.—William Gambold, a railroad brakeman, has begun a suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and F. G. Darlington, superintendent of the Indianapolis division, for $25,000 damages for malicious prosecution.

The suit is the outgrowth of the American Railway Union strike of 1894 and is brought as a test case. Gambold, with John Ruck, H. Rabold and Tom Moriarity, American Railway Union strikers, were charged by Darlington with having "killed" a switch engine after driving off the engineer and fireman and violating the injunction of Judge Woods.

Darlington was at that time a deputy United States marshal, having been sworn in on July 4th. Gambold was arrested at Terre Haute, brought to this city and kept in jail for ten days. He was tried in the federal court and acquitted.

The defense will be based on the proposition that Darlington was a sworn federal officer at the time he made the affidavit and that neither Darlington, as a deputy United States marshal, nor the railway can be held responsible.

GENERAL PORTER IS DEAD.

He Was Famed as a Soldier, a Diplomat and a Lawyer.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—General Jos. H. Porter died at the Grand Union Hotel last night.

The immediate cause of death was complications from a gunshot wound in the lungs received during the war.

The body will be taken to Poughkeepsie for burial.

General Porter was 54 years old and was born in Dublin, where his parents, who were Virginians, were sojourning in Ireland.

He enlisted as a drummer boy when the war broke out, and went to the front with the 27th New York volunteers.

For bravery and meritorious conduct he was repeatedly promoted, and served until disabled by wounds.

Questions as Regards Play for This Season Brought Up.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The annual meeting of the national board of base ball managers, which convened at the Fifth avenue hotel today, promises to be one of the most important board meetings ever held.

Not only are some important questions between individual players and managers before the meeting, but for the first time in the history of the game the minor leagues have secured recognition and one of the questions before the board today is more particularly in regard to the practice which has prevailed in the past whereby the larger clubs acquired a man from one of the smaller clubs and then defer payment for three or four months, reserving the right to return the men to the lesser organization if they choose.

The national board was called to order by Chairman Young.

The annual election for a chairman, secretary and treasurer resulted, as it has for years, in the election of Nick Young to the position.

A number of appeals for final decision between players and various clubs were considered and disposed of.

At the final session tonight this addition was made to Article 6:

"A club making selection of a player as authorized in the preceding paragraph of this article, shall have the right within thirty days of notice to the secretary of the board of such selection to withdraw from such selection, and on notice to the secretary he shall return to the club the amount deposited with him. The selecting club shall, within sixty days of its original selection, tender the player so selected, a formal contract, and in case of its failure to do so, the secretary of the board shall remit the amount deposited with the club from whom the player was selected.

The managers then adjourned to meet again at the annual schedule meeting on February 24th, when all questions now before the league will be finally disposed of.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Oakland is going ahead steadily and will become a big city in a few years. One of the latest evidences of its growth is the establishment of a new savings bank.—Haywards Review.

San Francisco is struggling, with good prospects of succeeding, to rescue from Oakland the reputation of being the wickedest city on the Pacific coast. Its record for the 24 hours ending at daylight today was two Chinese and two white men shot, three men stabbed and a score of minor crimes against persons or property. San Francisco is a lively camp.—Haywards Mail.

The main railroad between Oakland and Alameda lies through a marsh, into which rock put on the road sinks rapidly. To construct a good road would be very costly. But the land must nevertheless be of great value. It is said to be owned on "undivided interests," and therefore not accessable. We don't see how that can be; but one thing is certain: under a local option law assessments on marsh land, now held out of use, within the municipalities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, could be made heavy enough not only to secure their complete reclamation, but to buy or build all "general utilities" in those municipalities, without a cent of other tax. We commend this point to Messrs. Davie and others, who think bonds indispensable for such and similar purposes.—San Francisco Star.

There will be no more free riding in Oakland. Although the railroad franchise expressly forbids charging for passengers on the Seventh street local road, Judge Ellsworth decides that the company are not obliged to carry them at all. They are therefore compelled to purchase a ticket for some outside points in order to get on the cars at all.—Contra Costa Gazette.

With Assessor Dalton and County Clerk Jordan working together in the matter of registration and the collection of poll taxes the tax dodger will have a hard time to dodge it if he wants to vote at the next election.—Haywards Review.

It is thought Senator Perkins' bill establishing a naval training school on Goat Island will pass both Houses of Congress without much opposition. Naval apprentices are much needed, and increased efforts are to be made to educate the boys of the country to become seamen.—Napa Journal.

Mayor Davie of Oakland (as reported) is "convinced that municipal ownership is the basis of good government, and that any city which owns the plants referred to (water, light and street railroads) will be practically exempt from taxation." "But," he asks, "how are we to start if we do not issue bonds?" Were all taxes laid on ground values, municipalities could acquire, build, own and operate all light, water, street cars, and other public utilities, not only at cost, but eventually gratuitously. Were the single tax in full operation there would be no more thought of paying for riding on street cars than for walking the streets.—San Francisco Star.

We are assured that the Pacific Poultry and Pigeon Association did not choose the past week for holding their exhibition in anticipation of having foul weather, but they did fulfill their promise to give one of the best poultry shows ever seen on the coast. Some of the specimens of the standard breeds of fowls were worth making a trip to Oakland to admire and inspect, and the display of unfamiliar birds was large enough to make a good show by themselves. The breeding of homing pigeons is now attracting much attention and several "lofts" were represented with homers bearing records for long flights and good speed.—Santa Cruz Surf.

A burglary a day, with an occasional murder to relieve the monotony, is Oakland's criminal record.—Haywards Mail.

Cigarette smokers should take warning from the fate of the young man who fell to the street in Oakland a total wreck, a victim of that terrible habit. He commenced as a moderate smoker, but kept constantly increasing number of cigarettes until he consumed from forty to fifty per day. Every part of him seemed to become diseased, but although he saw himself failing in health, kept puffing his life away until he fell a total wreck beyond all medical aid. This is the most recent of many like cases, yet it seems that boys and young men cannot profit by them but must learn by experience.—St. Helena Star.

County Clerk Jordan surely means business. Not only is he putting forth every means for the voter to register, but he is helping the county assessor as well in the collecting of poll taxes, who in turn will help Jordan in registering. This is the true kind of feeling.—Pleasanton Times.

Senator Perkins has introduced a bill providing for the appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose of erecting a new dry-dock at Mare Island. The amount mentioned is only such as is necessary to make a beginning. It is beginning to be seen how necessary it is to provide suitable defenses for the Pacific coast. The neighborhood of San Francisco is too valuable to be given up to the first adversary. Mare Island on this account should be the best equipped yard in this country, as it has the whole Pacific ocean to guard.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Notwithstanding the fact that County Clerk Jordan will have to get up the Great Register of the county this year at his own expense, we are willing to bet money or marbles that it will be one of the best and most complete registers that has ever been gotten out in this or any other county.—Berkeley Gazette.

The disgraceful and almost impassable condition of the Twelfth street dam, also East Twelfth street, East Oakland, has aroused the residents of that section of our sister city and they are preparing now to place both of them in first-class condition. This is a good cue to our city fathers in the matter of the Webster street roadway. Alameda prides herself—and justly so, too—on her handsome streets and the excellent condition in which they are always kept, and there yet remains, as a blight, that disgraceful Webster street roadway. Our worthy trustees, always alive to the interests and welfare of the city, should take steps looking toward making the Webster street roadway a thoroughfare that will be a credit to the city. Let it not be said that our neighbors cannot look down upon us even in this respect, for certainly they cannot in any other.—Alameda Encinal.

SCHOOL BONDS FOR SALE.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County, California, made October 28th, 1895, sealed proposals will be received at the office of the treasurer of said county at the Hall of Records of said county, in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, until 12 o'clock noon, on the 1st day of February, 1896, for the purchase of three bonds of the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars each of Newark School District of Alameda County; at which said time said proposals will be opened and said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for cash in United States gold coin, subject to the provisions hereinafter set forth. Said bonds were issued by said Board of Supervisors under and in accordance with the provisions of Section 1880 to 1888, both inclusive, of the Political Code, and in conformity with an order of the Board of Supervisors of said county passed October 28, 1895, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from date until paid, interest payable on the first day of February of each year, out of and from the Building Fund of said Newark School District upon presentation and surrender to the treasurer of said county of the interest coupons.

Said bonds are to be numbered consecutively one to three inclusive and are to mature as follows, to wit:

Bond numbered One, one year from date.

Bond numbered Three, three years from date.

Bids will be received for one or any larger number of said bonds up to three. All bids must be equal in amount to the par value of the bonds bid for and accompanied by a certified check or cash deposit in the sum of at least 10 per cent. of the amount of the bid, payable to the Clerk of the Board of Trustees of Newark School District of Alameda County. The said check or deposit will be returned in case of rejection of the bid, and be forfeited to the Board of Trustees if the bidder neglects to pay for the bond or bonds he bids for within five days after notice of the acceptance of the bid.

Upon the opening of said proposals said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidders for cash in United States gold coin subject to the above provisions.

All bids or proposals are to be addressed to the "Board of Trustees, Newark School District, care O. M. Sanford, Treasurer of Alameda County," and endorsed "Proposals for Bonds."

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

THOMAS HART, Plaintiff, vs. J. E. McELRATH, ET AL., Defendants. } No 11,481

Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale issued out of the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, of the State of California, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1896, in the above entitled action, wherein Thomas Hart, the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against J. E. McElrath and Elsie Ann McElrath, defendants, on the 7th day of January, A. D. 1896, for the sum of eleven hundred and twenty-six dollars, besides interest, costs and counsel fees, which said decree was, on the 17th day of January, A. D. 1896, recorded in Judgment Book 19 of said Court, at page 449, I am commanded to sell all those certain lands and premises situated, lying and being in the County of Alameda, State of California, and bounded and described as follows:

First: Commencing at a point of intersection of the eastern line of Shattuck avenue with the northern line of the Drexler Tract, according to the map of said Drexler Tract filed September 12th, 1889, in the County Recorder's office of said Alameda County, running thence northerly along said line of Shattuck avenue one hundred and forty (140) feet, more or less, to the northern line of Plot 90 of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho, thence easterly along said northern line of said plot one hundred and seventy-four (174) feet to the southwestern line of the Vicente Peralta Reservation; thence southeasterly along said line of said reservation two hundred and thirty (230) feet, more or less, to the most northern line of said Drexler Tract; thence westerly along the said northern line of said Drexler Tract two hundred and seventy (270) feet to the point of commencement. Being a portion of Plots Nos. 49 and 90, according to Kellersberger's map of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho, filed 21st January, 1857, in the County Recorder's office of said Alameda county.

Second. Commencing at a point of intersection of the eastern line of Shattuck avenue with the southern line of the said Drexler Tract, running thence southerly along said line of Shattuck avenue one hundred and sixty-five and 12-100 (165.12) feet to the northern line of the land of Marion McElrath, as distributed to her by decree of distribution in the matter of the estate of S. E. Alden, deceased, (Estate No. 261, Superior Court of Alameda County, probate); running thence easterly along said line of said land of Marion McElrath one hundred and ninety-six and 10-100 (196.10) feet to the southwestern line of Plot No. 49 of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho; thence northwesterly one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet more or less, along said line of said Plot 49, to the point of intersection with the southern line of said Drexler Tract (being along the northwestern corner of the lands of the estate of F. Galindo, deceased); and thence westerly along the southern line of said Drexler Tract one hundred and thirty (130) feet to the point of commencement. Being a portion of Plot No. 48, according to said Kellersberger's map of the V. and D. Peralta Rancho, filed 21st January, 1857, in the County Recorder's office of said Alameda county. Together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

Public notice is hereby given that on

WEDNESDAY, THE 12TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, A. D. 1896,

At 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, in front of the Broadway entrance of the Court House of the County of Alameda, in the City of Oakland, I will, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, sell the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder for lawful money of the United States.

Oakland, January 20, 1896.
W. S. HARLOW,
A commissioner appointed by said Superior Court.
H. A. Luttrell, attorney for plaintiff.

AN ORDINANCE LICENSING FOR PURPOSES OF REGULATION AND REVENUE, EVERY KIND OF LAWFUL BUSINESS, HEREINAFTER SPECIFIED, TRANSACTED OR CARRIED ON WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, AND ALL SHOWS, EXHIBITIONS AND LAWFUL GAMES CARRIED ON THEREIN, FIXING RATES OF LICENSE TAX UPON THE SAME AND PRESCRIBING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF SAID ORDINANCE.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Every person, firm or corporation engaged in carrying on, pursuing or transacting within the County of Alameda, any occupation, business or calling, hereinafter specified, must procure a license and pay a license tax therefor, as hereinafter provided. Said license tax must be paid in advance to the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance. Separate licenses must be procured, and the separate license tax paid for each branch, establishment, or separate house of business located in said county.

Section 2. License taxes shall be collected at the rate in this Ordinance prescribed, from the taking effect of this Ordinance provided that nothing in this Ordinance contained shall affect the validity of any license issued before the taking effect of this Ordinance; provided, however, that if any person, firm or corporation shall engage in, carry on or transact any business of occupation without having first procured the license in this Ordinance prescribed, there shall immediately become due and payable the entire license tax for the period for which the rate is in this Ordinance fixed.

Section 3. The Auditor must keep a ledger, in which he must keep the collectors' account of all licenses delivered to him, sold or returned unsold by him.

Section 4. The persons charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, must make diligent inquiry as to all persons liable to pay license tax, as provided in this Ordinance; and in all cases where the amount of license to be paid by any person, firm or corporation, is based upon the amount of receipts of sales affected, or business transacted, such person, firm or corporation shall render a sworn statement in writing to the Board of Supervisors of said County of Alameda, made before some officer authorized to administer oaths, of the total amount of receipts, sales made, or business done by said person, firm or corporation respectively, during the three months next preceeding the expiration of the last license which statement shall determine the amount for which such license shall be issued or renewed; and thereupon such person, firm or corporation must procure a license from the County of Alameda, for the term desired; and the class for which said party is liable to pay, and in all cases, where an under estimate has been made by the party appearing, the party making such estimate, or the person, firm or corporation he represents, are required to pay for a license for the next quarter, double the sum otherwise required; and the said person so charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, is hereby authorized to bring suit, against any person, firm or corporation, liable to pay a license tax, who fails, neglects or refuses to pay the proper license tax, or who carries on, or attempts to carry on, business without first paying said license tax, for the recovery of said tax.

Section 5. On the first Monday in each month the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes under the provisions of this ordinance must return to the Auditor all licenses unsold, and be credited therewith, and must pay into the County Treasury, for the use of the County General Fund, all moneys collected for licenses sold during the preceding month.

Section 6. Auctioneers are divided into eight classes, and must obtain licenses from the said County of Alameda, as follows: Those whose average monthly sales amount to $100,000 and upwards, constitute the first class, and must pay a license tax of $200 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $75,000 and less than $100,000 constitute the second class, and must pay a license tax of $150 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $50,000 and less than $75,000, constitute the third class, and must pay a license tax of $100 per quarter, those whose monthly sales amount to $30,000 and less than $50,000, constitute the fourth class, and must pay a license tax of $75 per quarter, those whose average monthly sales amount to $20,000, and less than $30,000, constitute the fifth class, and must pay a license tax of $50 per quarter; those whose monthly sales amount to $10,000 and less than $20,000 constitute the sixth class and must pay a License Tax of $30 per quarter; those whose average monthly sales amount to $2,500 and less than $10,000, constitute the seventh class, and must pay a license tax of $25 per quarter, those whose average monthly sales amount to less than $2500, constitute the eighth class, and must pay a license tax of $7.50 per quarter.

Section 7. Licenses must be obtained for the purposes hereinafter named, and payment must be made as follows:

No. 1: Proprietors of billiard or pool tables, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table $1 per quarter.

No. 2: For a bowling alley, $1 per quarter for each alley.

No. 3: For each exhibition, for pay, of a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or any acrobatic performance, $25.

No. 4. For each show, for pay, of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians, wire or rope dancers, or slight of hand exhibition, $5 each day.

No. 5: For every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of expressing, transmitting or conveying goods, wares or general merchandise of every kind and description, by wagons or vehicles drawn by horses or mules, $15 per quarter.

Section 8. Every person engaged in the business of a pawnbroker must pay a license tax of $20 per quarter.

Section 9. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who vends goods, wares, or merchandise of any kind (other than his own manufacture, or agricultural, viniticultural, ranch or farm produce or butchers' meat or fish), must pay a license tax of $10 per quarter unless he uses a wagon or one or more animals for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise, in which case he must pay a license tax of $15 per quarter; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to bona fide merchants of said Alameda County who have fixed places of business, and who supply goods, wares or merchandise to other merchants or dealers within said county, who, also, have fixed places of business.

Section 10. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propogation, for hire, must obtain a license therefor, and pay therefor as follows:

No. 1: Horses that are hired for the purpose of propogation for the season at $100 or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of $75 per year.

No. 2: At $75, and less than $100, constitute the second class, and require a license of $50 per year.

No. 3: At $50, and less than $75, constitute the third class, and require a license of $40 per year.

No. 4: At $30, and less than $50, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of $25 per year.

No. 5: At less than $30, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of $15 per year; for each jack, $15 per year; for each bull, $10 per year.

Section 11. In any action brought under or arising out of any of the provisions of this Ordinance, the fact that a party represented himself or herself as engaged in any business or employment, for the transaction for which a license is by this Ordinance required, or that such party exhibited a sign indicating such business or employment, shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of such party to pay license.

Section 12. The conviction and punishment of any person for transacting any business without a license, shall not excuse or exempt such person from the payment of any license due or unpaid at the time of such conviction.

Section 13. The provisions of this Ordinance shall not be construed as requiring the payment of any License Tax or the procuring of any license for any exhibition or entertainment given for the benefit of any church, school, or other charitable object, by any amateur dramatic association, or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

Section 14. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, to establish, open, keep, maintain or carry on within the County of Alameda, any saloon, bar, store, dram shop, tippling place, stand or any place where spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof, are sold or given away; or for any person, firm or corporation (except as hereinafter provided), to sell within the limits of the County of Alameda, any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof without having the permission and license therefor as in this Section of said Ordinance provided.

No. 1: No license issued under any of the provisions of this Section of said Ordinance shall be assignable or transferable without the consent of the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors endorsed thereon, and only to such person, firm or corporation as have obtained from the Board of Supervisors the permission hereinafter required, and having filed a bond as hereinafter provided, and complied in all other respects with the requirements of this Ordinance.

No. 2: No person, firm or corporation shall have issued to him or them the license required by this section of said Ordinance, unless such person, firm or corporation, be of good moral character, and first obtain permission as provided herein, by making application in writing to the Board of Supervisors at a meeting thereof, for permission to obtain the license herein required and shall file with said application a written recommendation signed by not less than five out of ten of the citizens of the County of Alameda, residing nearest the place where the applicant or applicants propose to carry on the said business, each of whom must be a freeholder, and the "head of the family," as that term is defined by Section 1261 of the Civil Code of the State of California.

The application in writing herein required shall contain and set forth:

First: The name and residence of the applicant or applicants, and how long he or they have resided in said County of Alameda.

Second: The particular place for which a license is desired.

Third: The name of the owner of the premises.

Fourth: That the applicant or applicants are the only person or persons in any manner interested in the business asked to be licensed, and that no other persons shall be in any way interested therein during the continuance of the permission.

Fifth: Whether or not the applicant or applicants have had a permission or license for the sale of liquors in said Alameda County, during any time preceding his or their present application, revoked.

Sixth: That the applicant or applicants are of good moral character and suitable to conduct such a place. This petition must be verified by affidavit of applicant or applicants, made before the County Clerk, or some authorized Notary Public.

3. Such applicant or applicants shall, at the time of making application for permission to obtain a license, file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors a bond in the penal sum of One Thousand ($1000) dollars, with two or more sureties, who shall each be residents of the County of Alameda, and shall each qualify in double the amount of the penal sum of the bond; said bond to be approved by the Board of Supervisors, and conditioned that the said applicant or applicants shall conduct the business for which the license is sought, in a quiet, orderly and reputable manner, and will not permit any breach of the peace or disturbance of the public order or decorum, by any tumultuous, riotous or disorderly conduct upon the premises, and shall not sell, give or furnish any intoxicating liquor, spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine, or any admixture thereof, to any person in a state of intoxication, or addicted to the inordinate use of intoxicating liquors, or to any person under the age of 18 years, and shall not allow any person under the age of 18 years, or intoxicated person to be or remain upon premises where any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wines is sold to be drank on the premises and shall not sell or give away any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine between the hour of 12 o'clock P. M., and the hour of 5 o'clock of the following morning; and that said applicant or applicants shall obey and abide by all laws and Ordinances now in force, and which may hereafter be enacted, regulating the time of closing saloons and places of business where spiritous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof are sold. Said application and recommendation, after the approval of said bond, shall be immediately referred to the Judiciary Committee for investigation, who shall report the result thereof to the Board of Supervisors at the meeting following, and at any time before said last named meeting, or at said meeting, and before final action upon any application, any resident or residents of the County voting precinct where said applicant or applicants desire to conduct such business, may file with said Board, or with the Clerk thereof, petitions in favor of or remonstrances against the granting of such permission, and it shall be the duty of said Board of Supervisors, before taking final action upon any application, to consider all such petitions, and in all cases to decide impartially as to the necessity or needlessness of such permission for the accommodation, peace or good order of the public, according to the number, character and showing of the petitioners for, and remonstrance against such permission. If, after considering all the matters aforesaid, the Board shall find that the applicant or applicants are proper persons to carry on said business, and that the carrying on of said business, at the place where the same is proposed to be carried on, will not be prejudicial to the public good, said Board may, by resolution, grant the required permit; which permit shall remain in force not more than one year from the date of the same, and be good only for the person, firm or corporation, and place named therein.

4. Any person, firm or corporation, to whom such a permit has been granted, who does not conduct the business for which such permit has been granted, in a quiet, orderly and reputable manner, or who permits any breach of the peace, or disturbance of the public order or decorum, by any tumultuous, riotous or disorderly conduct on the premises, or who sells, gives or furnishes any intoxicating liquor, spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine, or any admixture thereof, to any person in a state of intoxication, or addicted to the inordinate use of intoxicating liquors, or to any person under the age of 18 years, or who shall allow any person under the age of 18 years, or any intoxicated person to be or remain upon premises where any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine is sold, to be drank on the premises, or who sells or gives away any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine between the hour of 12 P. M. and the hour of 5 o'clock the following morning, or who shall not obey and abide by all laws and ordinances now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted regulating the time of closing saloons and places of business where spiritous, malt or fermented liquors or wine, or any admixture thereof, are sold or given away, shall forfeit all permits and licenses theretofore issued to said person, firm or corporation, under the provisions of this Ordinance, and also any license that may have been issued to said person, firm or corporation, under the provisions of this Ordinance subsequent to the filing with the Board of Supervisors of the complaint next hereinafter mentioned.

5. Any elector of the said County of Alameda may file with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors a complaint against any person, firm or corporation whom he has reason to believe is guilty of any of the acts or neglects, specified in subdivision 4 of Section 14 of this Ordinance, which complaint must be in writing, and must specifically set forth any violation or violations by the party complained against, of any of the provisions of said subdivision 4. At the next meeting of the Board after the filing of the said complaint, or if the Board is in session at the time said complaint is filed, the Board shall fix a time for the hearing thereof, and at the time so fixed shall investigate the charges so made in said complaint. Notice of the time so fixed, of at least five days, shall be given to the person, firm or corporation complained against. If, on such investigation the said Board shall find that the said complaint is well founded, and that any charge or charges therein contained, are true, it shall so declare by resolution, and shall by the same resolution, revoke the permit theretofore granted to said person, firm or corporation, and revoke all licenses theretofore issued to said person, firm or corporation under the provisions of this Ordinance; and said licenses shall thenceforth be without force or effect. Said Board may, also by the same resolution, declare the bond required by subdivision 3 of Section 14 of this Ordinance, given by said person, firm or corporation, forfeited, and direct action to be brought thereon to recover the penalty thereof.

6: The license tax under this section of said Ordinance shall be as follows. For every person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of selling or giving away or in any manner furnishing, in any saloon, bar, stand or any other place of business or in any public place within the County of Alameda, and for every person, firm or corporation who sells or offers to sell, or keeps for the purpose of sale, within the said County of Alameda, any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines, or any admixture thereof, $30 per quarter, payable in advance to the person charged by law with the duty of collecting license taxes, under the provision of this Ordinance; provided that druggists and apothecaries shall not be required to obtain a license under the provisions of this Ordinance, for furnishing liquors upon the written prescription of a regularly licensed and registered physician, such liquor in no case to be used or drank upon the premises, nor for supplying alcohol or preparations containing the same, for scientific, mechanical, medical or medicinal purposes, provided, further, that no spiritous, malt or vinous liquors shall be sold or furnished more than once on any one prescription of such physician, and that no physician shall prescribe any intoxicating liquors as a beverage to any person addicted to the inordinate us of intoxicating liquors.

Section 15. Every person, who shall, within the County of Alameda, keep or assist in keeping any saloon, bar, store, dram shop, tippling place, stand or any other place, where any spiritwous, malt or fermented liquors or wine is sold or given away without having first procured the permit and license required therefor by the provisions of this Ordinance, or who shall sell or give away within the County of Alameda, any spiritous, malt or fermented liquor or wine without having first procured the permit and license required therefor by the provisions of this Ordinance, or after the same may have been revoked by the Board of Supervisors, as in this Ordinance provided; and any person who shall conduct or carry on any business, occupation or calling for which a license tax is required by the provisions of this Ordinance, without having first procured the license required by this Ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 16. The person charged by law with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall have the power to make arrests for the violations of any of the provisions of this Ordinance. The said person so charged by law as aforesaid with the collection of license taxes under the provisions of this Ordinance, is also further required to report to the Board of Supervisors monthly the names and locations of the places of business of all persons to whom licenses have been issued during the previous month; also the amounts paid, and the kind of license issued.

Section 17. The Board of Supervisors shall have power to order a free license issued to any person who may apply therefor, whenever in their judgment the same may be necessary to enable any applicant who may be poor and unable to pay his license tax, to earn a livelihood.

Section 18. Every person, firm or corporation receiving a license under this ordinance shall place the same in a conspicuous place in his or its place of business: and all peddlers and other persons who have no fixed place of business must produce and show their license whenever required to any person who may make demand to see the same.

Section 19. An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance licensing for purposes of regulation and revenue every kind of lawful business hereinafter specified, transacted or carried on within the corporate limits of the County of Alameda, State of California, and all shows, exhibitions and lawful games carried on therein; fixing rates of license tax upon the same, and providing for the collection thereof," passed by the Board of Supervisors of the said County of Alameda, on the 30th day of January, 1893, and all amendments thereof and thereto, and all Ordinances and parts of Ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance, are hereby repealed.

Section 20. This Ordinance shall take effect on the 7th day of February, 1896.

Passed January 20th, 1896, by the following called vote, viz:

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Each road district as now established in said county of Alameda shall constitute a Pound District, and there shall be a Poundkeeper for each Pound District, to be appointed by the Board of Supervisors upon petition of at least fifteen qualified electors of the district. Each Pound District shall be known by the name of the road district with which it coincides; thus, the Pound District that coincides with Altamont road district shall be known as Altamont Pound District.

Section 2. Each Poundkeeper, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall make and execute a good and sufficient bond, with two or more sureties, in the sum of $250, payable to the said county of Alameda and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as such Poundkeeper.

Section 3. Each Poundkeeper must, at his own charge and expense, erect and maintain a suitable inclosure for the keeping of such animals as may be impounded.

Section 4. It is hereby declared unlawful for any ox, bull, cow, horse, colt, jack, mule, calf, sheep or hog to run at large in said county of Alameda, outside of the corporate limits of incorporated cities and towns, in said county of Alameda, or to be pastured, or herded, or staked, or tied, for the purpose of grazing, on any highway, public road, public street or public common in said county of Alameda, outside of the corporate limits of incorporated cities and towns in said county of Alameda; and it shall be unlawful for any animals or stock of any kind to be tied, staked, pastured or to run at large upon any private property in said county of Alameda, outside of incorporated cities and towns, unless by consent of the owner or occupant of such property.

Section 5. The Poundmaster shall take up and impound any of the animals enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance found running at large, staked, tied or being pastured or herded on any highway, public road, public street or public common in said county of Alameda, or found running at large, staked, tied or being herded or pastured upon any private property in said county of Alameda, contrary to the provisions of section 4 of this ordinance.

Section 6. The Poundkeeper shall, within twenty-four hours after the time any animal, enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance, is impounded, as provided by section 5 of this ordinance, cause to be delivered to the owner or keeper of such animal, if known to him, or cause to be left at the usual place of abode of such owner or keeper a notice in writing, describing the marks, brands and color of the animal impounded, stating the amount of fees and charges incurred and the time of impounding.

Section 7. When the owner or keeper of any animal impounded is not known by the Poundkeeper, the said Poundkeeper shall, within twenty-four hours after the time the said animal is taken up and impounded, post notices in writing, describing the marks, brands and color of the animal impounded, and stating the amount of fees and charges incurred and the time of impounding. Said notices shall be posted by the Poundkeeper in three of the most public places in his Pound District.

Section 8. If the owner, or agent of the owner, of any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance, shall pay the penalty, charges and fines hereinafter provided for, the animal impounded shall forthwith be discharged from the Pound of the district in which the same is impounded.

Section 9. If the owner, or agent of the owner, of any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance, shall refuse or neglect for the period of three days after the said animal is impounded, to pay the penalties, charges and fines herein provided for, the Poundkeeper shall sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder. Such sale can only be made upon at least five days' notice posted in three of the most public places in the Pound District in which said animal is impounded, which said notice shall contain a full description of said animal, and shall set forth that the same will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder at a time and place to be specified in said notice, and shall also contain a description of the marks, brand and color of the animal to be sold, together with a statement of the amount of penalties and charges due under the provisions of this ordinance and of the time of impounding. If said animal is not reclaimed by the owner, or agent of the owner, before the expiration of the time specified in said notice, the Poundkeeper shall proceed to sell the said animal at the time and place and in the manner specified in said notice.

Section 10. After the payment of the penalties and charges and fines, hereinafter in this ordinance provided, the overplus of such sale, if any, shall be paid to the owner of said animal so impounded, under the provisions of this ordinance, upon request, if he, said owner, shall apply for the same within one month from the time of said sale, otherwise said overplus shall be placed in the County Treasury of said county of Alameda, there to await the order of the owner, and shall be paid to said owner by the Treasurer, if he shall apply for the same within twelve months from the day of sale, on his making satisfactory proof that he is entitled to the same, and if no claimant for said overplus appear within the time above specified the same shall be placed in the road fund of the road district wherein said Pound is situated.

Section 11. It shall not be lawful for any person to rescue any animal enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance from the possession of any person who is impounding the same under the provisions of this ordinance, and it shall not be lawful for any person to make any Pound breach, or in any way directly or indirectly convey or deliver any animal out of any Pound without lawful authority, and no person shall wilfully and knowingly resist, delay or obstruct any Poundkeeper in the performance of his duties under this ordinance.

Section 12. The Poundkeeper, or any person impounding any animal under the provisions of this ordinance may retake the same within six days after the same is first impounded in the event that the same is directly or indirectly conveyed or delivered out of the Pound without lawful authority, and may again impound and detain the same and proceed as hereinbefore provided.

Section 13. The Poundkeeper shall daily cause all animals impounded to be provided with food and drink suitable for such animals, and upon neglect so to do, shall be liable to the owner thereof for all damages arising from such neglect.

Section 14. The Poundkeeper shall be entitled to charge and collect of and from the owner of animals impounded under this ordinance the following fee for impounding and keeping the same:

1: For each horse, jack, jennet, mule, cow, bull and heifer, $1 for the first day, and 50 cents per day for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

2: For each swine, goat, suckling calf or colt, 50 cents for the first day and 25 cents for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

3: For each sheep, 10 cents for the first day and 5 cents for every day after the first day such animal remains in the Pound.

Section 15. If any animal impounded under the provisions of this ordinance be not redeemed or sold within the time and in the manner specified herein, the Poundkeeper shall kill and bury the same in some suitable and appropriate place therefor, to be selected by him, in the manner, and for which he shall be entitled to receive the fee, as hereinafter provided, for the burial of dead animals.

Section 16. It shall be the duty of all persons having dead animals upon their premises, or who shall be the owner or possessor of any dead animal which die within the county of Alameda, to bury the same at least four feet under ground, within forty-eight hours after the same shall die; and upon the request of any owner or possessor of any dead animal, it shall be the duty of the Poundkeeper to proceed forthwith to bury the same, in some suitable and appropriate place therefor, for which he shall be entitled to receive from the owner or possessor of such dead animals the following fees, to wit:

For burying horses, bulls, oxen and cows, each, $1.00.

For burying jacks, mules, steers and colts, each, $1.00.

For burying hogs, sheep, goats and calves, each, $2.50.

Section 17. If any person fail or neglect to bury any dead animal as provided for in this ordinance, then in such case it shall be the duty of the Poundkeeper to proceed forthwith to bury the same; and it shall be lawful for the Poundkeeper to charge to and recover from the owner or possessor of such dead animal the fees last hereinbefore provided for.

Section 18. If any person shall rescue any animal enumerated in section 4 of this ordinance from the possession of any person who is impounding the same under the provisions of this ordinance, or if any person shall make any Pound breach or in any way directly or indirectly convey or deliver any animal out of any Pound without lawful authority, or if any person shall wilfully and knowingly resist, delay or obstruct any Poundkeeper in the performance of his duties under this ordinance, or if any person shall neglect or refuse to notify the Poundkeeper of any dead animal upon his premises, or upon premises of which he is the owner or possessor, or if any person liable to pay the Poundkeeper the fees hereinbefore provided for shall fail or neglect to pay said fees, or if any person shall violate any provision of this ordinance, such person shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100. Any judgment that the defendant pay a fine shall also direct that in case said fine be not paid the defendant be imprisoned until the fine be satisfied in the proportion of one day's imprisonment for each two dollars of the fine so imposed.

Section 19. The penalties and charges herein provided shall constitute the compensation of the Poundkeeper for his services as such Poundkeeper performed under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 20. An ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Establish, Maintain, Regulate and Govern Public Pounds in the County of Alameda," passed by the Board of Supervisors of said Alameda county on the 29th day of January, 1894, and all amendments thereof and thereto, and all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall take effect the 7th day of February, 1896.

Passed January 20th, 1896, by the following called vote, viz:

AMERICANS NOT SAFE.

Unfriendly Tone Evidenced in Cuba by the New Regime.

The Departure of Campos Brings About a Change of Policy.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, January 28.—A special to a local paper from Key West, Fla., says:

Advices received here from Havana indicate that since the resignation of Martinez de Campos the Spanish authorities are acting in a high-handed manner toward American citizens suspected of being in sympathy with the insurgents.

Recently Henry Riso, who claims to be a naturalized citizen of the United States, was arrested at Puerto Principe as a political suspect.

Riso was thrown into a dungeon, although proclaiming his American citizenship.

His request that Consul-General Williams be informed of his plight was denied, and when the last steamer left for Cenla, the Spanish penal settlement in Africa, Riso was placed on board.

The unfortunate man attempted to make a scene as he was placed on the vessel, but he was knocked down by the Spanish guards and hurried below decks.

Riso had no trial, but it is understood the authorities ordered him confined at Cenla for life.

Transportation to Cenla now means death, as cholera is raging there.

El Comercio in an editorial says: "Marin is too tender with these Yankees. Every one of them at all implicated in the revolution should be summarily dealt with. But for American anoney and American sympathy there would be no revolution, and the Yankees have no right to expect mercy from Spain."

Financiers in Havana are evidently fearful about the outcome of the revolution, for they are shipping large sums of gold and silver by every steamer that leaves for New York.

Upmann & Company, who represent the Rothschilds, are taking the lead in these shipments. It is understood that Upmann & Co. have informed their depositors that money is no longer safe in Havana.

It is reported that Upmann & Co. are acting under orders from the Rothschilds, who have declined the new Spanish loan on the ground that Cuba is lost to the Madrid government.

Died Far From Home.

John G. Farhner, formerly a resident this city, died recently at San Jose de Guatemala of yellow fever. The news has reached the family, who reside at the corner of Tenth and Jackson streets. The last heard from him was at Christmas, when he sent money to his family with which to buy Christmas presents.

AN IMPOSING AFFAIR.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A dispatch to the World from Ichang, China, dated January 25th, says:

The Cheng Tu Commission arrived today from Chung King. It is convoyed by a Chinese river boat and two lifeboats.

The commission, headed by Sheridan P. Read, United States Consul at Tien Tsin, is returning from its inquiry into the anti-missionary riots in Sechuen province, of which Cheng Tu is the capital.

It left Tien Tsin last September and marched overland through the heart of China with an imposing military escort furnished from Pekin, in order to impress the celestials that the American Government is strong enough to reach and protect its people even in places where they thought no foreigner dare venture.

The commission is going back by way of the Yang Tse Klang River. It left Chung King January 15th and in ten days covered about four hundred miles.

Nearly a thousand miles by river remain to be traversed before the ocean will be reached.

No Felony Charge Yet.

Clarence Fountain and William Turner the lads arrested by Officer Ely for carrying burglars' tools, were not brought up in the Police Court this morning. At present the only charge the police could put against them is carring concealed weapons and burglars' tools, both misdemeanors, and as it is believed that they have attempted to blow safes they are being held until a thorough investigation can be made to try to connect them with a graver charge.

TO GET BIG BOUNTIES.

Liberal Inducements Held Out for Recruits for Cuba.

A Number of Expeditions Said to Be Organizing in this Country.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—A special from Philadelphia says:

Since the acquittal of Capt. Samuel Hughes, of the steamer Laurada, of the J. D. Hare line of this city, charged in the United States District Court of South Caroline with violation of the neutrality laws in carrying arms and munitions and men to Cuba, there has been developing here more active determination among the Cubans and their sympathizers than at any time during the last ten months.

As a result of the verdict it has been decided by the Cubans here that another series of expeditions shall be inaugurated, and further it is announced that recruiting of men to serve in the Cuban army will at once begin in the south and southwest, especially in Texas, from which State it is expected 500 men will be enrolled before March 4th.

Most of these will be picked riflemen accustomed to the sort of guerilla life they may be called upon to endure in Cuba.

They are to be given, it is said, a bounty of $300 with wages of $40 a month and a guarantee of heavy reward in money at the close of the war if the island should gain its independence.

It is also said that here in Philadelphia some of the young men connected with the National Guard and the Naval Reserve will be enlisted and that they will openly leave in the steamers which will now be easily obtained.

It is announced that Herbert E. Chase, late captain of Company C, 14th regiment of Scranton, has accepted a commission in the insurgent army and that he has been engaged to drill and instruct recruits.

One of the most influential of Cuban sympathizers who is thoroughly informed as to all movements in this country to aid the revolution, is also authority for the statement that, 'in view of Judge Brawley's decision, there will be at once fitted out at New York a vessel with regular military masts.

She will be sufficiently well armed to protect herself in case of pursuit by a Spanish war vessel.

Her gunners are to be Americans, while the Cubans will constitute the boarding parties who will go with her and who will be supplied with machetes.

Following the departure of this vessel from New York two others it is said, will be similarly equipped at this port and will sail soon afterward.

KILLED A PRISONER.

Tragic Termination of a Trial in a Justice's Court.

The Officer Claims He Only Fired in Order to Scare His Man.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WHITING, Ind., Jan. 28.—George Banygyij was shot and killed at East Chicago by Officer Winters while he was making his escape from Justice Cheney's court, where he was having a hearing for participating in a riot at a Polish wedding the night before.

Officer Winters was arrested. He said he fired the fatal shot to frighten the fugitive.

It is said that Banygyij was arrested as a rioter in the place of another man said to be Andrew Jonski. He is reported to have declared there was a mistake in identity, and for that reason he tried to run away.

As a result of the killing of their countryman, the Slavs are in a wild state of excitement, and they threaten all sorts of things.

Winters immediately after giving bonds secreted himself and has kept in hiding, fearing that the angry Slavs would take revenge on him.

A STRIKE STARTED IT.

A Brakeman Brings a Damage Suit Against an Eastern Road.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 28.—William Gambold, a railroad brakeman, has begun a suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and F. G. Darlington, superintendent of the Indianapolis division, for $25,000 damages for malicious prosecution.

The suit is the outgrowth of the American Railway Union strike of 1894 and is brought as a test case. Gambold, with John Ruck, H. Rabold and Tom Moriarity, American Railway Union strikers, were charged by Darlington with having "killed" a switch engine after driving off the engineer and fireman and violating the injunction of Judge Woods.

Darlington was at that time a deputy United States marshal, having been sworn in on July 4th. Gambold was arrested at Terre Haure, brought to this city and kept in jail for ten days. He was tried in the federal court and acquitted.

The defense will be based on the proposition that Darlington was a sworn federal officer at the time he made the affidavit and that neither Darlington, as a deputy United States marshal, nor the railway can be held responsible.

GENERAL PORTER IS DEAD.

He Was Famed as a Soldier, a Diplomat and a Lawyer.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—General Jos. H. Porter died at the Grand Union Hotel last night.

The immediate cause of death was complications from a gunshot wound in the lungs received during the war.

The body will be taken to Poughkeepsie for burial.

General Porter was 54 years old and was born in Dublin, where his parents, who were Virginians, were sojourning in Ireland.

He enlisted as a drummer boy when the war broke out, and went to the front with the 27th New York volunteers.

For bravery and meritorious conduct he was repeatedly promoted, and served until disabled by wounds.

Questions as Regards Play for This Season Brought Up.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Jan 28.—The annual meeting of the national board of base ball managers, which convened at the Fifth avenue hotel today, promises to be one of the most important board meetings ever held.

Not only are some important questions between individual players and managers before the meeting, but for the first time in the history of the game the minor leagues have secured recognition and one of the questions before the board today is more particularly in regard to the practice which has prevailed in the past whereby the larger clubs acquired a man from one of the smaller clubs and then defer payment for three or four months, reserving the right to return the men to the lesser organization if they choose.

The national board was called to order by Chairman Young.

The annual election for a chairman, secretary and treasurer resulted, as it has for years, in the election of Nick Young to the position.

A number of appeals for final decision between players and various clubs were considered and disposed of.

At the final session tonight this addition was made to Article 6:

"A club making selection of a player as authorized in the preceding paragraph of this article, shall have the right within thirty days of notice to the secretary of the board of such selection to withdraw from such selection, and on notice to the secretary he shall return to the club the amount deposited with him. The selecting club shall, within sixty days of its original selection, tender the player so selected, a formal contract, and in case of its failure to do so the secretary of the board shall remit the amount deposited with the club from whom the player was selected.

The managers then adjourned to meet again at the annual schedule meeting on February 24th, when all questions now before the league will be finally disposed of.

Oakland is going ahead steadily and will become a big city in a few years. One of the latest evidences of its growth is the establishment of a new savings bank.—Haywards Review.

San Francisco is struggling, with good prospects of succeeding, to rescue from Oakland the reputation of being the wickedest city on the Pacific coast. Its record for the 24 hours ending at daylight today was two Chinese and two white men shot, three men stabbed and a score of minor crimes against persons or property. San Francisco is a lively camp.—Haywards Mail.

The main railroad between Oakland and Alameda lies through a marsh, into which rock put on the road sinks rapidly. To construct a good road would be very costly. But the land must nevertheless be of great value. It is said to be owned on "undivided interests," and therefore not accessable. We don't see how that can be; but one thing is certain: under a local option law assessments on marsh land, now held out of use, within the municipalities of Oakland Berkeley and Alameda, could be made heavy enough not only to secure their complete reclamation, but to buy or build all "general utilities" in those municipalities, without a cent of other tax. We command this point to Messrs Davie and others, who think bonds indispensable for such and similar purposes.—San Francisco Star.

There will be no more free riding in Oakland. Although the railroad franchise expressly forbids charging for passengers on the Seventh street local road, Judge Ellsworth decides that the company are not obliged to carry them at all. They are therefore compelled to purchase a ticket for some outside points in order to get on the cars at all.—Contra Costa Gazette.

With Assessor Dalton and County Clerk Jordan working together in the matter of registration and the collection of poll taxes the tax dodger will have a hard time to dodge it if he wants to vote at the next election.—Haywards Review.

It is thought Senator Perkins' bill establishing a naval training school on Goat Island will pass both Houses of Congress without much opposition. Naval apprentices are much needed, and increased efforts are to be made to educate the boys of the country to become seamen.—Napa Journal.

Mayor Davie of Oakland has reported is "convinced that municipal ownership is the basis of good government, and that any city which owns the plants referred to (water, light and street railroads) will be practically exempt from taxation.' "But," he asks, "how are we to start if we do not issue bonds?" Were all taxes laid on ground values, municipalities could acquire, build, own and operate all light, water, street cars, and other public utilities not only at cost but eventually gratuitously. Were the single tax in full operation there would be no more thought of paying for riding on street cars than for walking the streets.—San Francisco Star.

We are assured that the Pacific Poultry and Pigeon Association did not choose the past week for holding their exhibition in anticipation of having foul weather, but they did fulfill their promise to give one of the best poultry shows ever seen on the coast. Some of the specimens of the standard breeds of fowls were worth making a trip to Oakland to admire and inspect and the display of urfamiliar birds was large enough to make a good show by themselves. The breeding of homing pigeons is now attracting much attention and several "lofts" were represented with homers bearing records for long flights and good speed.—Santa Cruz Surf.

A burglary a day, with an occasional murder to relieve the monotony, is Oakland's criminal record.—Haywards Mail.

Cigarette smokers should take warning from the fate of the young man who fell to the street in Oakland a total wreck, a victim of that terrible habit. He commenced as a moderate smoker, but kept constantly increasing number of cigarettes until he consumed from forty to fifty per day. Every part of him seemed to become diseased, but although he saw himself falling in health, kept puffing his life away until he fell a total wreck beyond all medical aid. This is the most recent of many like cases, yet it seems that boys and young men cannot profit by them but must learn by experience.—St. Helena Star.

County Clerk Jordan surely means business. Not only is he putting forth every means for the voter to register, but he is helping the county assessor as well in the collecting of poll taxes, who in turn will help Jordan in registering. This is the true kind of feeling.—Pleasanton Times.

Senator Perkins has introduced a bill providing for the appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose of erecting a new dry-dock at Mare Island. The amount mentioned is only such as is necessary to make a beginning. It is beginning to be seen how necessary it is to provide suitable defenses for the Pacific coast. The neighborhood of San Francisco is too valuable to be given up to the first adversary. Mare Island on this account should be the best equipped yard in this country, as it has the whole Pacific ocean to guard.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Notwithstanding the fact that County Clerk Jordan will have to get up the Great Register of the county this year at his own expense, we are willing to bet money or marbles that it will be one of the best and most complete registers that has ever been gotten out in this or any other county.—Berkeley Gazette.

The disgraceful and almost impassable condition of the Twelfth street dam, also East Twelfth street, East Oakland, has aroused the residents of that section of our sister city and they are preparing now to place both of them in first-class condition. This is a good cue to our city fathers in the matter of the Webster street roadway. Alameda prides herself—and justly so, too—on her handsome streets and the excellent condition in which they are always kept, and there yet remains, as a blight, that disgraceful Webster street roadway. Our worthy trustees, always alive to the interests and welfare of the city, should take steps looking toward making the Webster street roadway a thoroughfare that will be a credit to the city. Let it not be said that our neighbors cannot look down upon us even in this respect, for certainly they cannot in any other.—Alameda Encinal.
